WAR ON ITALY OPENLY DECLARED BY D'ANNUNZIO

Fiume Commander Sets Tomorrow as the Date for Beginning Hostilities.

CAVIGLIA ORDERS BLOCKADE

And Warns Insurgents to Refrain From "Useless Resistance" to Government.

SKIRMISHING CONTINUES

Insurgents Have Captured Some Regulars in Incursions Made Into Their Opponents' Lines.

TRIESTE, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—D'Annunzio has sent an ultimatum to Italy from Fiume, declaring a state of war from Dec. 3.

The British steamer Narenta, which was captured Monday by d'Annunzio's arditi near Pola, has been ordered to Fiume. The steamer which is loaded with flour and fodder, will be put into service by d'Annunzio for the convenience of troops and ammunitions to the island of Veglia. The Narenta was bound from Pola to the island of Lussin when she was captured by d'Annunzio's men.

The ultimatum was the result of a Government manifesto ordering all the Fiume legionaires back to their units.

General Caviglia, who is commanding all the troops in Julian Venetia and who has been charged by the Government with the task of getting d'Annunzio out of Fiume, issued an order today commanding the poet's soldiers to leave Fiume and re-enroll in their own units. At the same time he threatened a severe blockade.

D'Annunzio regarded the order as an ultimatum from the Government and dispatched a message to Rome inquiring if Caviglia was the Government's authorized representative.

ROME, Dec. 1.—It is semi-officially announced that as the Government's order calling upon the Regency of Fiume to withdraw its troops behind the frontiers has not been obeyed, General Caviglia has summoned the Regency not to prevent the free departure of Italian warships from the Port of Fiume. He has also proclaimed a blockade of the coast of the State of Fiume, the islands of Veglia and Arbe and the neighboring waters.

General Caviglia, commander of the Italian regulars investing Fiume, in a proclamation to be conveyed to d'Annunzio's forces by airplane, says it is the intention of the Italian Government to enforce the conditions of the Rapallo Treaty without delay. This announcement is made in a newspaper dispatch from Trieste.

The proclamation invites the poet's legionaries to withdraw behind the frontiers of the free State of Fiume and refrain from useless resistance to the energetic measures the Italian Government is prepared to take.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, in command of the insurgents at Fiume, has declared war on Italy, according to a Milan dispatch to The London Times. The state of war will begin Friday.

The Milan correspondent of The Times, discussing the semi-official announcement of the proclamation of the blockade of Fiume, says that the communiqué explains that the blockade is intended only to prevent any eventual hostile movement, and not to hinder commerce. The correspondent adds:

"D'Annunzio has replied that he will instruct the Regency's representative at Rome to ask for his passports and will consider the Regency of Quarnero at war with Italy from Dec. 3.

"In a private letter to the National Society at Trieste, d'Annunzio, after inviting the Nationalists to erect barricades, calls Caviglia a traitor and Giolitti a madman."

Premier Giolitti of Italy, speaking in the Chamber of Deputies in Rome yesterday, refused to answer a question whether the Government intended to take military measures against d'Annunzio, says a Rome dispatch to The London Times.

"The Government," he declared, "is anxious to hasten final ratification of the Rapallo Treaty with Jugoslavia, which has already been approved by the Chamber and will be submitted to the Senate on Dec. 2."

While General Caviglia's regulars have thrown a cordon around Fiume, only small incidents have thus far been reported, says a Milan dispatch to The Times. Every effort will be made by the regulars, it is said, to induce the followers of d'Annunzio to desert.

The dispatch quotes a telegram from Trieste to the effect that regular Alpini and some of d'Annunzio's men exchanged shots and hand grenades when the latter crossed into Italian territory proper. A few regulars were made prisoners by d'Annunzio's soldiers at an advanced post on the road to Cantriva. The garrison on the island of Veglia, held by men loyal to the poet-soldier, has been reinforced.

Caviglia "Faced With a Sad Task."

FIUME, Dec. 1.—Military action by Italian regulars against the legionaries of Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio in this city is apparently foreshadowed in an order of the day issued by General Caviglia, commander of the regulars outside of Fiume, yesterday.

"We are faced with a sad task at the present moment," the order said, "but

Forced Loan in Germany Contemplated by Government

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—Finance Minister Wirth today informed the Taxation Committee of the Reichstag that if such action became necessary he would recommend to the Cabinet a compulsory loan.

This statement was made in reply to a speech by Rudolph Havenstein, President of the Reichsbank, urging the necessity to decrease the deluge of paper money in Germany, which he predicted would increase by 30,000,000,000 marks this year.

Herr Havenstein suggested a forced loan at 4 per cent., which he estimated would produce 20,000,000,000 marks.

SAYS CLARA SMITH CONFESSED KILLING

Dallas Chauffeur's Story of Alleged Revelations of the Shooting of Jake Hamon.

TOLD HIM ON LONELY RIDE

Woman Driven to Cisco, Where She Bought Ticket to El Paso —Police Are Trailing Her.

Special to The New York Times.

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 1.—On a lonely country road at midnight, with the tears streaming down her face and with two loaded pistols on the seat beside her, Miss Clara Smith told a chauffeur, E. W. Sallis, how she shot Jake L. Hamon, the wealthy Oklahoma politician, according to a story told by Sallis.

The chauffeur's story, given today in a sworn statement to a Chicago Tribune correspondent, is akin to melodrama. Sallis was found after Clara Smith had been trailed from Ardmore, where the shooting took place Nov. 21, to Durant, Okla., and then to Denison, Texas, whence she came here in a taxicab, driven by E. C. Daniels.

According to Daniels, he left the woman at the entrance of the Union Station. She went in, bought a ticket for San Antonio and started for the train shed. She saw a sergeant of police and fled. Sallis, a driver for the Dallas Transfer Company, was standing by his machine, and she walked up to him. The rest is Sallis's story:

It was the morning of Nov. 23, between 7 and 8. The woman jumped inside my cab and beckoned to me.

"Is there an aviation field anywhere around?" she asked me. She was nervous and kept looking around. She pulled down a heavy black veil.

"Yes," I said.

"Take me out to it in a hurry, please," she ordered.

Tried to Get an Airplane.

At the field I ran the car up near the machines. She got out. A man came up.

"Whaddya want?" he asked.

"Are you the aviator?" the woman asked.

"No. He won't be down for an hour or so. Wanta fly?"

"Do you think he'd take a passenger to San Antonio?" she asked. "I'm in an awful hurry."

"You'll have to see the flyer himself—I can't help you out," the man said.

"Well, I can wait," she muttered.

Then she turned to me. "Drive me around a bit." After a while she stopped me.

"Are you in good running shape for a three or four day drive—say, to San Antonio?" she asked.

"Yes," I said.

"How much will it cost?"

I told her I'd have to ask at the stand. We drove there. The boss asked her $50 a day, and she paid down $100. Then she gave me a railroad ticket to San Antonio and asked me to go into the depot and get the money back.

The station agent refused the money. Then she went in and got the money while I was loading some spare tires.

Says Woman Was Nervous.

We started out. There wasn't much talking between Dallas and Waxahatchie, but she was awfully nervous. She kept looking at the black patent leather square suitcase.

At Waxahatchie we stopped at a restaurant. She said she'd been traveling night and day and wanted a bowl of soup. She asked me in, too. Inside, she took off her furs and coat and lifted up her veil.

Just then a policeman or a marshal of some kind with a big, shiny star came in and sat down. He kept watch-

SPAIN AND BRAZIL JOINED WITH WILSON FOR ARMENIAN TASK

Armenians Want Gen. Wood to Administer $20,000,000 Fund for Their Country's Aid.

GENEVA, Dec. 1 (by Telephone to Paris).—There were placed before the Council of the League of Nations at the same time today offers by President Wilson, Premier Dato of Spain and Foreign Minister Marquez of Brazil to mediate between the Kemalists and Armenia in order to save the latter. The Council accepted all three, so that to each of the three capitals were sent a message of thanks and the information that the Council, as requested by President Wilson, would at once take steps to supply all possible information and guidance as to the means by which best to approach the task.

It is the idea here that representatives from each of the three countries will be named on a mediation commission and that the American representative will occupy a "special position," which is taken to mean that he will act as Chairman.

Another important decision today was that of the commission on admission to the League in favor of admitting Austria. The League Assembly is expected to approve.

Discuss "Personal Mediation."

The use of the expression "personal mediation" in President Wilson's reply on Armenia has caused some comment. Mr. Balfour, as a member of the Council, said tonight that he presumed it meant an offer of mediation by the United States Government. M. Viviani, of the French delegation, supposed that it was a personal offer by President Wilson.

In this connection there is much discussion about the action of the Bolsheviki with regard to Armenia. Various reports have reached here that Kemal and the Bolsheviki are hand in hand, and others that they are at daggers' points. In undertaking to save Armenia it is therefore possible that the mediation commission will find that the Kemalists are not the only people with whom it has to deal.

While the Assembly leaders are all happy that they have got the United States Government to join in a League undertaking, it is untrue that all have a great deal of hope of the success of mediation with Kemal unless it is backed up with stronger medicine than has been tried before.

Mr. Balfour this evening gave to a hundred newspaper men a long talk on the situation. When asked point blank how he felt about the negotiations with Kemal, having last week talked about their hopelessness, he replied:

"I'm still not entirely hopeful—well, I mean I'm hopeful."

Commission No. 6, which was to prepare some plan to deal with the Armenian situation should negotiations fail, is continuing its work, trying to get a number of nations to agree to a plan of action, but the difficulty of the position is that the commission will come to an end with the closing of the assembly, and by that time arbitration cannot have been tried. Dr. Nansen has a plan for giving backing to the Mediation Commission, but the whole matter raises difficult questions.

Balfour Calls It Dream Come True.

Speaking for the council, Mr. Balfour in his talk defended the League against those who called it a "fantastic dream of sanguine dreamers," and said that it was a real working organization. He cited as matters which could not have been settled without the League, Danzig, the mandates, the permanent court, the repatriation of prisoners, the Aland

Queen Mother Picks Danish Bride for Prince; Birthday Brings All Royal Family to London

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Queen Alexandra's seventy-sixth birthday was greatly celebrated today in the royal family circle which comprised an unusual number of relatives. All the Queen mother's living children, including the Queen of Norway, were at Marlborough House to present their congratulations personally. Of Alexandra's grandchildren only Prince George, Princess Arthur of Connaught and Prince Olaf are away and while her only great-grandchild, the Earl of Macduff, is in South Africa, the visit of the King of Denmark and Prince Waldemar adds two nephews to the circle.

Prince Waldemar of Denmark is accompanied by his only daughter, Princess Margaret, and in Court quarters it is generally believed that Queen Alexandra has set her heart on the possibilities of a match between this pretty and vivacious girl and the Prince of Wales. Princess Margaret is 25 and "Quite English" in her dress, appearance and ways. During the war she nursed in a hospital in Yorkshire.

Nothing has been said in the London press on the subject for after the blunder made by one paper some months ago in suggesting that the Prince of Wales should choose an English bride it has been generally agreed that public discussion of the matter which is chiefly the young man's personal concern should be avoided. In Court circles, however, it has been known for some time that Princess Margaret would accompany her father to England on his visit for Queen Alexandra's birthday and possible developments are interestingly discussed.

Friend of Harding Names Cabinet "Possibilities"

Some Cabinet "possibilities" were enumerated yesterday by a friend of Senator Harding who visited this city. The "possibilities" were:

For Secretary of State, United States Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania.

For Secretary of the Treasury, Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

For Attorney General, George Sutherland of Utah.

For Secretary of the Navy, ex-United States Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

For Postmaster General, Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

George Sutherland is a law partner of United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah. Charles G. Dawes, President of the Illinois Trust Company, has been mentioned frequently in the Cabinet gossip as a man who might be favorably considered by the President-elect for head of the United States Treasury Department. According to Senator Harding's friend, however, Governor Lowden just now is in a more advantageous position.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO CUT OIL MELON

Stockholders Will Get for $52,500,000 All Its Oil Land and Oil Properties.

WILL FORM A NEW CONCERN

Railroad Share Owners May Buy Stock of Petroleum Co. at Capitalization Price.

The cutting of a melon such as railroad investors have not known for years was indicated last night when the Board of Directors of the Southern Pacific Company announced their plan for a separation of the company's oil and railroad properties.

A new oil company will be organized and the Southern Pacific Company will buy its capital stock for $52,500,000. The new concern will then acquire the oil properties and interests of the Southern Pacific Company for $43,750,000, the remaining $8,750,000 to be retained as working capital. The Southern Pacific Company will then offer to its stockholders the new company's capital stock for exactly the price paid.

In this way Southern Pacific stockholders will obtain for $52,500,000, properties which Government attorneys have estimated to be worth $500,000,000 to $750,000,000. The plan as announced by the Southern Pacific Board follows:

To Form Pacific Oil Company.

"A new company, to be known as the Pacific Oil Company, will be organized under the laws of the State of Delaware with a capital stock to consist of 3,500,000 shares of no par value for which the Southern Pacific Company will subscribe at fifteen dollars ($15) per share, or $52,500,000. From the amount so realized the new company will purchase the Southern Pacific Land Company, as of Jan. 1, 1921, for $43,750,000.

"a About 259,000 acres of land now owned by the Southern Pacific Land Company, situated in the State of California, of which about 25,000 acres are proven oil lands and the remainder lands heretofore withdrawn from sale as possible oil lands, together with existing field improvements and materials and supplies;

"b 200,690 shares, par value $20,069,000, representing 50.48 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the Associated Oil Company.

"By the sale of these properties the Southern Pacific Land Company, the entire capital stock of which is owned by the Southern Pacific Company, will thus receive $43,750,000 in cash, and the Pacific Oil Company will retain $8,750,000 as working capital.

"Holders of the capital stock of the Southern Pacific Company registered as such on the books of the company at the close of business on Jan. 14, 1921, will be given the right to purchase at fifteen ($15) dollars per share, payment to be made in full on or before March 1, 1921, one share of stock of the new company for each share of Southern Pacific Company stock so held.

"For the information of stockholders and the holders of the 5 per cent. convertible bonds of the company, it is proper to state that the stock of the new company is fixed at 3,500,000 shares to correspond as nearly as may be to the total number of shares of the Southern Pacific Company's stock outstanding together with shares reserved for the conversion of these bonds.

"The stock of the Associated Oil Company is at present receiving dividends at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. The net earnings of the Southern Pacific oil properties above referred to, for the year 1920, after deduction of all taxes and proper reserves for depreciation, will approximate $12,000,000, and the earnings for the year 1921, based upon the present estimated oil production and prices, should considerably exceed this sum.

"The following gentlemen have consented to serve on the board of the Pacific Oil Company: James S. Alexander, B. D. Caldwell, Henry W. de Forest, Charles A. Peabody, Samuel Rea, Mortimer L. Schiff, E. P. Swenson and Paul Shoup."

There remain of the Southern Pacific convertible 5 per cent. bonds still unconverted $42,241,500 due in 1934. That there will be a big exchange of these

BUILDERS' SUPPLY BUREAU CLERK TORE UP PRICE RECORDS

"Quotation Cards," Showing Operation of Combine, Destroyed by Elizabeth O'Dea.

NEARLY WEEPS ON STAND

Important developments attending yesterday's session of the Lockwood Committee's housing investigation, held at the City Hall, included the following:

Admission by Elizabeth O'Dea, clerk employed in the office of the Builders' Supply Bureau, that she had destroyed the "quotation" cards by means of which the fourteen members fixed uniform prices in masons' materials. She destroyed the records at the request of one of the members, but could not recall the man who gave her the order.

Testimony of Major George W. Steele, former Secretary of the bureau, disclosing that by means of a card system uniform prices were made by the dealers shortly after the inauguration of the bureau in 1916, and that the "quotation" and "contract" cards were in charge of Miss O'Dea. He said that a dealer would first send to the bureau his quotation for materials on a job, and his competitors had access to his figures, receiving them frequently from Miss O'Dea by telephone, and then made similar estimates.

Testimony indicating the existence of the Masons' Supply Bureau, a Brooklyn prototype of the Builders' Supply Bureau operating in a similar manner and fixing prices for Kings and Queens. The former organization was limited to Manhattan and the Bronx.

Contracts were submitted by members of the organization only after they had all had an opportunity to look over the quotations advanced by the first bidder.

Further testimony that it made no difference whether dealers in materials bid on schools, court houses or on private buildings, the prices were generally uniform.

The employment of a chartered accountant to audit the books of the members of the Builders' Supply Bureau for the purpose of ascertaining the total value of each man's business and the rendering of the reports to John A. Philbrick when he was Chairman of the organization.

Evidence of a tight combine among dealers in sand indicated by the refusal of a dozen dealers to quote prices on 1,200 tons of fine sand brought here from Rotterdam in ballast by a Munson Line steamship and the further refusal of the dealers to accept the sand as a gift. The sand, valued on board ship at $1,500, was dumped in the sea at a cost of $2,400, or $2 a ton. There was a sufficient supply for use in the erection of two tenement houses accommodating thirty families each.

The denial by Justice Hotchkiss, and after argument in opposition by Samuel Untermyer, of the motion of Martin Conboy, counsel to the Builder' Supply Bureau, to compel the Lockwood committee to return the bureau's books to Joseph Penny, its Chairman, and the refusal of a stay preventing the use of the books and the attendance of Penny as a witness.

The dispatch of a "flying squadron" of process servers to subpoena a number of Hudson Valley brick manufacturers.

John A. Philbrick, a large dealer in masons' supplies, adjudged in contempt of the committee three times, and Wright D. Goss, head of the Empire Brick and Supply Company, one of the largest brick concerns in New York, adjudged in contempt twice, both for refusing to answer questions.

Admission by Sidney J. Treat, Secretary of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Materials, that if the members lived up to the by-laws of the association they could no do business with concerns not members.

"You Did Great Work, Miss O'Dea."

Miss O'Dea was the last witness of the day. Her testimony was the climax of the committee's inquiry concerning the workings of the Builders Supply Bureau. She was quite pale and breathless when she reached the witness stand, and her testimony was followed with close attention by the group of wealthy building material dealers seated near Mr. Conboy. When she left the stand she was on the verge of tears, and as she approached the group she was addressed by a man who said, "You did great work, Miss O'Dea."

In answer to questions by Mr. Untermyer Miss O'Dea said she entered the service of the bureau in 1916 just after it was organized. Taking care of the card system was part of her work. Asked where the "quotation" cards were, Miss O'Dea first said that the system fell into disuse. Mr. Untermyer repeated the question and she admitted they had been destroyed.

She said she destroyed them at the request of one of the members of the bureau whose name she could not recall. The destruction of the papers took place some months ago, she said. She could not fix the date.

Q.—When you brought down these books and papers, in answer to the subpoena, and

BUILDING COLLAPSES ON BROADWAY; ONE TO SIX BELIEVED DEAD IN RUINS; MANY HURT, SAVED BY DARING RESCUERS

Prosecutor Begins Investigation of Accident; Many Subpoenaed; Will Question Company's Head

Assistant District Attorney John R. Hennis, in charge of the Homicide Bureau of the District Attorney's office, announced last night that just as soon as it was established definitely that any one had been killed in the crash of the Strathmore Apartment building at Broadway and Fifty-second Street he would conduct an exhaustive investigation to learn if there was any violation of law or any negligence.

Mr. Hennis said his bureau had no jurisdiction until it was known some one had been killed, but after spending several hours at the wreck he issued subpoenas for several persons. If it should prove he has no jurisdiction, District Attorney Swann will assign some one else to examine the witnesses.

Among those who were directed to appear at the Criminal Court Building this morning were several ironworkers who escaped from the ruins and other persons who were in the street. All those who were injured also will be questioned.

Mr. Hennis directed his assistants to request Walter J. Salmon, real estate operator, who is President of the Strathmore Leasing Company, for which the building was being remodeled, to come to the District Attorney's office this morning.

TRAFFIC TIED UP BY CRASH

Perilous Condition of Ruins Causes Order to Halt All Rescue Work.

ONE WORKMAN IS MISSING

Overload on Third Floor Thought to Have Caused Nine-Story Strathmore to Fall.

IT WAS BEING REMODELED

Injunction Had Been Sought to Prevent Reconstruction While Building Was Occupied.

The Strathmore, a nine-story brick apartment house at Broadway and Fifty-second Street, which was being converted into an office building, collapsed from an unknown cause just after 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A score of persons were injured, one of them seriously, a number of others had astonishing escapes and from one to six lifeless bodies are believed to be buried in the tons of debris which filled the building from the basement to the third story and crashed into Fifty-second Street, crushing the wooden structure, designed to protect pedestrians, as though it had been of paper.

It probably will be three days before wreckers have penetrated far enough into the tangled mass of bricks, plaster, wooden beams and iron girders to recover the bodies which it is feared lie under the ruins. Meantime only one workman definitely has been reported missing, but the unclaimed overcoats of four others hang in the lockers in the basement, mute suggestions that their owners did not escape.

Whether any one lies buried under the tons of wreckage sprawling half way across Fifty-second Street and a dozen feet deep is equally uncertain. Several persons that were passing are known to have escaped, but officials regarded it as a virtual certainty that if any one was immediately in front of the part of the building which fell first, that person was killed.

Ruins Closed to Rescuers.

The condition of the structure was so dangerous after the collapse that Fire Department officers refused to allow their men in it, arguing that it was not fair to send live men to almost certain death when any trapped within were surely lost.

Firemen who first arrived made exciting and dangerous rescues from the store of the Sidney Bowman Automobile Company on the ground floor corner of the building where several persons were pinned under the wreckage, but it was not possible for them to stay inside the building when more walls, floors and ceilings were threatening to crash down any moment.

Later, while thousands watched from behind the police lines a block away in each direction, wreckers under the supervision of the Building Department swarmed like monkeys along the shaking south wall, about half of which still was standing and pushed it into the street with a roar and clatter and a shower of dust. Awed watchers thought surely the daring pigmies atop the building were buried in the avalanche they had created, but hardly had the dust clouds died away when they came sauntering out to receive the cheers of the crowd.

This work of further wrecking was deemed necessary before the work of combing through the débris for the bodies believed to lie under it could be begun. A hundred men were put on that task late at night, as soon as the wreckers had dislodged everything that threatened to come down.

24 Hours to Clear Street.

It was estimated that the street could be cleared within twenty-four hours. It will be much longer before workmen can penetrate through the mass choking such of the shell as still stands.

The building was being remodeled by the Startmore Leasing Company, of which Walter J. Salmon, real estate operator and turfman, is President. It was also said Mr. Salmon owned the building, but this was not confirmed. Police investigators said Mr. Salmon was his own contractor on the job. The iron work was being done by the Paul Chapman Engineering Company of the Fitzgerald Building, who did the iron work of the Capitol Theatre, largest structure of its kind in the country. The police did not learn last night whether the Chapman concern was doing all the work or whether other contractors were engaged.

Frederick Kuehnle, Chief Inspector of the Building Department, who was one of the first city officials to arrive, said the Chapman concern enjoyed an excellent reputation, and that the plans for the remodeling had been approved by his office before the work was undertaken. He said further that District Inspector Shields of his office visited the work yesterday afternoon, being accustomed to examine it two or three times a weeg, and found nothing to condemn.

Mr. Kuehnle gave it as his early opinion, based upon only casual inspection, that individual workmen were to blame

Scheer's Report on Jutland Battle Now Published for the First Time

German Admiral Told the Kaiser That His Whole Fleet Was Menaced With Destruction at One Time—Aggressive Attack by Destroyers Held Off British Fleet.

FIRST ARTICLE.

[Note.—It is understood that but two copies exist of Admiral von Scheer's report to the Kaiser of the battle of Jutland—one in the possession of the British Government and the other that given below].

Copyright, 1920, by Chicago Tribune Co.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—The report of Admiral von Scheer on the battle of Jutland, until now an unpublished document, was in the form of a personal letter to the former Kaiser, and was illustrated by the writer with many diagrams, showing the positions of the British and German naval forces during the encounter.

The report goes to show that Great Britain lost a remarkable opportunity to surround, capture or destroy the German fleet. The Admiral's first diagram shows the British fleet of Admiral Jellicoe formed in a great semicircle, with the German fleet drawn out in a horizontal line tending to bisect the British formation.

"Realizing my desperate situation," Admiral von Scheer wrote, "and hoping to save the German fleet, I sent out torpedo fleets to attack the enemy. Admiral Jellicoe turned away.

"Had he attacked at this juncture he might have picked off the German ships one by one because of his spearhead formation and the German Navy probably would have been destroyed."

The document enumerates other situations which brought each fleet in danger, and concludes by informing the Kaiser that no surface sea battle could enforce peace and urging the strongest possible submarine warfare, adding:

"Despite the conscientiousness of our submarine commanders it will be impossible for us to avoid incidents in English waters where American interests are very strong—incidents which afterward may force us to make humiliating concessions."

Admiral von Scheer declared that he forced the fight in the Battle of Jutland, telling how he mistook Admiral Beatty's "three invincibles" for the British High Seas Fleet and headed toward them, thus giving Admiral Jellicoe opportunity for a flanking attack.

He also says that Admiral Beatty lost a great chance when, instead of attacking by night, he used his torpedo boats defensively, thus permitting the German vessels to pass through and reach their base.

The German commander states that five German Zeppelins failed in their mission of sending important information, despite the fact that they hovered over the battle constantly, and he declares emphatically that dreadnoughts form the real backbone of any navy.

The document begins:

"Our enterprise of April 23 against Lowestoft had the effect that was anticipated in our plan of operations. The enemy felt the effect of our challenge and was unwilling to accept a second similar stroke without making a counter-attack, and began to move.

"In the middle of May, 1916, I despatched all our submarines into the North Sea to take up attacking positions before the enemy's main points of support—Humber, Firth of Forth, Moray Firth and Scapa Flow, whence the outcoming enemy would be forced to take up battle under conditions favorable to us.

"Early in the afternoon of May 31 Zeppelins were sent reconnoitring. They did not participate in the battle nor see anything of our own or the enemy's main fleet, although they hung high over the battle ground. At 6:13 in the evening the German warship Von der Tann sighted the British Indefatigable."

[The commander of the Von der Tann was Captain Gross, a German marine authority and historian. It was he who supplied the document and the subsequent notes interspersed through this article are his.]

"Firing superiority lay with our side," Admiral von Scheer wrote, "until two or five ships of the Queen Elizabeth class arrived. Then our situation became more critical. Our Ninth Torpedo Flotilla, attacking, forced the enemy to withdraw within ten minutes. The enemy made no attempt to save the crews of its sunken destroyers.

"This attack resulted in forcing cessation of the enemy's fire for some time. Now came news that still greater forces had been sighted, and I gave the order to clear all ships for action.

"The situation of our first scout group was most critical, and I saw at once that it was necessary to bring the fleet into close formation."

Admiral von Scheer then described the fighting, stating that the British scouts turned to the northwest before the main German attack.

"At 7:20 o'clock in the evening the manoeuvring of the enemy's leaders gave the impression that the British fleet was succeeding in making its escape and I gave the order for our fleet to take up the pursuit.

"The weather became less clear. Smoke sticking to the water obscured the view. I could not see my own reconnoitrers.

"When the leader of our scouts (Admiral Hipper) got my order to pursue he already had passed the enemy cruisers and he was forced by their pressure to head northward. I was unable to inform him because both my wireless aerials had been destroyed.

"At 7:40 o'clock the enemy, judging the situation rightly, attacked with torpedo boats, forcing the German advance to give way to the southwest, while the main German fleet was compelled to give way to the East.

"The leaders, realizing the seriousness of the situation, then attacked, being taken under the fire of numerous battleships.

[The foregoing situation was the result of Admiral Von Scheer's error in mistaking Admiral Beatty's three invincibles for the British main fleet and this mistake seriously influenced the next movements of the German fleet.]

"About this time the fleets of Admiral Jellicoe and Admiral Beatty united. In order to avoid unequal battle, our armored cruisers were forced to give way so much that I necessarily was forced to turn our line to the westward.

"It was too early then to begin a night march away. The enemy, before darkness came, might have forced us to stay, and thus have taken from us the liberty of decision, finally blocking the way to the German shore.

"There was just one way to avoid this—a reckless attack, giving the enemy a second blow by using our torpedoboats violently. Such a manoeuvre must take the enemy completely by surprise, destroy his plans, and would, if successfully carried out, facilitate separation from him in the night."

[Here in the document appears Admiral von Scheer's sketch No. 9, which can be described by the nautical term, "crossing the letter t." The combined British fleet is drawn up in an enormous semi-circle at 9:17 o'clock in the evening, when came the most critical moment to Germany's Navy. A British attack with a converging movement might have succeeded, but the British continued their attitude of reserve and caution, remaining on the defensive throughout.]

HITS BERLIN'S BIG HOTELS.

Government "Cake War" Order May Compel Them to Close.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—The Berlin cake war is assuming an alarming character. The authorities have now attacked the largest hotel company, forbidding it to "deal in articles of daily need."

This means that the Hotel Bristol, the Unter den Linden Hotel, the Central Hotel, the Bauer Café, the Bauer Restaurant, the Zoological Gardens and half a dozen other restaurants controlled by the company must close, because in all these places unlawfully purchased delicacies are sold at usurious prices.

The company works with a capital of about 50,000,000 marks and employs more than 3,000 servants, who now will be thrown on the street. The hotels may still let rooms, but may not even serve coffee in the mornings. The restaurant in the Reichstag, also controlled by the above company, is closed likewise.

The company will refuse to obey, contending that a judicial order is necessary to compel the closing of its establishments. The newspapers deplore the indiscriminate procedure of the Government, because it will probably keep foreigners away from Berlin.

for the collapse. He said many iron girders and beams were being used in the work, and that it seemed probable too many of these had been piled in one place on the third floor, and that it well might be that an overload on that floor, from which the work was proceeding upward, had brought about the collapse.

Mr. Kuehnle's tentative theory was the only official hypothesis offered as to the cause of the accident. John R. Hennis of the Homicide Bureau of District Attorney Swann's office started an investigation, subpoenaing several witnesses, but he reached no tentative conclusion. Neither he nor Acting Police Commissioner Leach nor Inspector Boettler who together took charge of the police work, ordered any arrests or pretended to fix the blame in advance of further investigation.

The structure is believed by building inspectors and others who examined it to be a total loss. The first collapse carried down about one-fourth of the building, the southeast corner toppling into the street and piling up in the basement and the lower floors. While firemen still were at work there was a second small slide and later the wreckers demolished all the south wall.

Something over half the building remains, but expert opinion generally was that it could not be repaired and would have to come down.

Broadway Traffic Halted.

Traffic in Broadway was halted from the moment of the collapse until just before 8 o'clock, when a few north and south bound Broadway trolleys were allowed to move through the block. As soon as the work of further demolition was begun they were halted again, and late last night the police decided not to permit them to run until there had been a more mature examination of the remains of the building by experts today.

Pedestrian traffic was halted for hours in Broadway two blocks each way from the building and business in those two blocks practically came to a standstill, several amusement places being compelled to close their doors. One of them, Roseland, on the east side of Broadway, below Fifty-second Street, accepted the situation cheerfully and occupied the leisure time of some of its employes in supplying coffee and sandwiches to the firemen and wreckers. Iceland, in Broadway just north of the Strathmore, also was forced to close and retail stores all along the block were dark.

The man definitely known to be missing is John C. Smith, an iron worker of 67 Macomb's Dam Place. His fellow-workers are certain he did not get out, and when his wife learned of the accident and he failed to come home she went first to a cigar store across Broadway and later to the West Forty-seventh Street Station, where she reported him missing. The names of the others believed to be in the building were not learned, but it is hoped a careful check of the contractor's payrolls will disclose them. About a dozen wreckers had quit work just before the accident, and bricklayers and iron workers, of whom there were perhaps ten on the third floor, either were packing up their tools or already had departed.

List of the Injured.

The man seriously injured was Harry Spangler, a salesman for the Bowman concern, who lives at 156 Ridgewood Avenue, Brooklyn. He was pinned under wreckage and suffered internal injuries as well as a fractured rib and cuts and bruises. He was taken unconscious to Bellevue Hospital by Dr. McMahon.

Others slightly hurt were:

BURTON CALVERT, 37 years old, of 3,905 Broadway; bruises.
ANDREW M. SCHOAKE, 38 years old, of 78 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn; bruises.
H. HARLOP, 32 years old, of 166 Twenty-first Street, Elmhurst, L. I.; bruises.
WALTER WAECHTER, 20 years old, of 21 Hemlock Street, Brooklyn; cuts about the legs.
THOMAS J. LYNCH of 2,859 Eighth Avenue, cuts about the legs.
DAVID PINDER, 22 years old, salesman, of 1,100 Bloomfield Avenue, Hoboken.
MADELINE AMADING, 22 years old, stenographer, of 3.2 Fifty-fourth Street, Brooklyn.
SELMA ZUKOW, stenographer, of 197 Floyd Street, Brooklyn.
JOHN S. MERK of Hempstead, L. I., superintendent of the Sidney Bowman Automobile Company.

Sidney Bowman, who was not in his store when the crash came, hurried there while the rescue work was in progress. As fast as the minor injuries of his employes were dressed he loaded them into automobiles and sent them home.

Sought to Enjoin Work.

Mr. Bowman said he had protested repeatedly against the carrying out of the reconstruction work while he occupied a corner of the ground floor, but that his protests were useless. Finally he said he engaged May & Jacobson, lawyers, of 13 Park Row, to fight against the work. They, too, protested, he declared, but without avail.

Mr. Bowman complained particularly of a brick chute which came down the side of the building near the Fifty-second Street garage door leading from the rear of his premises. When their protests were unheeded, the lawyers obtaind last September a temporary injunction. This was vacated after a hearing before Justice Newburger in the Supreme Court, and an appeal was taken to the Appellate Division where, Mr. Bowman said, it still was pending. So far as could be learned, Mr. Bowman's protest and injunction proceedings were based rather on the ground of nuisance and inconvenience than his belief that there was any actual menace in the carrying on of the work though he did complain of "things coming down" occasionally.

If the loss of life proves to be as small as is now hoped, or even smaller than is feared, it no doubt will be due to the workmen having been dismissed just a few minutes earlier than usual. A vivid story typical of the experiences of those who escaped was told by Walter Waechter of 21 Hemlock Street, Brooklyn, who had been operating a drill on the eighth floor with Smith, the man most definitely believed to have been killed.

Sees Smith Disappear.

"It was like the bottom of the earth dropped out," said Waechter. "We quit work at 4:25 o'clock and Smith, Lynch and myself were on the first floor—on the Broadway side—putting away our tools and getting into our civvies when there was a loud roar and rumble, which startled us. Then came a deafening crash, which was followed by a cloud of dust and falling bricks. Lynch and I stood stiff—too frightened to move.

"I saw Smith with an awful look on his face run toward the stairs which were on the Fifty-second Street side. He shouted back to us, 'The building's falling.' When he reached the stairs a shower of bricks and mortar buried him. That's the last I saw of him. Lynch and I jumped through a window."

After leaping out of the window, Waechter and Lynch got tangled up in a large canvas automobile sign midway between the window and street. They finally freed themselves and dropped to the sidewalk with no other physical damage than a few cuts on the legs.

Wachter asserted that he knew Edward Barry, a bricklayer working on the job, had not quit when the crash came. He said Barry was on an upper floor and must have been killed. The police, however, did not list Barry as known to be missing.

It was raining and fairly dark when the crash came. Men and women in the mezzanine office of the Bowman concern first became aware of something unusual when there came a little trickle of water through the ceiling. Next there was a loud cracking sound and an instant later the ceiling showered down on them, followed by a deluge of debris. Several of those in the office were thrown to the floor. One man saved himself by crawling under an automobile. Others out of the direct track of the wreckage fled to the street.

There the tons of building material had roared down. Bricks showered across the street, but not quite so far as they did when wreckers later flung down what remained of the wall and some of it splashed through plate glass windows in stores on the south side of Fifty-second Street.

Several persons told of passing through the street as the crash came and how they fled, one man telling of seeing a hatless woman fleeing toward Broadway.

The most exciting experiences were those of employes in the Bowman store. Spangler, the man most seriously hurt, was dictating on the mezzanine floor to his stenographer, Miss Ethel Kine. The first fireman to arrive dug Spangler out. He said he was nearly suffocated, but had managed to "breathe up his sleeve." He became unconscious before he could tell more.

The firemen, working amid the ominous sounds of slipping and slithering wreckage, expected to find Miss Kine dead, but when they finally unearthed her she lay on her back smiling up at them. She was able to go home after receiving minor surgical attention. In some way bricks and beams had formed a pocket which concealed her completely, but their weight did not come directly upon her. Her right leg was doubled under her as she fell, but was not broken.

Ross First to Arrive.

Acting Deputy Fire Chief Ross was one of the first officers of the department to arrive. He went from floor to floor in the wabbly remains of the structure. Satisfied that no one could be alive within, he ordered his men to withdraw from all the interior except the Bowman store. Later Fire Commissioner Drennan and Chief Kenlon upheld his view that the men should not risk their lives for men undoubtedly dead, if they were there at all.

The firemen worked gingerly at the exterior of the wreckage. They were hampered by the wreckage until a moving picture photographer sent an emergency call to a film lighting company. This company rushed two huge studio arc lights on trucks and these shed daylight over the whole scene.

As soon as Chief Inspector Kuehnle of the Building Department had viewed the wreckage he declared it unsafe to allow the south wall to stand. He recruited a dozen veteran wreckers employed by Drew Brothers under Foreman Lawson and they calmly carried out the spectacular work of demolishing the wall. Even then dangerous bits of cornice were clinging to what remained of the roof. Once more they went aloft and dislodged them.

W. J. O'Gorman, sales manager for the Capitol Automobile Exchange at 200 West Fifty-second Street, across from the fallen building, sent in the fire alarm and telephoned for police and ambulances. A half dozen of the latter responded and three were kept waiting for hours until it was certain no one would be dug out of the wreckage last night.

Mr. O'Gorman said he and others of his concern had seen a big crack in the south wall all the time the reconstruction work was under way, but Mr. Kuehnle said he must have been mistaken.

A district call was sent in for police reserves and the crowds were kept so far from the scene that those working there were less hampered than is usually the case.

Red Cross Places Filled.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—President Wilson has designated the following as the six Government members of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross: Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman; Norman H. Davis, to represent the State Department; John Skelton Williams, Controller of the Currency, to represent the Treasury Department; Major Gen. Merritte W. Ireland, Surgeon General, U. S. A., to represent the War Department; Rear Admiral Edward R. Stitt, Surgeon General, U. S. N., to represent the Navy Department; William L. Frierson, Solicitor General, to represent the Department of Justice.

BORDER MEXICANS PLOT REVOLUTION

Department of Justice Raids at Texas Points Reveal a Mass of Evidence.

CARRANZA EXILES RETURN

Gonzalez, Barragan and Others Bound for the Border After Sojourn Abroad.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 1.—Wholesale raids by the Department of Justice officials conducted simultaneously on Monday at various border points, including El Paso, Eagle Pass, Laredo, Brownsville and this city, netted a mass of documentary evidence of the formation on this side of the border of a new revolutionary movement against the Obregon Government in Mexico, according to a statement made here tonight by W. A. Wiseman, special agent for the Department of Justice.

According to Mr. Wiseman the raids were ordered by Division Superintendent C. E. Breniman, with headquarters here. The evidence secured is being collated in the office of the local Federal Bureau of Investigation. Department of Justice agents here are known to be translating documents seized during the raids. A number of important arrests are expected to follow, it was said.

Among the documents obtained are several manifestos announcing the aims and purposes of the new "reformista" movement, the leaders of which, Mr. Wiseman said, are expected to be caught in the Federal dragnet.

Lucio Blanco, former Carranzista general, is the head of the new revolutionary movement, according to reports received in local Mexican circles.

Carranza Men Going to Texas.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Some disquieting reports of alleged conspiracies against the new Mexican Government are reaching the State Department, it was ascertained today. Instructions have been given to the Secret Service along the Mexican border to watch the situation most carefully in an effort to see that the American neutrality laws are not violated.

With the arrival of General Pablo Gonzalez at Havana, en route to Texas, and the movement of Juan Barragan and other men formerly prominently identified with the Carranza régime toward Texas, the situation is regarded as not being without dangerous elements.

Gonzalez, Barragan and other leading Carranzistas who escaped the fate of their former chief fled from Mexico after Carranza's murder, some of them going to Spain, and advices from Havana indicate the arrival of a number of them in that city on their way to Texas. This is interpreted by those familiar with Mexican affairs as meaning possible renewed activity along the American border in opposition to the new Mexican régime. Luis Cabrera, who was the most powerful man behind the throne during the Carranza régime, and who is an exile in this country, has been in New York since his escape from Mexico. He is surrounded in New York by a number of other Carranzistas who have been active in their efforts in favor of the return of Carranzistas to power in Mexico.

A significant example of the sentiment of the Washington Administration in favor of giving Obregon a fair chance to "make good" was the granting of executive clemency to General Juan G. Cabral, who was pardoned by President Wilson after having served part of his sentence in Fort Leavenworth Prison for violation of American neutrality laws.

General Cabral was sentenced to two years and to pay a fine of $10,000. On Nov. 26 he was granted executive clemency after having served the two years less his allowance for good behavior in prison. He was unable to pay the fine and was facing the serving of upward of twenty-seven years when General Obregon let it be known that he would regard it as a friendly act if he should be pardoned in time to reach Mexico City for the inauguration.

President Wilson promptly set General Cabral free, and advices from Mexico City state that General Cabral was an honored guest at General Obregon's inauguration.

OBREGON TAKES OATH BEFORE THE DEPUTIES

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—The transfer of the Government at midnight to President Obregon was one of the most impressive events in the history of Mexico City. Huge crowds lined the streets waiting to see the new President. Thousands, unable to gain admittance to the Congressional Hall, where the oath of office was administered, spent the time wildly cheering outside.

Promptly at midnight President Obregon, arm in arm with the retiring President, de la Huerta, made his appearance at the centre door of the hall. As the two Presidents entered, de la Huerta, pausing, took off the three-colored band of silk worn by Presidents across the chest and placed it upon General Obregon.

A procession followed of Ministers, who marched through the hall to the chair, where de la Huerta sat on the right and Obregon on the left of the Speaker of the House.

At 12:03 o'clock Obregon, rising from his seat and stretching out his left arm, solemnly pledged himself to respect and protect the Mexican Constitution. During his short speech President Obregon's voice, full of emotion, broke, and he was compelled to repeat a part of his speech.

As he finished the oath a wild outburst of cheering shook the walls of the Congressional Hall. The retiring President immediately embraced the new President in typical Mexican fashion. Meantime moving picture cameras, aided by strong reflectors, ground out hundreds of feet of film.

After the congratulations from Congressmen and Cabinet Ministers President Obregon, with his party, went to the Palace. The arrival of Obregon in the streets was the signal for a tremendous burst of cheers. Automobiles carrying the President and his party were surrounded by people eager to see the man who it is hoped will save the country from being split into factions.

Crowds paraded the streets until early this morning.

Early in the evening President Obregon attended a banquet given by the Mayor of Mexico City, Rafael Zubaran, in honor of the foreign visitors. Three hundred guests of all nationalities were present from 8 o'clock at night until time for the ceremony. During the banquet Mexican musicians played the national hymns of all countries, the American anthem and "Dixie" receiving a great ovation. Governor Larrazola of New Mexico answered the speech of welcome made by Mayor Zubaran.

President Obregon held a reception this morning in the National Palace. It is estimated that 10,000 persons passed through the hall where he stood shaking hands. American visitors received special attention from President Obregon, who held a short conversation with the Governors who are making a visit here.

PESQUEIRA SAYS HE IS OUT.

Reports Offers of Loans and Materials for Mexico.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—The local papers gave a statement by Roberto Pesqueira, in which he states he had many offers of loans to the Government, offers of rolling stock for the railways, war material and ships on extremely favorable terms.

He stated he could not talk on recognition as he had resigned on Nov. 25 but his own impression was ex-President De la Huerta and President Obregon were not at this time enthusiastic about recognition.

"My rôle was not to solicit or implore recognition as charged by certain interests," he said. "I merely went there to fight for the country's rights and present our case, showing reason and justice are ours when we ask that Mexico be thoroughly understood and duty respected.

"Regarding the much discussed invitation to Senator Fall, Mexico's time honored enemy, General Obregon has publicly disavowed Mr. Torres's officious statements. As the Fall case involves high Mexican officials and as I am not in a position to judge of the part taken by our Foreign Office, I would rather not discuss the subject until I am able to give publicity to various incidents therein. I wish to give the Foreign Office an opportunity to make its position clear. I feel the Mexican people are entitled to a full knowledge of the facts."

Pesqueira adds that he was treated wonderfully in the United States even by the enemies of Mexico.

WALL ST. COURIERS ADMIT LOSING BONDS

Testify at Arnstein Trial to Losses Through Careless Delivery of Securities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Half a dozen of the couriers used by Wall Street in settling daily accounts by actual delivery of stocks and bonds worth scores of millions of dollars furnished the chief interest at today's session of the trial of Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein and members of the bankrupt firm of D. W. Sullivan & Co. Ranging from 16 to 19 years in age, these witnesses described their routine duty of carrying securities of great value through the crowded streets of New York.

Counsel for Arnstein, Sullivan and N. S. Bowles and W. W. Easterday, all of whom are charged with conspiring to bring stolen securities into the District of Columbia, developed through cross-examination that on reaching his destination a broker's messenger often would thrust his packet of bonds into a clerk's window and proceed to the next office without waiting to see if they were obtained by the proper person. Two of the messengers, it was shown, were still employed by firms which had lost thousands of dollars because of this custom.

D'ANNUNZIO MAKES WAR ON ITALY

I rely upon your complete co-operation."

In conversation with newspaper men General Caviglia intimated that he would retire from the scene if such a step would cause any change in the attitude of d'Annunzio, adding that he would be happy to sacrifice himself for the good of the country.

"No Italian," he continued, "however distinguished, can expect to oppose his will to that of the nation."

In the expectation that an ultimatum from General Caviglia may be delivered at any time, d'Annunzio's forces are in a state of feverish activity. They are making incursions into the outposts of the regulars and capturing on occasion small groups of soldiers. Intermittent rifle firing is in progress, but no serious consequences have so far resulted.

D'Annunzio's headquarters in the Palace are likewise the scene of marked activity, with the hurrying to and fro of the young officers who since the desertion of many of the older heads are now in control of the "defense of the city." D'Annunzio himself is constantly busy in conferences with his lieutenants. One of the young officers, when a newspaper man asked him a question, remarked, as he excused himself: "We are extremely busy. We are at war."

D'ANNUNZIO'S LONG DEFIANCE.

He Has Maintained His Ascendency in Fiume Since September, 1919.

D'Annunzio has periodically declared an alternative program: If Fiume could not be entirely Italian, he would fight till the last gasp any troops sent to coerce him, or, he would destroy the city, if confronted by overwhelming forces.

In August, 1919, a memorandum was under consideration in Washington which would have allowed Italy to hold Fiume in sovereignty, but would have had the League of Nations administer the railways and the harbors of the city. Toward the last of that month it was rumored in Italy that President Wilson had accepted this proposal. He had not, however. This rumor aroused demonstrations of resentment on the part of Italian Nationalists. When these demonstrations were at their height Gabriele d'Annunzio, sailing from Venice, landed near Fiume with an armed force on Sept. 12 and proclaimed the annexation of the city to Italy with, of course, its railways and docks. The Peace Conference in Paris regarded the incident as a matter between the Italian Government and the poet and shelved the question.

The Italian Government was in a dilemma. Although the official press pointed out that d'Annunzio's action had seriously compromised Italian prestige and called the poet a "piavola" (infant), nevertheless it was believed that Italian troops could not be sent against him at that time without danger of a revolution in the peninsula, while if foreign troops were sent there would ensue an international calamity.

At that time all the Entente nations had detachments in Fiume. The Italian contingent was in charge of General Pittaluga, who had orders to stop the poet, just as Marshal Ney had orders to stop Napoleon on his march on Paris in the "Hundred Days" of 1815. The result was the same. Pittaluga expostulated, threatened, and then embraced the poet. Returning to Fiume the General exhorted the people to remain calm. D'Annunzio arrived a few moments later and was received with a well-staged ovation. A few days later the troops of Italy's allies left the city on orders from their Governments. The regular Italian troops followed.

From that time the poet's sway has been undisputed at Fiume. Various methods to dislodge him were tried and abandoned by the Rome Government. General Badoglio was sent to negotiate, but returned unsatisfied. Then came General di Robilant, but he returned to Rome almost a convert to the poet's program. Thereupon, Tommaso Tittoni, the Foreign Minister, who had been responsible for the August memorandum, resigned, as President Wilson declined further to discuss the Fiume question until d'Annunzio departed or until the Rome Government gave assurances that he would depart.

SPAIN AND BRAZIL JOINED WITH WILSON

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Islands case and the Polish-Lithuanian dispute.

Then he talked of Armenia. He said that the Council had been trying for eleven months to reach a settlement without the use of force, but had failed. He expressed the hope that the new effort would have better luck.

"It is wonderful," he said, "that we can draw from North and South America and from Europe the co-operation of three great countries to settle a dispute of small nations in an obscure corner of the world. There we have the authority of the nations of the world, acting through the League of Nations. If any one had said five years ago that such a thing was possible, he would have been called a dreamer, and he would be a dreamer if the League of Nations did not exist.

"May the new efforts be crowned with complete success and heal up this long-standing sore. The success of America, Brazil and Spain in this effort will be the opening of a new era of peace and prosperity in this most sorely tried district of the world."

Mr. Balfour, when asked whether he thought that President Wilson's action was personal or for the United States Government, replied:

"Our appeal was addressed to the President as the head of the United States Government and I presume that it is in that capacity that he has undertaken the task. In his reply to us he gives reasons why he cannot use arms, showing that he is speaking as the head of the Government."

The French are much pleased at the success of M. Viviani's plan and no secret is made of the hope that a satisfactory settlement can be reached by negotiations with Kemal on the Armenian question and that thereafter the Turkish Nationalist leader, thus raised in prestige, can be approached for a settlement of other Turkish questions, which is a policy that the French Foreign Office has long advocated.

Text of Spanish and Brazilian Notes.

GENEVA, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—The text of the messages of Spain and Brazil regarding Armenian mediation was made public here today. Spain's acceptance was signed by Premier Dato and is as follows:

"In reply to the telegram which your Excellency has been so good as to send me under date of Nov. 26, I have the honor to say that the Government of his Majesty, the King of Spain, although not in touch with the circumstances connected with the tragic situation in Armenia, regards with the most profound sympathy this unfortunate people, which is the victim of so many sufferings, and although the Spanish Government is unable by the terms of the resolution of the Assembly to appreciate its exact scope, nevertheless it holds itself ready to contribute gladly to any action of a moral or diplomatic nature looking to a peaceful solution, pursued with so much zeal and devotion by the League of Nations."

The telegram from Brazil, signed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs Azevedo Marquez, says:

"In reply to the telegram received from your Excellency as to the resolutions of the Assembly regarding Armenia, I have the honor to inform your Excellency that the Government of Brazil is ready to contribute alone, or jointly with other powers, to put an end to the situation of suffering Armenia."

Consult on Help to Wilson.

The Council's reply to President Wilson, it was stated, says that the Allied High Commissioners at Constantinople are being consulted as to the best way for Mr. Wilson to proceed.

"Poor old Europe will feel less abandoned," was a remark made by a member of the French delegation while discussing the matter.

There is much speculation as to the form which mediation on behalf of Armenia will take. A. J. Balfour remarked to the Assembly the other day that in order to negotiate it would be necessary to offer Mustapha Kemal something, either money or territory, and this remark is recalled in connection with Mr. Wilson's known opposition to the disposition made of some parts of the territory of Turkey by the Sevres treaty. Prediction is made here that in the end the Greeks may pay the price for saving what remains of the Armenian people.

"President Wilson's action is a big step toward a solution of one of the most serious problems before the Assembly," was the way Lord Robert Cecil characterized the President's acceptance. "That is wonderful news," he declared, when the information was given to him. "It brings relief to all of us who are trying to find a way to help the Armenians out of the difficulty. Mr. Wilson's acceptance is commendable and worthy of the best traditions of the United States, which have always been a friend of Armenia and taken the lead in alleviating her sufferings.

"The decision of President Wilson is not in any sense political, from my point of view, and cannot give encouragement to all those who wish to see the United States in the League. It is simply a natural development of an old, humanitarian policy."

Still Wants $20,000,000 Fund.

Lord Robert announced that he was still anxious that the $20,000,000 which he had estimated would be sufficient to equip an expedition to help the Armenians be secured.

Dr. Fridtj of Nansen, who had been one of the first to become interested in Armenia, and is a member of the committee considering developments in that country, was rather inclined to pessimism yesterday. When he heard the news today, however, he beamed with joy.

"We have found the man," he cried, "and the rest will be easy."

BRITISH COMMEND WILSON.

Fisher Says Great Weight Is Now Thrown Into Armenian Task.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, Dec. 2.—G. H. Perris, in a dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Geneva, gives interviews with Herbert A. L. Fisher and George Nicoll Barnes highly commending President Wilson's action on Armenia. Mr. Fisher says:

"It is a great advantage that America, which had accepted the responsibility of fixing the frontiers of Armenia, should also throw the great weight of her influence into the task of mediation between Armenia and the Turks. There is not a single member of the League here who does not recognize that very freely.

"Of course, no one here underestimates the difficulties. Everybody realizes that the Armenian situation is not such a situation as the League was created to meet, and that even if the League failed to solve the problem, it would not constitute a criticism of the League. But if the intervention of the League does result in Armenian peace and the constitution of a stable Armenian State, it will be a great recommendation of the League, all the greater because the task accomplished was not one of those which the League was designed to accomplish.

"Everybody here realized the force of the criticisms which many leading Americans have passed upon the constitution of the League and we see difficulties which stand in the way of America's entry into it. That makes the prospect of American co-operation with the League in specific cases of international difficulty all the more acceptable, even though they cannot yet see their way to form part of the organization set up by the covenant."

G. N. Barnes says:

"Armenia will be saved. The League of Peace has scored where the War Council had failed. That is the moral of what has happened, and it should hearten the friends of the League everywhere.

"Of course much depends on what steps America proposes to take in fulfillment of the mission she has accepted. For myself I have little faith in mere negotiation with the Turks. In any case President Wilson's reply may be taken as an indication that the American people are going to return to their better mood. President Wilson is to be justified. I feel like sending him a message of congratulations and good-will."

MOSCOW ALSO INTERVENING.

League Action on Armenia May Raise Question of Soviets' Status.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—The League of Nation's action regarding Armenia bids fair to bring into the limelight the whole question of the relations of the western world with Soviet Russia.

President Wilson's agreement to intervene as mediator between the Turkish Nationalists and the Armenians is announced the day after the news reached Paris and London that the Bolshevist Foreign Minister, Tchitcherin, had already accomplished intervention of his own with the same purpose, and that the armistice concluded early in November between the two parties, and later broken by the Turks, has just been renewed under Tchitcherin's auspices. The Temps states tonight that the Bolshevist Commissar Legrand went to Alexandropol on Tchitcherin's orders and there personally saw to the conclusion of the armistice and the opening of peace negotiations.

The Temps utilizes this episode to advocate the French policy of scrapping the Turkish treaty and making a deal with Mustapha Kemal. It repeats the suggestion that it is of the highest importance to detach Kemal from Bolshevist control lest combined Russo-Turkish agitation and hostility to France and England kindle a flame of revolt throughout the Moslem world. The editorial ends:

"At present the red standard of the Soviets and the green banner of the Prophet are united against the peace of the Allies. Can England remain unmoved before this danger, to which so many Frenchmen are calling attention today? We trust that the new British Ambassador, the friend and councillor of King Edward and ripe with personal experience of Asia, will explain to his countrymen the feeling of far-sighted and faithful friendship that animates France when she begs England to undo what the Treaty of Sevres has done and to dissociate the double propaganda that is so threatening for the British Empire, the propaganda of the red standard and of the green banner."

PARIS, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—President Wilson's acceptance of the rôle of Armenian mediator is considered by the French Foreign Office as a happy development, and Foreign Office officials declared today that they were much gratified. It is hoped that President Wilson's intervention will have a good effect toward the pacification of that region.

The Temps says:

"Thus, the collective effort of the civilized world, unanimously interested in the Armenians, succeeds in mobilizing only the personal representatives of President Wilson. Why should one be surprised? How can one find fault with the League of Nations or the outgoing President of the United States?

"In Armenia, as elsewhere, the Sevres treaty has given only an illusory peace, and no one is in a position to convert illusion into reality. If propriety permitted, one might say of the authors of the treaty as Mr. Wells has written of the Bolsheviki, 'They resemble the prestidigitator who has forgotten his rabbit and can't make anything come out of his hat.'"

Meanwhile, says the Temps, there is another mediator, the Russian Bolsheviki, "who are not short-sighted conjurors, as they have soldiers and gold which give them real power."

VOTE TO ADMIT AUSTRIA AS MEMBER OF LEAGUE

Commission's Action Expected to Be Ratified—Foster Wins Fight on Raw Materials.

GENEVA, Dec. 1 (By telephone to Paris).—Commission No. 5 voted today to recommend to the Assembly of the League of Nations the admission of Austria and Costa Rica. The Assembly will ratify this decision in the course of the next few days and Austria and Costa Rica will become members.

The commission also decided to recommend against the admission of Lichtenstein, the Ukraine and Azerbaijan. The American State Department will be interested in the exclusion of the Ukraine and Azerbaijan at this Assembly because their admission would mean their recognition by the countries within the League, and the State Department has pursued the policy that in the present condition of affairs in Russia there shall be no recognition of dismembered fragments of the former empire.

Commission No. 2 decided to recommend to the Assembly the calling of an international conference on communications and transport at Barcelona, but the date was not fixed.

GENEVA, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—The Council of the League of Nations today unanimously approved the invitation drawn up by the Military Commission calling on the United States to name a representative to sit on the commission.

The invitation, the text of which was made public and cabled last night, expressed the view that the general consideration of the subject of a reduction of armaments would be "greatly facilitated" if the United States Government could see its way to send a representative to sit in a consultative capacity with the commission. Following the Council's approval of the invitation, a note embodying it was dispatched to the Washington Government.

The Council decided to invite the League of Red Cross Societies to provide the necessary medical materials for the League of Nations army which is to be sent to the Vilna region.

The opposition of Sir George E. Foster of Canada, finally succeeded in modifying the resolution presented by Gustav Ador of Switzerland, providing that the economic commission study means of preventing monopolies in raw materials and measures to insure control of their distribution throughout the world. The resolution as adopted reads:

"The Assembly having noted the resolution adopted by the council at Brussels, considers it indispensable that the economic commission continue its work without delay, in the manner indicated by the council."

This is taken to mean that the investigation of the question of raw materials will be continued without prejudicing final action upon any recommendations.

M. Ador had the support of Hanotauk of France, Ferraris, of Italy, Trygger of Sweden and Restrop of Colombia, while the Canadian delegate was supported by Collins of Australia and James Allen of New Zealand.

Sir George, pointing out that an entirely new economic doctrine was involved, warned the commission against any action that would cause apprehension in Canada and the United States.

Another attempt will be made to gain approval of the League's budget for the forthcoming year. This matter came before the Assembly yesterday, but objections were voiced by several nations, delegates from New Zealand, Australia and India pointing out that, in their opinion, 7,000,000 francs in gold was an excessive amount. Albert Thomas of France, head of the International Labor Bureau, explained contemplated expenditures by that organization, and Sir Eric Drummond, General Secretary of the League, participated in the argument, explaining why he thought the amount was needed.

The Argentine delegates to the Assembly today gave a dinner to the Spanish delegates. All the South American representatives were present. The following telegram was sent to King Alfonso:

"The delegates of the South American countries to the Assembly of the League gathered in order to prove their affection toward the Spanish delegation, desire to express to your Majesty their warm sympathy and best wishes for the prosperity of Spain and the personal welfare of your Majesty and your august family."

King Alfonso replied:

"I am deeply grateful for your touching message, which I received with the liveliest pleasure. I send the delegates of the American nations represented in the Assembly my most affectionate greetings and fervent wishes for the prosperity and happiness of the countries they represent. I find cause for congratulation in being identified with the aspirations of my country in the work of peace participated in by the nations to which we are united by ties of traditional and fraternal affection that I hope will become still closer."

ARMENIANS WANT WOOD AS FUND ADMINISTRATOR

Delegation at Geneva Suggests That He Manage $20,000,000 Proposed to Be Raised.

Armenia desires the services of Major General Leonard Wood as administrator of a $20,000,000 fund which it is proposed to raise for the aid of that country, according to a cablegram received here last night by the Near East Relief from Dr. Aharonian, diplomatic representative of the Armenian Republic attending the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva.

It had been reported previously from Geneva that General Wood had been mentioned as a possible selection by the League of Nations Armenian Committee to lead a proposed Armenian campaign against Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader.

Dr. Aharonian's cablegram said that if such a fund could be provided "to save Armenia from its present peril and to establish a national existence" the Armenian delegation suggested that it should be administered "preferably by an American of high reputation, such as General Leonard Wood."

Charles V. Vickery, General Secretary of the Near East Relief, said that so far as he knew no definite action had been taken to carry out Dr. Aharonian's suggestion.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the Sixth Army Corps, declined today to comment on press dispatches reporting that he was being considered by the League of Nations for High Commissioner in Armenia.

"I have nothing to say at this time. I have no information on the subject beyond the press dispatches I have seen," the General said.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Secretary Baker refused today to discuss Geneva dispatches stating that Major General Leonard Wood had been mentioned as a possible selection by the League of Nations Armenian Committee to lead a proposed campaign of the Armenians against Mustapha Kemal Pasha.

"It would be plainly improper for me to make any comment until I have received official confirmation of the press dispatches," the Secretary said.

A Story with a Moral
A Subject for the Consideration of Bankers
Being a true account of a happening as recorded in the New York Times:
"Charles Strong, cashier of the First National Bank of Vergennes, Vt., committed suicide today by shooting in the presence of bank officials.
"Bank examiners were at work on the books of the institution today, and officials of the bank said tonight that there was a shortage in the accounts, but they were unable to say how much.
"Strong was 62 years old and had been in the employ of the bank for forty years. He was prominent in church and civic work and so far as is known had never engaged in speculative enterprises."
What happened to the First National Bank of Vergennes, has occurred before and will occur again. Does the thought that your bank may become so involved cause you uneasiness?
Every bank can, and should, protect itself and its depositors against such contingencies.
F & D Bankers' Blanket Bonds afford such protection at a nominal cost. They protect against dishonesty of employes, robbery, burglary, hold up, destruction of money and securities, and misplacement of cash or paper.
F & D Bankers' Blanket Bonds also insure the Prompt Payment of Claims without refuge behind technicalities.

CORK FIRES CONTINUE STORES SELLING OUT

Residents Are Still Fleeing From the City, Which They Fear Is Doomed.

SINN FEIN WANDER IN BANDS

Every Man Is Known and Cannot Go Home, Police Say—Priest Arrested at Callan.

CORK, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—A drapery establishment owned by Thomas O'Gorman, who is prominently identified with the Sinn Fein movement, was set on fire and completely destroyed shortly after the termination of the curfew hour this morning when the military patrols had been withdrawn. A shop adjoining this establishment and the offices of an English insurance company in the upper part of the building were burned out.

Two previous attacks had been made on the premises of Mr. O'Gorman, the last one a week ago, when the store was forcibly entered and large quantities of goods destroyed or removed. Mr. O'Gorman is alleged to have sold Sinn Fein badges and flags and to have contributed heavily to the Dail Eireann.

There was considerable shooting in various parts of the city during the night. A young man, who has not yet been identified, was taken to the hospital fatally wounded.

"Whose place will be the next to go?" business men were asking each other today. If the destruction of property continues at the present nightly rate the Cork business district soon will be wiped out.

All of the town shopkeepers are advertising bargain sales in order to convert their stocks into cash. The exodus of people from Cork continues.

It was reported this afternoon that two men were shot dead last night in the Macroom district and that four persons were arrested.

The town of Macroom is in a state of siege and no traffic is allowed except for food distribution.

Police authorities here still claim to be gaining the upper hand in the fight against extremists. They assert that the men responsible for ambuscades and assassinations feel that they are being driven into a corner. They are receiving no protection from the people and move about the countryside in bands of from 15 to 300, forcing farmers, it is declared, to provide them with food.

"Every man of them is known to us," said an official today, "so they do not dare to scatter and return to their homes because they know they would be arrested immediately. It is only a question of rounding them up, which may take considerable time, especially in rough, mountainous country like that surrounding the scene of Sunday night's ambush."

The cadets killed in the Kilmichael ambuscade on Sunday night will be given a military funeral in Cork tomorrow. Military headquarters has requested that all business places be closed between the hours of 11 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon as a mark of respect for the dead.

It is persistently rumored here that four men lost their lives in the Thomas Ashe Club, which was set on fire on Tuesday.

The American Consulate authorities here will not interfere in the case of Richard Murphy, an American, a brother of Joseph Murphy, one of the Cork hunger strikers who died in Cork Jail on Oct. 25. Richard Murphy was arrested in Belfast a week ago on his arrival from New York. He was charged with bringing seditious literature into Ireland. It is stated that an ordinary criminal action is involved.

Richard Murphy was born in the United States, but spent most of his life in Ireland. He qualified as an American citizen at the consulate in Cork during the war.

Timothy Murphy, a shoemaker, the father of Joseph Murphy, who lives at present in a suburb of Cork, emigrated to the United States in 1891, settling in Massachusetts, where his fifteen children were born. At the beginning of the war one son is declared to have registered at the American Consulate in Queenstown as an American. His name was never mentioned in the dispatches from Cork. There has been no previous report of the arrest of Richard Murphy.

CALLAN, County Kilkenny, Dec. 1.—A Catholic priest was arrested here last evening. He was conveyed to the military barracks.

Rearrest John MacNeill.

DUBLIN, Dec. 1.—Professor John MacNeill, Sinn Fein Member of Parliament, was arrested again last night. He had been released from prison the previous day, having been arrested in Dublin on Nov. 26.

A large party of Auxiliaries, equipped with a motor and searchlights, visited Professor MacNeill's residence at Booterstown, near Kingstown, and took him and his second son into custody. His eldest son is already in jail.

Proposals for terminating violence in Ireland are desired by the Labor Commission of Inquiry, comprising representatives of the Labor Party in the British Parliament and the Labor Executive body of Great Britain, which arrived here last night. The commission, which will investigate the situation in Ireland, laying special stress on reprisals, issued a statement upon its arrival that it felt less concerned about fixing responsibility for the reign of violence than for ending the present chaotic situation on the island. The members asserted that they were willing to give all assistance in their power to any responsible suggestion for the re-establishment of peace.

Continue Searches in London.

LONDON, Dec. 2. — "The special branch of Scotland Yard has come into possession of many important documents in the London raids of the last two days," writes a Daily Chronicle representative. "Among them is a complete list of members of the Irish Self-Determination League of Great Britain. In addition, documents have been found, not necessarily themselves incriminating, which give clues as to the whereabouts of wanted men and women, and these are being followed up by the police with great vigor. In particular, search is being made for two women well known in the Sinn Fein movement, who are said not to be London residents, but recent arrivals from Ireland. Publication of some of the documents recently unearthed in London is being considered by the authorities and it is probable that this step will be taken.

"Measures to insure the safety of public buildings and their officials are being redoubled. Automatic pistols have been served out at Scotland Yard to higher officers, while every possible entrance is carefully guarded, nothing being left to chance. Uniformed staffs of the principal Government offices are being enrolled as special constables in order that they may have power of detaining suspected persons without waiting for the arrival of a policeman. Unobtrusive precautions are also being taken at the museums and picture galleries."

The Chronicle's political correspondent writes:

"Rumors are current of the possibility of a conference with Sinn Fein representatives on the present situation in Ireland. So far as the Government is concerned, there apparently is no ground for such rumors at the present time.

Protection will be given newspaper men in Ireland if they desire it in the prosecution of their work, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, declared today, in replying to representations on the subject from the Institute of Journalists.

Sir Hamar said he was anxious to assist the journalists of all parties in their difficult task in Ireland. "Instructions have been issued that every facility be accorded them," he continud. "It is not believed that any journalist is in personal danger, but if protection is desired it will be given."

The Institute had expressed its earnest desire that the newspaper men should be safeguarded from unnecessary risk or hindrance in the discharge of their professional duties.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 1.—Premises in Scotland Road used as headquarters of the Irish Self-Determination League and the Irish National Foresters were raided this morning by plainclothes police. No arrests were made, but documents were inspected.

One of the men detained recently has been identified as having been present at the shooting incident at Bankhall on Saturday night, when a policeman had a narrow escape, the bullet passing through his overcoat.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON CADETS' MURDER

Wounded Men "Massacred and Mutilated," Says Official—Cites "Treachery" by Inhabitants.

DUBLIN, Dec. 1.—The first complete account of the ambushing of the patrol of auxiliary police cadets near Macroom is provided by a senior officer in charge of the police in the Cork neighborhood. After going over the ground carefully and making full inquiries, he reported to the authorities as follows:

"District Inspector Crake took out a patrol in the ordinary course of duty. They were going in search of a man wanted in the Dunmanway direction, and had been previously working in co-operation with the Essex Regiment at Dunmanway. When dusk was falling, about 5 o'clock, the patrol was proceeding along the Macroom-Dunmanway Road and had reached a point where the road curves, low stone walls flank the road, and then narrow strips of bogland, full of tussocks, rising to boulders, cover the heights of dry land on either side.

"It is surmised from an examination of the site and from inquiries that the attackers, who were all wearing khaki and trench coats, with steel helmets, had drawn their motor lorry across the road and were mistaken by the first car of cadets for soldiers. The first car halted and the unsuspecting cadets got out and approached the motor lorry. The second car, which had been traveling a hundred yards behind, now came up.

"Something aroused the suspicion of the cadets and shooting began, three being killed instantly by the first fire. The others began to run back to the first car and the cadets in the second ran along the road to the help of their comrades. Then, from behind a depression, the second car came under a devastating fire at close range. The cadets were shot down by concealed men firing from all around. Direct fire from ambushers and from the attackers' lorry also swept down the road.

"After the firing had continued for some time and many men were wounded, overwhelming forces of the ambushers came up and forcibly disarmed the survivors. There followed a terrible massacre, it appearing to be the policy of the murder gang to allow no survivors to disclose their methods. The dead and wounded were hacked about the head with axes, shot guns were fired into their bodies, and the mutilations were of the most savage description.

"The one survivor wounded was hit about the head and left for dead. He had also two bullet wounds. The bodies were rifled and even their clothes taken. The ambush party came and departed in lorries, but the terrible treachery of the local inhabitants is indicated by the fact that although many people attending mass on Sunday morning were diverted from the road by the murder gang no word was said to the police and the ambush sat there until dusk.

"When the patrol failed to reach Macroom search parties were sent out, but no news reached Macroom Castle until 9:30 the following morning, when a report of the ambush came in."

No news has yet been received of the missing cadet, and the wounded man is so seriously injured that there is only just hope that he will live. The bodies of the cadets are to be taken to England tomorrow.

AMEND HOME RULE IN HOUSE OF LORDS

Peers Insist on Senate in South Ireland to Safeguard Unionist Minority.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The Irish Home Rule bill was considered by the House of Lords in committee this evening. There was a large muster of southern Irish peers and their British sympathizers, and they succeeded in carrying against the Government by a vote of 120 to 36 an amendment moved by Lord Oranmore and Browne providing for the establishment of a Senate for Southern Ireland. The mover asked for this safeguard for the Southern Unionists because it had been solemnly promised to them by Ministers of the Crown.

Lord Phillimore, in supporting the amendment, said he thought that second Chambers should be established in Ireland before wild legislation had been passed. Earl Midleton delivered a fierce attack on the Government for its betrayal of the southern Unionists and declared the Government was pledged to carry out Mr. Long's original promise to set up second Chambers.

Other peers joined in the attack on the Government and Lord Birkenhead, the Lord Chancellor, who is in charge of the bill, had a lively time in defending the measure. Lord Oranmore and Browne moved a further amendment, providing that the Northern Parliament should also include a Senate, and this was accepted by the Government and agreed to without division.

The Daily Chronicle's political correspondent says that the question of a second chamber for the Southern Unionists was known to be a delicate one for the Government and adds that when Lord Oranmore's amendment comes before the Commons probably the Ulster members will support it, but whether the Government can accept the amendment is at present in doubt.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The Government sustained a defeat in the House of Lords tonight when an amendment to the Irish Home Rule bill submitted by the Baron Oranmore and Browne, providing for the establishment of a Senate for Southern Ireland, was carried against the Government by a vote of 120 to 36. It was explained that the object of the amendment was to safeguard the minority southern Unionists.

Lord Shandon moved an amendment providing for a joint session of the Southern and Northern Senates as a substitute for the proposed joint Irish Council. Lord Birkenhead thought it preferable to discuss the subject at a later stage. Earl Middleton urged that nothing was more likely to lead to some settlement than Lord Shandon's proposal.

This amendment was adopted, 48 to 34.

In a later discussion Lord Birkenhead, referring to Lord Shandon's amendment, said that the Council was an essential part of the Government's scheme. This now was swept away by Lord Shandon's lamentable and reckless amendment. He doubted whether the bill would survive such a severe blow.

The defeat of the Government in the House of Lords tonight is not a matter of great significance. The amendment carried against the Government will probably be deleted when the bill goes back to the House of Commons.

300 WOMEN TO MEET MACSWINEY'S WIDOW

Mrs. George H. Childs to Head Many Prominent Residents on Trip Down the Bay.

EXPECT THOUSANDS AT PIER

Italian Societies to Join With Irish Bodies in Welcome to Celtic's Passenger Friday.

The committee which will welcome Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, widow of the Lord Mayor of Cork, will number more than three hundred, according to an announcement yesterday at headquarters in the Hotel Wolcott. Mrs. MacSwiney is on the White Star liner Celtic, which will dock late Friday afternoon or early Saturday morning, unless held up by fog off the coast.

It is expected that before the Celtic arrives Mrs. MacSwiney will reply to the wireless messages sent her early in the week. Among those who called at the committee headquarters yesterday afternoon and expressed a desire to meet Mrs. MacSwiney was Mrs. M. J. Harrington of this city, who was a schoolmate of Mrs. MacSwiney some years ago in Cork. Mrs. Harrington was invited to join the welcomers on the tug John F. Hylan, which will take the committee down the bay to meet the Celtic. No pier passes will be issued for the reception, it was announced yesterday.

Mrs. John P. Grace, wife of the Mayor of Charleston, S. C., who wired the committee that she would be unable to attend the reception, said in her message:

"Let me gladly join in spirit with those who are there, not to share her grief, but to shine in the reflected glory of one who was the beloved saint of liberty."

From announcements by various organizations yesterday, it was indicated that tens of thousands of persons would gather in the vicinity of Pier 60, North River, at the foot of West Nineteenth Street, when the Celtic docks.

In addition to the Irish organizations, the Italian societies of New York named representatives to attend the reception, while the Italian Branch of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, representing 78,000 clothing workers in this city, also elected delegates.

The officers of the reception committee, it was announced, are Mrs. George H. Childs, President of the New York Women's Democratic Committee, Chairman; Mrs. John J. 239 KILLED IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—Persons to the number of 673 had been killed or wounded in Ireland up to Nov. 27 of the present year by anti-Government elements, according to a statement issued today by the Home Office. The deaths do not include twenty persons killed in Londonderry and 62 in Belfast during the Summer rioting, nor 15 cadets killed in the Kilmichael ambuscade on Sunday night.

The statement says that 151 policemen have been killed and 230 wounded, that 47 soldiers met death and 103 were wounded. Civilians to the number of 41 have been killed and 101 wounded.

SAYS CLARA SMITH CONFESSED KILLING

ing the woman. She noticed it and drank the soup hurriedly. Then she said to me:

"I'm going out in the car. You pay the check and I'll settle with you later."

When I climbed into the car she had two automatic pistols in her lap. "Get out of here and get out quick," she said. I speeded up. I only had a penknife. We went fast as far as Hillsboro. All the time she had two pistols in her lap. One was a Colt's .32, the other a Colt's .38. And she was ready to use them. I asked the Hillsboro garage man for the road to Waco. We got to talking. It was an awful lonesome stretch of road.

"'What are you so uneasy about, Miss?' I asked.

She did not say anything for a minute or so.

"Haven't you been reading the newspapers?" she asked.

"Why, yes," I said.

"Well you ought to know what's wrong, then."

"I had not noticed anything," I said. "Was it a shooting scrape?"

"Yes," then she did not talk for a few minutes. Finally she asked: "Do you know any one in Ardmore, Okla.?"

"No."

"Do you know a Frank Ketch, or a man named Dunlap, or a man named Nicholas, there?"

"No."

"Tell me something" she said. "What's the best kind of a gun to shoot a man with—an old gun or a new one?"

"Why, an old gun," I said. "If it's an old gun, it's apt to be rusty, and if the bullet doesn't kill him, blood poison will."

"Wish I'd known that. My gun was a new one."

"Why?" I asked.

"I'll tell you," she said. "I shot a man in Ardmore."

"Who was he?"

"I won't tell you. If you read the newspaper, you'll know in twenty-four hours, anyhow."

"Why did you shoot him?"

"He lied to me. We quarreled during the afternoon and he lied to me. Then he came in drunk and tried to make me do things a brute or worse wouldn't do. You see, I've been with him ever since I was 7. He's married, but he and his wife were separated. They just got reconciled."

"So? How many times did you shoot him?" I asked.

"Just once; I aimed at his middle."

"Do you think he will die?"

"I most certainly do. I hope so, any way."

"Does any one else know this?"

"No. There aren't but us two that know it, and no one else ever will. If he lives, he'll never tell, and if he dies he'll never tell. I know I won't tell it, either."

"Well, cheer up," I said. "Maybe it isnt as bad as you think."

Says His Friends Helped Her Away.

"Yes, but it is," she said, and she began to cry. "He's worth a lot of money, and some of the men he thought were his friends helped me get away. I left my jewels there and my diamonds. They were worth several thousand. I gave them to a friend in Ardmore to keep for me. Three of the men packed my trunks and shipped them to Kansas City on a ticket. I did not even see it done. That's the way I left.

"I know an aviator in San Antonio. He used to be in the army. He is a great friend of my brother. If I could get to him I'd be safe. My brother is driving my car down this way to meet me. There's so many people in this section of the country who know me that I'm afraid to ride the trains. I'd meet some of the oil men, and I know them all."

"When we got to Waco she got more nervous. Finally she said she'd changed her mind and would I take her to Cisco. So I turned west. She talked all the way, telling me her story over and over.

"'Where's the best place for me to go where they can't bring me back?' she asked me once.

"'Well,' I said, 'they'd get you in Canada.'

"'I guess Mexico is the only place. I'm going to cross the border. I know all the big gamblers there. And I've lots of friends in Torreon, Chihuahua, Nogales, Tia Juana and Juarez. Besides, my mother lives in El Paso. I know a place about fifty miles from El Paso where I could go and they'd never find me.'

"When we went into Dublin she aksed me to get a Western Union blank, so she could send a message. I told her I could not until we got to Cisco. Then, some place between Howtown and Ranger she wanted me to stop and telephone to a Frank Ketch in Ardmore, me to place the call and she to do the talking. I backed out of that, too.

"At length we drove into Cisco. She asked me if I'd buy a railroad ticket for her. She gave me a $50 bill. She must have had $10,000.

I went in, got a ticket for El Paso. The train left at 3:50. It was then 2 o'clock in the morning. I went up to the hotel with her. Then she paid me $50 more for the trip and gave me a $100 tip. She wrote down my name on a slip of paper and I think she registered under that name at the hotel in Cisco.

The last I saw of her was through the hotel window. She had a pencil and was writing in the register.

ARDMORE, Okla., Dec. 1.—The quest for Clara Smith, wanted here in connection with the death Friday of Jake L. Hamon, Republican National Committeeman, has narrowed to a well-defined district in the Southwest, said Russell R. Brown, County Attorney, today.

Mr. Brown said he had been following a "hot trail" when he left here suddenly Monday for an unknown destination. He declared Miss Smith upon leaving Ardmore had gone through Durant, Okla.; Denison, Dallas and Cisco, Texas. All points of entry and exit on the border have been notified to watch for the woman, upon the theory that she might attempt to enter Mexico.

Mr. Brown is carefully weighing evidence regarding the advice and co-operation given Mrs. Clara Smith by influential persons close to Hamon, socially and financially, to determine whether warrants should be issued for their arrest on the charge of being accessories after the fact.

He has made no announcement as to whether he will change the charge of assault with intent to kill now lodged against the woman.

BUREAU CLERK TORE UP PRICE RECORDS

said they were everything, why didn't you tell us that you had destroyed the quotation cards? A.—Because that was so many months ago I didn't think it was germane to the inquiry.

Q.—Not germane? You judged that, did you? And you hadn't discussed it with any-one? A.—No.

Q.—And you hadn't told anybody about your destroying them? A.—Why, no.

Q.—You had not? A.—No.

Q.—And your memory is so poor that you couldn't tell us which of these firms in that association or bureau told you to destroy the cards? A.—No, I don't remember just who it was.

Q.—Suppose we go over the list of members, do you think you would be able then to tell us who told you to destroy the cards? A.—I would only be guessing.

Q.—Was it only one man who told you this? A.—I think possibly it was.

Q.—Possibly it was? What do you mean by that? A.—Well, I don't just remember, so I can't give you any accurate information on it.

When System Was Discarded.

Miss O'Dea asserted that it was because the members did not send in their quotations that the system was discontinued. Her best recollection was that the bureau stopped the quotation of estimates at the beginning of the year. She knew of no resolution by means of which the sending of quotations was stopped.

Q.—When you received a quotation card you communicated the contents of that card to the other members? A.—No, sir, I did not.

Q.—You never did? A.—I never did.

Q.—And when they telephoned, you never told them what it was? A.—No.

Q.—Well, they have sworn that you did. A.—They have not.

Q.—They have all said so. A.—Is that so?

Q.—That the practice was when the quotation card came in, they have the quotation——

Mr. Conboy interrupted and declared to Mr. Untermyer; "You can tell the witness the truth, and do not tell the witness a falsehood."

Mr. Untermyer did not interrupt his questioning of the witness just at that moment, but told her that Mr. Steele had previously testified that when the quotation cards came, the other members would telephone to the witness and she would give them the quotation. She said that was not so. A moment later she admitted that the cards were on file in the office and the members had access to them. Here Mr. Untermyer resented Mr. Conboy's statement as contrary to the evidence presented and asked that he withdraw it and apologize. Mr. Conboy was silent.

Q.—Let me see the contract book. Now, can you account for the disappearance of all the quotations cards, and at the same time of the quotation card index? A.—No. I told you I had destroyed the quotation cards.

Q.—Did you destroy the book, the index, too? A.—No.

Q.—Is it possible that it is still up there? A.—I think not. I sent down everything.

Tore Up Records.

Q.—This was a pretty bulky thing to destroy. How did you go about it? A.—I just put them in the waste paper basket.

Q.—Just put them in the waste paper basket? Were they torn first? A.—I may have torn them across.

Q.—Do you know whether you did? A.—I think I did, some of them.

Nobody was present in the office when she destroyed the cards, she said. The witness had her face averted when she answered some of the questions, and Mr. Untermyer said to her: "Just look at me if you don't mind." The witness complied, and stared at the lawyer for a few minutes. As the questioning concerning the destroyed cards developed, her voice broke and lost some of its defiance. The smile which she had when she ascended the stand disappeared, and she dabbed her eyes with her handkerchief several times.

Miss O'Dea could not remember whether it was Mr. Penny, the present Chairman of the bureau, or somebody else who asked her to destroy the cards, and shortly afterward she was excused.

The system under which members of the Builders' Supply Bureau fixed prices was the goal of the committee's work for two weeks. It was evident that the appearance on the stand of Major Steele, formerly manager of the Standard Builders' Supply Company, was a surprise to the members of the bureau who were present when he was called. Steele severed his connection with the bureau when he entered the army service in 1918.

Origin of the Card System.

Steele said that the suggestion for a card system for fixing prices came from John P. Kane, who spoke of it informally to some members. He said Kane spoke of having consulted counsel, who said that there was nothing illegal in the members notifying the bureau of what they had done in the way of making estimates. He explained that a member would file his estimate with the bureau on a "quotation" card, which gave the amount of each material he was estimating on. The "quotation" card remained at the bureau's office, so that the other members might have access to it or Miss O'Dea advised them by telephone what the estimates were.

"Just like the Hettrick system?" asked Mr. Untermyer, referring to the card system used by the bureau. Steele said he did not know how many cards Hettrick used. Steele was excused and Mr. Untermyer called for the appearance of Joseph Penny, the head of the bureau, Miss O'Dea and the "quotation" cards. "We want all the cards on the table," he said, looking in the direction of Mr. Conboy.

"You won't get any if you talk in that fashion," the lawyer for the bureau responded angrily. Mr. Untermyer demanded the production of the witnesses. Conboy, from his seat, declared that he was not being interrogated. Mr. Untermyer then ordered subpoenas to be served on the witnesses. Mr. Conboy accused counsel for the committee of making a "disagreeable and insulting statement." Mr. Untermyer made a denial. The incident closed when Steele was recalled.

Beginning a detailed explanation of the working of the bureau, Mr. Steele said that a credit bureau was needed because of enormous losses sustained by the dealers of masons' building materials. Under Mr. Untermyer's questioning he admitted that one of the purposes of the establishment of the bureau was to get high prices.

Uniform Prices the Object.

Q.—Isn't it the fact that the purpose of organizing this bureau was not only to get higher prices, but to standardize and make uniform the prices in the trade? A.—They hoped to accomplish that.

Q.—That was the reason for organizing it? A.—That was one of the reasons.

Mr. Untermyer read from the constitution of the bureau which stated that members had to submit a record of the contracts closed each day and of the stock on hand on the first of each month.

The initiation fee, according to the witness, was $2,000, and assessments were levied quarterly as money was required on a per capita basis, about $200 or $300 each time. The income during one year was about $34,000, he said.

Going back to a detailed description of the "quotation" cards, Major Steele said they were printed in green ink, while the contract cards were in black. The names of the various classes of materials were printed on the card, and each one was filled in by the member. After one contractor sent in his quotation his competitors could learn of it by calling up the bureau on the telephone. He said there were no written regulations concerning who might make the first estimate, but that there were simply oral understandings.

Describes How Combine Worked.

Q.—What is the oral understanding as to what the members are required to do, or supposed to do, when they are asked to estimate on a job and they have rung up the Secretary of the bureau, and she has told them that an estimate has gone in by another member? A.—In most cases the result has been that the member inquiring as to prices has filed the same price.

Q.—So when the bids have all come in to the contractor, they are uniform? A.—They were, yes, sir.

Q.—We have had evidence here from people like the Fuller Company showing that in these building materials if they asked for ten or twelve estimates from different concerns they got a uniform price every time. That is the way it happens, is it? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—That same thing applied to all contracts, didn't it? A.—Yes.

Q.—Whether public or private? A.—Yes.

Q.—Whether schools, court houses or anything else? A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. Untermyer made much of the admission of Steele that the first card, sent before the contract was closed, was not binding and the bidder had a right to withdraw his estimate if he chose to do so.

Q.—So that before he committed himself at all to any obligations to his customer or contractor, his competitors knew exactly what he proposed to do? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—This contract card, which is the second card, was that sent in only by the member that received the contract? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Was this communication made by the secretary on receiving the estimate card to the other members at times made in writing, or was it always made by telephone? A.—There were periodic meetings of the bureau and then there was a list compiled of the various estimates that had been submitted on jobs with the names of the bidders, and both the compilations and the cards and the cards themselves were accessible to the members.

Q.—That is, the estimating cards? A.—Yes.

Same System in Brooklyn.

The Masons' Supply Bureau of 82 Court Street, Brooklyn, was modeled after the Builders' Supply Bureau, Steele testified. The President of the Brooklyn organization was Cornelius McGuire, he said. Three of the members of the Manhattan organization were also members of the Brooklyn bureau because they had yards in Brooklyn. In addition the members of both bureaus were also members of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Materials at 18 Broadway, and this association sent out weekly quotations of prices, which the witness said the members were expected to maintain. In most instances this hope was realized.

Builders erecting houses were forced to buy brick and cement from the same concern, according to the witness. If a builder found he could get brick cheaper from another dealer he was unable to avail himself of the opportunity unless he bought his cement from the same dealer.

Brick Manufacturer in Contempt.

Mr. Goss, President of the Empire Brick and Supply Company, said the company was capitalized at $1,500,000. He declined to say what his share was on the ground that it was a personal matter. He was adjudged in contempt when he persisted in his refusal after having been directed to answer by Chairman C. C. Lockwood. His company, said Mr. Goss, was one of the largest manufacturers of brick, maintaining an output of from 65,000,000 to 70,000,000 brick normally. The present output was about 20,000,000 because of the lack of labor and a shortage of fuel.

Mr. Goss was examined as to his testimony before Mr. Untermyer at the Mayor's Rent Committee hearing on July 3, 1919.

Mr. Untermyer read a report of Mr. Goss's testimony in 1919 in which Mr. Goss admitted that he would not sell to anybody who was not a member of the Dealers' Association. Two votes out of forty were sufficient to keep a competitor out of the association, Mr. Goss testified at that hearing.

Later Goss declined to say whether he made any reports of quotations to the Builders' Supply Bureau on the regular cards of the organization. Mr. Untermyer called his attention to the fact that his refusal to answer questions applied only to that concerning a matter which might tend to incriminate or degrade him and did not extend to a legitimate matter. The witness persisted in his refusal to answer and was found in contempt a third time.

It was during a particularly rapid fire of questions by counsel for the committee that Mr. Conboy again interrupted by shouting from his seat: "Oh, let him answer."

Untermyer and Conboy Clash.

"Do you want to be put out of the room?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"No, I don't, but I think you ought to be," Mr. Conboy retorted.

Mr. Untermyer turned to Chairman Lockwood and said that the committee had been very indulgent with Mr. Conboy. That ended the incident.

Mr. Untermyer then read further from Goss's testimony at the July 3, 1919, hearing, this time about the "unanimity in price." Goss was questioned concerning answers he is purported to have made concerning the price of brick, and in reply to these questions said that whatever statement he made on the subject of prices was correct. He was adjudged in contempt for the fourth time for refusing to answer the previous questions.

Mr. Philbrick, who was a witness on Tuesday, resumed the stand yesterday. He declined to testify about the workings of the "quotation" cards, and said he did not know where they were. He could not tell what became of them and would not tell if he knew. He said they were not destroyed under his direction, and also refused to say whether they were in his custody. He was not aware that it was a criminal offense to destroy evidence. He persisted in refusing to answer questions and was adjudged in contempt.

He was asked if the bureau were still in operation.

"It is," he answered, smilingly. "We will be glad to have you come to a meeting some time."

"Do you want me indicted?" asked Mr. Untermyer with a smile. The smile vanished from the face of the witness and he made no reply. He refused to say whether there had been any change of the bureau's methods since the investigation began and was soon afterward adjudged in contempt a second time.

When the session opened yesterday Mr. Untermyer announced that he had called on Justice Hotchkiss and had succeeded in having the hearing on the injunction tying up the Building Supply Bureau's books advanced from the hour scheduled today to 4:45 yesterday afternoon. At the conclusion of the session he and Mr. Conboy went to Justice Hotchkiss's chambers.

Justice Hotchkiss said he granted the injunction after merely glancing at the complaint. He said that Mr. Conboy's papers did not show that the books had been offered in evidence and that they alleged the ruthless, unauthorized and forcible seizure of the books. Had he read the papers of Mr. Conboy carefully, he said, he would not have granted the injunction. Justice Hotchkiss denied Mr. Conboy's motion. Mr. Penny will have to appear as a witness and the books will have to be produced when the investigation resumes at 10:30 this morning.

HETTRICK MEN BEFORE JURY.

Whether Hylan's Connection With Lawyer Was Taken Up Not Known.

Six employes of John T. Hettrick, whose letter urging limestone instead of granite in the new schools was adopted bodily by Mayor Hylan and sent to the Board of Education, were called yesterday before the second Extraordinary Grand Jury, which is investigating the housing situation.

Hettrick's office books and papers were seized by the Lockwood committee after testimony to the effect that Hettrick was an organizing factor in a system of price fixing, blackmail and graft against investors in building, including the City of New York. These documents, which have formed the backbone of the Lockwood investigation, will be taken up by the Extraordinary Grand Jury which heard the Hettrick employes yesterday. These employes were Thomas Lillis, John David Langdon, Anna Elizabeth Schwaner, John Aisenbrey, Eddie Dean and Charles Hutchison.

Whether the Grand Jury is investigating the relations between Mayor Hylan and Hettrick could not be learned, because of the extreme secrecy with which the second Extraordinary Grand Jury's proceedings have been so far conducted. According to one story yesterday, the Extraordinary Grand Jury, which sought to indict Mayor Hylan last Summer, according to a statement in court by District Attorney Swann, is preparing to take up evidence in the housing situation as it relates to Mayor Hylan. It has never been asserted publicly by Samuel Untermyer or any of the other lawyers of the Lockwood committee that Mayor Hylan acted illegally in his dealings with Hettrick.

It was thought that indictments might be returned yesterday by the new Extraordinary Grand Jury, but they adjourned late in the afternoon for further hearings. The last witnesses to be heard were Senator Lockwood and Assemblyman McWhinney, who appeared before the jury for a few minutes.

BACKER TESTIMONY READ.

Jury in Perjury Trial Hears Lockwood Committee Evidence.

Stretches of testimony from the record of the Lockwood committee were read yesterday at the trial of George S. Backer, who is on trial in General Sessions before Judge Otto A. Rosalsky and a jury on the charge of committing perjury by making false statements before the Lockwood committee for the purpose of shielding Robert P. Brindell.

The testimony of the defendant and of Ephraim B. Levy, who said that he gave $25,000 to Backer to bribe Brindell and others to end a strike, was identified by the court reporters who had made the transcript and then read. Judge Rosalsky excluded part of the transcript from the record, after objections by Edmund L. Mooney, chief counsel for Backer, to some of the questions put by Samuel Untermyer before the Lockwood committee. Emory R. Buckner caused some surprise by offering to withdraw the entire record, but Judge Rosalsky ruled that it must stay in evidence.

Out of respect for the memory of Judge Malone, the trial was adjourned early in the day. The jurors were informed that the court would permit them to go to their homes, instead of locking them up for the night at the Murray Hill Hotel, which had been done the night before. The decision to give the jury this freedom was reached with the consent of lawyers for both sides.

ASKED $229,000,000 FOR STATE BUDGET

First Report of Total Demanded Found $9,000,000 Short of Real Figures.

MILLER FACES BIG PROBLEM

Must Cut Estimates $109,000,000 to Keep Total Within Visible Revenue for 1921.

State budget conferences again occupied Governor-elect Miller yesterday. Instead of $220,000,000, as at first reported, the appropriations demanded for next year's budget by the heads of administrative departments at Albany aggregated $229,000,000, as shown by closer scrutiny of the figures.

Of this total, $34,000,000 represents money for payrolls. During the last year of the Whitman administration the total for this purpose was approximately $22,000,000. Since then, salary increases due to the high cost of living and enlargement of the staffs of practically every department have led to an increase of approximately $7,000,000, the figure this year being about $29,000,000.

In all his talks Mr. Miller has more than intimated that he will make a determined effort to keep the expenditures of the State within its visible revenues, approximately $120,000,000. This would necessitate reductions aggregating $109,000,000, and few believe such a radical cut is feasible without impairing the State service.

The abolition of many bureaus and commissions whose usefulness has ceased and the consolidation of some departments in the interest of economy may be looked for soon after Mr. Miller assumes his new office.

Already there has been some talk of materially reducing the patronage of the Controller's office by shifting to a new Department of Taxes and Revenues the collection as well as the assessment of taxes, leaving to the Controller merely the functions of audit and supervision of bookkeeping, the duties for which the office was originally created.

If this new department is created the collection of the motor vehicle tax probably will be transferred to it from the Secretary of State's office, leaving the Secretary the custodian of State records and the Keeper of the Great Seal.

Another suggestion made to Governor-elect Miller contemplates the consolidation of all engineering work and related functions in the office of the State Engineer. This would involve making the offices of the State Superintendent of Public Works and the State Highway Commission, and possibly the State Architect, merely bureaus and divisions in the Engineering Department. This change would require an amendment to the State Constitution.

Among the callers on Mr. Miller at the Hotel St. Regis yesterday were ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman and Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt, whose term expires next April. President Curran of the Borough of Manhattan discussed traction and City Charter matters with the Governor-elect. Jacob A. Livingston, Republican leader in Kings, Senator-elect Schuyler M. Meyer of the Seventeenth District, Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Finch and State Chairman George A. Glynn were other visitors.

After yesterday's conferences it was stated that the Governor-elect was looking for "a big man of practical experience" to fill the post of Public Service Commissioner in the First District, which was regarded as indicating that the plan for one Public Service Commission for the entire State had been abandoned and that separate public utilities regulation in this city by a one-headed commission would be continued.

Mr. Miller was entertained informally at dinner on Tuesday evening by Richard S. Childs at his home, 8 West Ninth Street. Mr. Childs said the dinner was to afford opportunity for an exchange of views on the direct primary law and the Massachusetts ballot between the Governor-elect, who is committed to a modification of both, and members of the City Club and Citizens' Union who have given study to the subject. According to one of the guests, Mr. Miller "reserved decision."

The Governor-elect will go to Albany today to argue a case before the Court of Appeals. He will spend Saturday and Sunday at his home in Syracuse, returning to this city Monday.

Southern Pacific Stock Rallies.

On the Curb Southern Pacific rights sold up to 23, while the stock on the big board recovered all of its losses in the forenoon and closed with a net gain of 1 point. The dealings in Southern Pacific amounted to 138,200 shares, at prices ranging from 105⅛ to 110½ and closing at 109⅞.

The board also sent out to stockholders and holders of the convertible 5 per cent. bonds a circular announcing the plan which gave the details regarding the stockholder's subscription for Pacific Oil Company stock. These were to the effect that warrants will be issued to each stockholder as soon as possible after the closing of the company's books on Jan. 14, specifying the amount of stock of the new company which each shareholder is entitled to buy. The circular read:

"On the backs of these warrants will be two forms. In case it is desired to purchase stock, the first form is to be filled out and signed by the stockholder or by his assigns and returned on or before March 1, 1921, to the treasurer of the Southern Pacific Company, A. K. Van Deventer, 165 Broadway, New York, N. Y., accompanied by a cashier's draft or certified check, payable to the order of the Southern Pacific Company in New York funds, for the full amount payable. In case it is desired to dispose of the privilege of purchasing stock the second form on the back of the warrant, which is an assignment, is to be filled out and signed by the stockholder.

"Where a warrant authorizes the purchase of two or more shares of stock of the new company, a stockholder who may wish to purchase a portion of the stock covered by the warrant and dispose of the remainder, or who may wish to dispose of a portion of the stock covered by the warrant to one person and the remainder to another, must, on or before Feb. 24, 1921, return the warrant to the Treasurer to be exchanged for other warrants, specifying in writing the number of warrants desired in exchange, the amount of stock to be covered by each, and the name or names in which to be issued.

"On surrender of the warrants and payment of the full purchase price on or before March 1, 1921, the Treasurer will deliver or forward to the holders the amount of stock of the new company purchased.

"All warrants not returned to the Treasurer of the company on or before March 1, 1921 (accompanied by a cashier's draft or certified check as herein provided), will be void and of no value, and the privilege of purchasing stock of the new company evidenced thereby will cease."

SHALL AMERICA RULE THE WORLD?

The December CURRENT HISTORY MAGAZINE contains an interesting article which is an analysis of an extraordinary book circulated in Germany, wherein the author seeks to prove that America is now a world tyrant and is seeking to make Europe a serf of the United States. This is only one of many big features; 192 pages; illustrated; 40 international cartoons. On news stands.—Advt.

PLEA TO END HATRED OF GERMANS HERE

Ludwig Nissen, Bernard Ridder and Emanuel Baruch Call for Peace.

AN APPEAL TO AMERICANS

To Forget War Prejudices and Work Together for the Revival of Trade.

Pleas for a revival of trade and peace with Germany and a cessation of prejudice toward those of German birth or ancestry marked many of the speeches at a testimonial dinner given to Ludwig Nissen at the Hotel Astor last night in recognition of his public services. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia held that the rehabilitation of Central Europe was essential to the economic stability of the world, while Bernard Ridder condemned the action of the American Legion in preventing a benefit in Los Angeles for the children of Germany and in refusing to pass the reviewing stand in a Pittsburgh parade because the Mayor had given permission for a tag day there to the German citizens.

Mr. Ridder, in speaking of the still existing prejudices, said he had been impressed at Pilgrim celebration dinners he had attended with the speeches of such men as Nicholas Murray Butler and the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning of Trinity, in which they extolled the superiority of Anglo-Saxon culture.

"They did not realize it, but they were plagiarizing the Kaiser and Pan-Germanism," he added.

Dr. Emanuel Baruch declared that every treaty was of fleeting value that did not take root in the hearts of the nations. He regretted the worldwide hatreds which he said existed today, adding:

"There is nothing in the world as destructive as hatred; it is the power that denies; it is the power of darkness. If the mutual distrust, the ruthless greed, the orgy of hatred inundating the world persists, we shall some day visit Europe as we now visit the temples of Egypt or the ruins of Rome."

Mr. Nissen in his reply to the addresses, said that much of the bitterness that was engendered here against those of German birth, ancestry or sympathies was a result of the first two years of the war when our country was officially neutral. But now the war was over and the Germans here were no different from what they were before the European struggle began. They were still, and would continue to be, a law-abiding and patriotic element of the nation, Mr. Nissen said. They would challenge the respect, admiration and affection of all their fellow-citizens, he believed.

Mr. Nissen asked the German element in America "to try to forgive and forget the indignities heaped upon them."

"Let us forget," he added, "the ridiculous reflections cast upon the hyphen, as employed in the term German-American, to the exclusion of all other hyphens, because all sensible people know that this term never meant anything like a divided allegiance, which some rattlebrained fellow citizens attempted to ascribe to it, among those to whom it was applied, for it never meant anything but to designate their origin of which they are naturally proud. As a diamond is a diamond no matter where it is mined, so an American is an American, no matter what his origin, provided the spirit of his patriotism is such as to leave no doubt of its interpretation, which should be honesty of purpose in the service of country.

"The Germans should not abandon their language, their customs, their unparalleled spirit of sociability (Gemuethlichkeit), their songs and music, their inborn cleanliness and orderliness—born of their training in discipline; in a word, their unconscious spreading of the ideals of the high standard of civilization and efficiency of their 'Vaterland,' which our great educational expert authority, Charles W. Eliot, has proclaimed to be the highest attainable."

Former Controller William A. Prendergast presided. Judge William A. Wadhams of General Sessions and Hans Rieg also spoke.

Asks Wilson to Receive Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Inquiry was made by Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, Republican leader of the House, at the White House Executive Offices today as to whether President Wilson would be able to receive on Monday the Joint Committee of the Senate and House to notify the Executive of the convening of Congress. Mr. Tumulty informed Mr. Mondell that he would consult with the President regarding the matter.

TREADWAY ADMITS SLAYING PEIRCE

Takes All Blame When Confronted by Rogers Woman and Former Pal.

ASKS THAT THEY BE FREED

Declares He Strangled Victim to Make Sure After Felling Him to Floor.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—After maintaining his innocence for seven days, Peter D. Treadway tonight broke down and assumed all blame for the brutal murder of Henry T. Peirce, who was beaten to death in his apartment at 2,009 Market Street on Nov. 21.

Despite Treadway's avowal, District Attorney Rotan announced that all four persons in the room at the time Peirce was killed would be charged with murder in the first degree. The prosecutor contends that all are accessories after the fact, at least, if not implicated in the murder plot.

Treadway collapsed in the office of Detective Captain Souder. Confronted with Marie Rogers, or Phillips, and his erstwhile friend, Joseph A. Moss, whom he had accused of committing the crime, Treadway maintained his accustomed air of bravado for only a moment. The woman and Moss united in accusing Treadway, and after a few feeble contradictions of their stories he confessed.

"I killed Peirce," he sobbed, to Captain Souder and William Belshaw, head of the murder squad. "Moss and Marie are innocent. You ought to let them go. I'm going to tell the whole truth now. I am the only one to blame."

As he was led back to his cell he passed some of the newspaper men who had accompanied him on the train from Wheeling, W. Va., where he and the woman were captured. He nodded as he recognized them and said with a weak smile:

"I guess you'll get a real story tonight."

Treadway is still wearing a dark blue suit he took from Peirce's apartment the night of the murder. At Baltimore he exchanged his own bloodstained clothes for this suit, but was uncautious enough to carry his clothing with him and later pawn it at Wheeling. This suit was recovered by detectives.

Treadway acknowledged that he made sure of the death of Peirce by strangling him after he had been felled to the floor.

"After Peirce dropped," Treadway said, "I knelt beside him and covered his face with a towel until he stopped breathing and I was sure he was dead. I guess that's how I got the bloodstains on the knee of my trousers."

It required slightly more than twenty minutes to change Treadway's hitherto adamant denial of any connection with the murder to a complete confession. After Moss had passed three hours writing a statement about the case, Treadway was taken downstairs and confronted with Moss. His face twitched nervously at the sight of his former pal. Then he resumed his complacent air of bravado.

"Hello, Arch," he said. "I see they've got you, too."

"Yes," replied Moss, "and why in the devil are you trying to put everything off on me?"

"Because you did it."

ORDERS 'CLEAN-UP' OF STRIKE CENTRE

Col. Hall Forces Williamson Commission to Appoint Mayor Pro Tem.

POLICE HAD BEEN HELPLESS

Undesirable Men and Women Leaving City—United Mine Workers May Intervene in Mingo.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Dec. 1.—State Senator William York, Republican, was named Mayor pro tem by three members of the City Commission at its meeting here tonight. Senator York will assume the duties of Mayor Peters, who is ill in a Cincinnati hospital. This action was taken after the military authorities had notified the civil authorities that the city must be "cleaned up." The Police Department has been almost powerless to act without a mayor.

There were no written instructions to the City Commission, but Colonel Herman Hall, in command of the troops, said the City Government must function and "function at once." Representatives of the Colonel, in informal conferences with city officials, disclosed determination to have a marked improvement in moral and sanitary conditions.

Many undesirables, both men and women, were making their exodus from Williamson today, following the start of the "clean-up."

No disorders of any nature have been reported to military headquarters during the last twenty-four hours, Colonel Hall said this evening.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 1.—Intervention by the international officers of the United Mine Workers of America in the strike of miners in the Mingo County fields was discussed in coal mining circles here today. It was the general opinion that some revision of the organization's policy relative to the continuation of the strike during the Winter may be expected.

OPPOSE WAGE CUTS.

"Inland Empire" Industries Declare Against Exploiting Surplus of Labor

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 1.—A policy opposed to any marked reduction of wages was announced today by J. C. H. Reynolds, Secretary-Manager of the Associated Industries of the Inland Empire, following a recent conference of members representing industrial establishments of Eastern Washington, Oregon and Northern Idaho.

Mr. Reynolds declared that the eight-hour day will be strictly adhered to, that wages in lumber mills "will not be materially reduced" and that wages in the woods will remain at 50 cents an hour. He said it had been decided that shut-downs of plants will be as short as possible.

"The Associated Industries will condemn any individual employer who attempts to exploit the present surplus of labor," he declared.

WORK 1 AND 2 DAYS A WEEK.

Thread Mills at Holyoke Go on New Schedule Monday.

HOLYOKE, Mass., Dec. 1.—The four divisions of the American Thread Company in this city will go on a schedule of one day and two days a week beginning Monday, it was announced today.

About two thirds of the employes will be on the one day schedule and the remainder on two days. At present the employes are working three and two days a week. Two thousand will be affected. Those who will work two days a week are employed on a class of goods for which there is a slightly stronger demand.

UNEMPLOYED MEN SEIZE ENGLISH PUBLIC HALLS

Occupy Eleven Buildings for Shelter—Raise Red Flag, but Soldiers Order It Down.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Seizures of public buildings and unoccupied dwelling houses by unemployed men and ex-soldiers in need of house accommodation continue. A band of several hundred unemployed took possession of Tottenham Town Hall yesterday, and this morning, with their ranks increased to a thousand, they developed their plans by seizing the Edmonton Town Hall, two miles away.

They sent a deputation to the Edmonton District Council and demanded, among other things, that the red flag should be flown from the Town Hall and that they should have free use of one of the committee rooms as headquarters and of a workshop for repairing boots and haircutting. The deputation also objected to the presence of the police in the Town Hall, and the police were withdrawn. The red flag was hoisted on the Town Hall in the afternoon, but in consequence of a threat from other ex-soldiers to tear it to pieces it was pulled down and the Union Jack hoisted in its place.

Tonight 300 unemployed, including many ex-service men, quietly and without opposition took over a public library in Peckham Road with the intention of making it their headquarters for the Winter. Another large body of unemployed today took possession of the public baths in Walthamstow and told the Clerk of the District Council that they required the building as a central depôt in the town for the distribution of food. Some of the men said they had served in the first expeditionary force to France and had lately been obliged to sleep out in Epping Forest.

INDICTS EX-HEADS OF CRUCIBLE STEEL

Pittsburgh Grand Jury Accuses Herbert Dupuy and G. A. Turville of Tax Conspiracy.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1.—The Federal Grand Jury today voted an indictment against Herbert Dupuy, former President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Crucible Steel Company of America, and George A. Turville, former Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer of the company, charging them with conspiracy to defraud the United States Government out of income and excess profits taxes.

The indictment charges that Messrs. Dupuy and Turville "conspired and agreed with one another, and with others unknown to the Grand Jury, to defraud the United States Government" through making false returns on income and profits.

The companies concerned, and through which the false reports are alleged to have been made, are the Halcomb Steel Company, the Crucible Steel Mining and Milling Company, the Hudson Railroad and Transportation Company the Pennsylvania Connecting Railroad Company, the Crucible Steel Company, the Crucible Coal Company, the Crucible Fuel Company, the Midland Improvement Company, the Midland Water Company and the Cumberland Supply Company.

The Government claims its loss amounts to several millions of dollars.

The indictment contains three counts—concealing assets of the Crucible Steel Company, making false returns to the Internal Revenue Department and violating Chapters 111, 113 and 114 of the Internal Revenue act of Feb. 24, 1919.

The last count deals with returns to the United States Government of incomes subject to the excess profits tax.

In the indictment it is alleged that on or about Aug. 31, 1917, the total value of the assets of the Crucible Steel Company and affiliated companies subject to tax was given as $9,100,200.09, when in reality it was in excess of $10,000,000.

MEYER CONFERRING ON AID TO FARMERS

Ex-Chairman of War Finance Corporation Sees Chance for Government Relief.

MEETS SENATOR CAPPER

Will Consult Today With Congress Committees—Borah Favors Widening European Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. — Eugene Meyer Jr. of New York, who was Chairman of the War Finance Corporation, conferred this afternoon with Senator Capper of Kansas on the proposal to re-establish the War Finance Corporation in the hope that by so doing the financial difficulties of the farmers will be solved, in part at least. Mr. Meyer, it was announced, will participate tomorrow in a joint conference of the members of the Senate and House Committees on Agriculture.

Senator Capper said after his conference with Mr. Meyer that the latter agreed with those Senators who maintain that re-establishment of the Finance Corporation may go a long way toward affording the relief needed by the farmers. When the Finance Corporation was abolished it turned into the Treasury more than $175,000,000, and Senator Capper said that it might be possible for the corporation, in the event of its revival, to use all or part of this money in financing its activities in behalf of the agricultural interests.

Senator Borah said today that the answer to the problem, in his opinion, was to be found in bringing about at the earliest opportunity a resumption of trade relations with all the European countries. He believes that liberal credits should be extended where possible, and that in this way the suffering people of Europe will be able to help themselves and at the same time aid the American producer in solving his problem.

Mr. Borah expressed his deep sympathy with the European sufferers, but added that he did not think that charity was the solution of their troubles. Make it possible for Europe to buy food and clothing here and at the same time send to us those of her products that we need and the problem, in Senator Borah's opinion, will go a long way toward solving itself.

BACKS 35-CENT WHEAT DUTY

Tincher to Offer Bill to Protect Farmers Against Imports.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—An import duty of 35 cents a bushel on wheat is proposed in a bill which Representative Tincher of Kansas has drawn for introduction in the House next Monday. Mr. Tincher said today that the measure was designed to protect American wheat producers from imports from Canada, Australia and other countries.

Representative Tincher has also prepared a bill designed, he said, to eliminate "speculation and gambling" in food products on exchanges. It was described as similar to a measure prepared by Senator Capper of Kansas for introduction in the Senate.

CITY RUNS TROLLEYS ON STATEN ISLAND

Hylan Acts as Motorman of the First Car of 28 to Be Operated on Municipal Line.

Municipal trolleys in the City of New York became a reality yesterday when Mayor Hylan and other city officials set in motion the first of the twenty-eight cars which, at a five-cent fare, are to furnish transportation to the residents of Staten Island, who have been more or less deprived of means of quick locomotion ever since the Midland lines quit last January.

Staten Island made the occasion a holiday with many decorations, the waving of many flags and an abundance of music. Mayor Hylan stirred the enthusiasm of the celebrants when he hurled defiance at traction corporations in general, insisting he would fill the whole city with automobile buses despite the difficulties his Administration has experienced thus far. Moreover, the Mayor added a defi or two for the benefit of other utility corporations, which he said were trying to take millions from the pockets of the people, and pledged himself and the whole city Administration to fight such attempts to the bitter end.

Staten Islanders liked the Mayor's speech so well that when one of the orators who followed him suggested he should be rewarded with a second term in City Hall there were vociferous cheers which nearly drowned the whispered words caught only by those sitting nearest to his Honor, who said the burden of his utterance was, "I've had enough."

The Mayor, who had not been at the business end of a rapid transit vehicle since he forsook his job as engineer on the old Brooklyn elevated lines in the early '90s, operated the first car over the line, with a number of city and borough officials for passengers, from Concord through Stapleton and Tompkinsville to the terminus at St. George. Before the Mayor started the car moving slowly from the barn, he raised the municipal flag over the structure and declared the first municipal trolley line in the State a reality.

L. A. DREYFUS DIES SUDDENLY.

The ceremonies attending the opening of the municipal trolley lines on Staten Island yesterday were marred by the sudden and tragic death of Dr. Louis A. Dreyfus, President of the Staten Island Civic League and wealthy chewing gum manufacturer, who collapsed just as he was beginning a speech before the thousands who had gathered at the St. George ferry house for the celebration.

Dr. Dreyfus tottered into the arms of Mgr. Charles A. Cassidy of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church in New Brighton. The Police Band swung into "The Star-Spangled Banner" as he was carried into the Detective Bureau's offices in the ferry house, and he expired while the strains of the national air were swelling out and the throng stood bareheaded.

Dr. Dreyfus was 52 years old, and a native of New York.

Tariff for Farmers Urged Before Agriculture Officials.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. — A protective tariff on cotton, rice and wheat was advocated before the National Association of Commissioners, Secretaries and Representatives of Departments of Agriculture today by Harry D. Wilson of Louisiana, who declared that although he was a Democrat, he favored protection for the farmers.

E. T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture, and E. W. Davis, President of the association were other speakers. Mr. Davis said that a larger production of food was the only means of preventing a return to war-time prices.

HEALTHY NEW YEAR

Put the mark of a great service on your Christmas gifts and letters—

Buy Christmas Seals!

The Seals you have always bought. Buy them again!

WHEN the shadows of night herald the coming of Christmas Eve, and the great city of New York pauses for a moment to reflect that the morrow is another Christmas day—another festival of the very spirit of humanity and good will—what share toward making it such a festival will be yours?

For a number of years the sale of the familiar Christmas Seals for packages and letters has provided a very appreciable fund for the splendid work carried on in fighting tuberculosis in New York City. Every penny helps, and it is fitting that at the Christmas season the privilege of participating in this great service is accorded to every man, woman and child who purchases even one of the little red and green seals.

There are more than 60,000 cases of tuberculosis in New York City—many of them unrecognized. We make care and advice available for them. And through supervision of known cases and general education, the public and its rising generations are being protected against the spread of this insidious and destructive disease. Such work has been an important factor in reducing the New York City death rate from tuberculosis of all forms 46 per cent. within the last two decades. Eventually the "White Scourge" can be eliminated altogether.

That we may all say, "Peace on earth, good will toward men," and that the expression of the spirit of giving may convey a multiple blessing, make sure that every Yuletide package and letter bears at least one Christmas Seal.

Seals are on sale at all the principal shops, theatres, chain stores, hotels and in public buildings.

We will gladly forward any number of Christmas Seals at a penny each. Make all checks payable to Treasurer of your local committee.

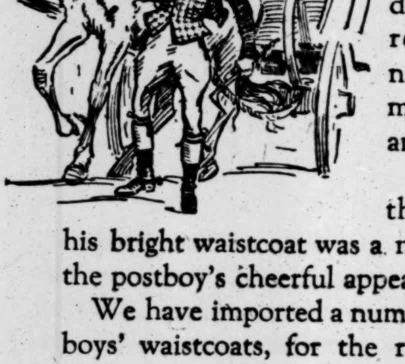
Gloves and Postboys



BORROWING a waistcoat from the postboy of old-time coaching days is one of the recent advances noted in English motoring, riding and golfing circles.

As he mounted the wheel horse, his bright waistcoat was a notable feature of the postboy's cheerful appearance.

We have imported a number of these postboys' waistcoats, for the riders and motor drivers, the golfers and Winter sportsmen of New York.

They are examples of the readiness of The Man's Shop in the odd corners as well as the usual requirements of your wardrobe.

Which brings us to gloves—of every kind, for every use. Modesty alone keeps us from announcing this the most complete and best collection of gloves we know anything about.

Mocha, plain or spear-backed, drab or brown; buckskin in all its useful varieties, even to the butternut and black-stitched kind—hand-sewn, English-made walking gloves, gauntlets, two-in-one's, fleece and fur-lined gloves, evening gloves—the whole glove world, on both sides the ocean, intelligently invaded for New York's benefit.

One hundred additional English overcoats ordered last February have just arrived on the steamer and registered at The Man's Shop—with our prices at once re-adjusted to the new Lord & Taylor level.

Shetlands, Scotch and Irish fleeces and heathers, in loose slip-ons, box coats and big, luxurious ulsters.

The prices—a pleasant surprise.

7 SALOON MEN HELD ON BRIBERY CHARGES

They Sought Illegal Permits to Withdraw Liquor, Dry-Agents Allege.

O'CONNOR TIGHTENS REINS

Big Reduction in Licensed Dealers and Physicians Prescribing Whisky Due on Jan. 1.

Seven liquor dealers were arrested yesterday afternoon, following indictments secretly returned by the Federal Grand Jury, charging them with attempting to give, or giving, bribes in various amounts to special agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau, who were sent here two or three months ago to make a quiet investigation of the liquor traffic. Other dealers have been indicted, it was said, and will be taken into custody as soon as they can be located.

Captain Frank Frayser, who, with Special Agent Hugh McQuillan, have charge of the investigation, said that a large number of holders of permits to sell liquor for non-beverage purposes have made tenders of money to agents working under his direction. These crooked liquor dealers, he said, were prepared to pay sums running into the thousands. This money, he said, was accepted and turned in for use as evidence in the prosecution.

Tight Rein on Permits.

Coincident with the arrests of the liquor dealers, came a statement from Federal Prohibition Director Charles R. O'Connor that the number of basic permits will be greatly reduced, effective Jan. 1. Tuesday was the last day for filing applications for renewal of permits. Of a total of 1,724 wholesalers now licensed to do business in this city only 889 have filed application for renewal; of the 4,390 manufacturers holding permits, 1,127 have filed application for renewal; of the 2,000 dealers, including druggists, now licensed to use and sell, only 1,339 have asked for this privilege next year. The biggest decrease is in the number of physicians who prescribe liquors. At present 4,051 physicians hold permits while only 550 have asked for renewals. Mr. O'Connor said that when he is through with his examination of the renewal applications the number, in all classes, will very likely be greatly reduced.

The "Shoo Fly" squad rounded up the liquor dealers charged with bribery. They arrested six in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn as follows:

Irving Wortman, 1,146 Second Avenue, charged with giving a bribe of $200 to Special Agent J L. Pearce.

Eugene Piantiri, 300 Broome Street, charged with giving a bribe of $50 to Agent Pearce.

Sigmund Glatzer, 232 West Twenty-seventh Street, held on a charge of giving a bribe of $300 to Agent Pearce.

Giuseppi Conti, 77 Chrystie Street, charged with giving a $50 bribe to the same agent.

Frank Sper, 70 Mott Street, charged with giving a bribe of $60 to Pearce to fix up a permit.

Mannie H. Kessler, 118 West 128th Street, charged with giving Pearce $500.

Frank Mannio, 446 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, charged with giving a bribe of $50 to Special Agents Pearce, Seib and Golding.

Arraigned before Judge John C. Knox, in the Federal court, the first-named six defendants were required to furnish bonds in the sum of $1,000 each. Mannio was taken before Federal Judge Garvin in Brooklyn and held under $10,000 bail.

Costello without bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of murder.

The dead men are Antony Gronitz, 120 Fourth Street, shot through the heart, and Andrew Barensky, 110 Fourth Street, shot through the temple.

Makowsky was shot through the neck.

DOUBLE DIVORCE GRANTED.

Two Homes Disrupted After Raid on House in Brooklyn.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 2.—For the first time in the history of Westchester County a double divorce decree was granted by Supreme Court Justice Seeger at White Plains today. This court action followed testimony showing that a raid had been made on an apartment in Melrose Street, Brooklyn, on Oct. 11 last, which brought about the martial disruption of two families.

The actions were tried jointly and were interlocked in the evidence submitted in court. Henry G. Weidner of Mount Vernon, employed in the Bush Terminal, sued his wife Wilhelmina for divorce, naming Joseph Schoenstein of Yonkers, a chemical engineer. Following the testimony in this case the witness testified in the suit for an absolute divorce brought by Mrs. Florence Schoenstein against Joseph, in which Mrs. Weidner was named. When Justice Seeger asked Weidner if he wanted the custody of his 10-year-old son, he said he would like to have his wife care for the boy if she took good care of him. Mrs. Schoenstein owned her own home in Yonkers. She was married to her husband on June 1, 1909. She joined in the raid on the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Melrose Street, Brooklyn, where she found her husband and Mrs. Weidner.

An Executor

The appointment of an executor is a very important duty.

Formerly, it was the practice to pick an executor from business or social friends. Now it is a trust company often with such an individual added.

Many estates have been properly administered by individual executors acting alone, but many others have been mismanaged often to the loss and dismay of the beneficiaries. The combination of a trust company and an individual avoids any such possibility.

The Title Guarantee & Trust Company as executor brings to the management of estates a knowledge and long experience possessed by very few individuals.

We have on our staff men expert in investments, accounting, law and real estate. They furnish the best of service and we keep the expenses down.

Our real estate and mortgage business especially qualifies us to manage your estate from a non-speculative investment standpoint.

TELLS OF RED DRIVE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Dr. Killilea Declares Revolutionists Are Making Organized Effort to Convert Pupils.

MANY ARE SOVIET WORKERS

National Effort Against Un-Americanism Planned by 25 Patriotic Organizations.

Efforts to cram the "false ideals" of Bolshevism, communism and Sovietism into the minds of school children in this city are being carried on to a degree almost unbelievable, according to Dr. Thomas R. Killilea, Municipal Civil Service Commissioner, who for months has been studying the effects of the propaganda as a member of a committee of allied patriotic societies.

Dr. Killilea is preparing a report on the propaganda in this city, which he will read at 4 o'clock this afternoon at a meeting of his committee in Fraunces Tavern, but he cited some of his facts yesterday in a speech before the National Society of Patriotic Women at their meeting in the Waldorf. Later he elaborated upon this speech when a TIMES reporter communicated with him at his home at 545 West 148th Street.

This propaganda was said by Dr. Killilea to be particularly active on the east side, in the Yorkville section, and in the Williamsburg and Greenpoint sections of Brooklyn. Clandestine societies have been organized to seek to mold the plastic minds of children in the hope that destructive ideals will be deeply implanted so that, when every effort of this generation has failed to cause any revolution in this country, another generation will be schooled to become active in the same cause.

Plan Fifth Avenue Seizures.

Two Yorkville societies, Dr. Killilea said, had gone to the point of hiring big buses to take school children up and down Fifth Avenue, pointing out mansions and churches coveted by these propagandists for public use under Soviet rule. He declared that every effort was made on these trips to fill the minds of the children with the thought that with the coming of a Communist or Soviet revolution these places would be aside for their pleasure and enjoyment, and that it was only necessary to join the movement for an overturn of the American Government to have joys never known by them before.

Dr. Killilea said that the formation of the committee of the allied patriotic societies so that Soviet propaganda in this city might be studied was the outgrowth of a meeting held by the Society of Tammany in Cooper Union on last Washington's Birthday, at which two of the speakers were Vice President Marshall and Governor Smith. The committee includes members from the Sons of the Revolution, Colonial Dames, Daughters of the Revolution, Society of the Cincinnati, Order of Foreign Wars and many other patriotic societies.

The study of the propaganda in this city is now virtually completed and reports on it will be read today at the regular monthly meeting of the committee. Reports on plans formulated to fight the propaganda and to spread the work of Americanization among children also are to be presented.

Boy orators on Bolshevism have been trained to take soap boxes on school grounds and there attempt to sway the minds of young hearers toward revolution instead of toward emulation of the historic figures in the annals of this country, according to Dr. Killilea, who declared that this method of propaganda had been found by the plotters to be marvelously effective.

In his speech in the Waldorf Dr. Killilea said that he knew of one school where at least 20 per cent. of the young pupils had been induced to become active workers for Soviet revolution and rule, but he added last night at his home that he knew several schools in this city where this percentage of defection from honest American ideals was approached. He said he had memoranda on the numbers and location of all these schools and intended to include them in his report. Some are in Yorkville and other sections of the east side and many more are in the two sections in Brooklyn, where the clandestine workers have made great headway.

"These plotters know that their best ground for work is in the young minds of school children," said Dr. Killilea, "just as we know the best ground for Americanization work is not among the hardened minds of adults but in the receptive and plastic minds of children. We must see that this un-American propaganda is combated among children and supplanted with knowledge of honest, strong, solid American ideals that had helped so to make this country great and a decent place to live."

Plan War on Un-Americanism.

A decision to call all patriotic organizations into combination to fight un-American propaganda and perpetuate American ideals was made yesterday by the representatives of twenty-five patriotic societies at a luncheon at the Downtown Club. One of the plans is to gather a national fund for the work, allocate it to the patriotic organizations taking part, and to hold a congress of patriotic societies in the national capital on Washington's Birthday.

The resolutions said that "an endeavor, which shall be nation-wide in scope, shall be made to effect the standardization and co-ordination of the work of all non-partisan patriotic organizations, so far as such work has to do generally with the upholding of the letter and the spirit of the Constitution and the other laws of the United States, and, specifically, with the work, through education and fellowship, of Americanizing and assimilating the foreign-born residents of the country and also, where necessary, the American-born."

The representatives at the meeting were Colonel F. W. Galbraith Jr., National Commander, and Colonel Lemuel Bolles, National Adjutant of the American Legion; James E. West of the Boy Scouts, Colonel S. G. Shartle and Captain John H. Burns of the Bureau of Education and Recreation of the War Department, William De Forest Manice of the American Constitutional League, Mrs. George Maynard Minor, President General of the D. A. R., and Mary C. Clendenin of the Girl Scouts; John Foster Carr of the Immigration Publication Society, Harry L. Gluckman of the Jewish Welfare Board, N. Phillips of the League of Foreign Born Citizens, Charles Ray Dean of the National Association for Constitutional Government, Dr. Conde S. Pallon, Chairman of the Department on Study of Revolutionary Movements of the National Civic Federation; Charles D. Orth, President of the National Security League; William Gettinger of the International Association of Rotary Clubs; Mrs. Henry A. Wise Wood of the Women's Roosevelt Memorial Association, Frank Ritchie of the Y. M. C. A. and Samuel Goldsmith, General Secretary of the Y. M. H. A.

Constance McGlinchee Makes Debut.

Constance McGlinchee, a pianist from Boston, where she studied with the late Carlo Buonamici, and is said to have appeared in Georges Longy's concerts of chamber music, made her New York début in recital yesterday at Aeolian Hall. She is technically proficient, not without nervous slips, as if less accustomed to solo playing; she has taste also, though a certain hardness of style was perhaps heightened by her choice of Franck's prelude, chorale and fugue, and Schumann's symphonic studies. There were lighter pieces in conclusion by Debussy, Jongen and Schloezer.

The list of patronesses of the evening is headed by Mrs. Charles E. Hughes, Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, and Mrs. John T. Pratt, and includes Mrs. Richard Billings, Mrs. Roswell Miller, Mrs. Herbert Shonk, Mrs. Leonard Kebler, Mrs. Sidney Borg, and others.

THE OPERA

By Richard Aldrich

Faust.

Sometimes in recent years it has taken longer than three weeks to reach "Faust" in the regulation of the season's repertory; but "Faust" is in greater favor now and it was given last evening, being the middle of the third week. Giuseppi Danise, the new baritone of the company, was to have sung the rôle of Valentin, but owing to his sudden indisposition the part was creditably taken by Mr. Laurenti. Otherwise the faces and figures under the familiar disguises were all familiar ones.

Mme. Farrar was the Marguerite whose impersonation has all its old attractiveness, and she was, as she has been so far this season, in good voice.

Mr. Martinelli's Faust is also familiar and has abundant vocal power, without the eagerness to use it at all times that he has sometimes shown, and a handsome appearance. Mr. Whitehall's Mephistopheles, like everything else he does, is the work of an artist, intelligent, vigorous and finished, and presented with one of the finest voices now to be heard on the operatic stage. Unfortunately he was not in his best voice at all times last evening. It is a time for colds, coryzas, congestions.

Mme. Delaunois's Siebel is an excellent, a thoroughly competent one. Mr. Wolff conducted and did what in him lay to infuse life and spirit into a performance that had some strikingly good passages, though it sometimes seemed somewhat weighted under adversity.

WILL ACT FOUR PRIZE PLAYS

League of American Pen Women to Give Matinee at the Morosco.

Four one-act plays, prize winners in a recent contest conducted by the League of American Pen Women, will be acted at the Morosco Theatre on Friday afternoon of next week under the auspices of the local branch of the league. On the program will be "P's and Q's," by Annie Nathan Meyer; "The Door of Miracles," by Ruth Murray Underhill; "Euphemista," by Elizabeth Alaiga, and "White Tulips," by Faith Van Valkenburgh Vilas.

The plays are being produced by Grace Griswold and Jessie Bonstelle, and will be acted by professional casts. Among the players will be Mrs. Whiffen, Geoffrey Kerr, Leslie Howard, Georges Renavent, Merle Maddern, Joan McLane, James Kemper and William E. Hallman. The receipts will be devoted to the general fund of the league.

RUSSIAN RELIEF IDEA UNDER U. S. SCRUTINY

State Department Investigates Offer to Send Money to Pogrom Sufferers.

Advertisements sponsored by an organization known as the Jewish Public Committee, which has offices at 47 West Forty-second Street, calling attention to an arrangement alleged to have been perfected whereby money could be transmitted to Russian war and pogrom sufferers at the rate of 250 rubles for each American dollar are under investigation by the State Department at Washington. The Soviet ruble is practically valueless in the commercial world.

A TIMES reporter visited the offices of the committee, where Dr. D. H. Dubrowsky, who calls himself "representative of the All-Russian Jewish Public Committee," explained the method of transmitting money and the work of the organization, which he asserted had no political connections with the Soviet Government, though working under it. The committee here occupies three spacious rooms, which were crowded with men and women who were turning over their money to the dozen or more clerks on duty.

Dr. Dubrowsky, who is well known at the offices of the Soviet Bureau, 110 West Fortieth Street, said the committee came into being in Moscow as a result of the continued and widespread suffering among the peoples of the Ukraine. The committee in Russia was made up of men from all walks of life and political beliefs. Although first organized by the Jews, its scope had been enlarged to include all races and creeds, he said.

As outlined by Dr. Dubrowsky, the methods of sending money are as follows: A relative or friends of a sufferer here deposits a sum with the North American, or other designated banking institutions. The name of the person for whom it is intended is then cabled to the committee in Moscow. When the person is found the equivalent in rubles is paid to him or her and the remitter in the United States is notified. No money leaves the United States. When Dr. Dubrowsky was asked why not, he replied:

"The committee in Moscow has plenty of rubles." Continuing, he said: "Not a dollar of the money we receive here is used for political purposes. It will be used to purchase needed supplies which we will forward to Russia."

"When roubles at the present time are worth so little, how do you fix the rate of exchange at 250 rubles for a dollar?" he was asked.

"That is the rate fixed by the Soviet Government."

Dr. Dubrowsky said that the committee was sending large quantities of clothing, food and medical supplies. The committee makes up food parcels, costing $18.50, which will be sent to a designated person upon receipt of a check or money order for the amount, he said.

That the committee has struck a snag in its plan to transmit money to Russia was indicated when officials of the North American Bank at Canal and Orchard Streets were interviewed on the project. Walter T. Kohn, counsel for the bank, refused to make any statement, adding that the question had been taken up with the Federal Reserve Bank in Washington. A dispatch from the capital stated that an application had been made to the board for a ruling, and that the officials had passed the question on to the State Department for investigation. Van S. Merle-Smith, Third Assistant Secretary of State, who has been assigned to the investigation, declined to comment until today.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Henry W. Savage's production of "Lady Billy," a musical comedy with Mitzi as its star, will come to the Liberty Theatre on Monday night, Dec. 13. The piece has been on tour for several months.

The next attraction at the Winter Garden, opening in January, will be "The Passing Show of 1920." Willie and Eugene Howard will head the cast.

The Society of American Dramatists and Composers, of which George M. Cohan is the President, will give a dinner to James Forbes next Sunday night at the society's rooms at 148 West Forty-fifth Street.

Blanche Ring and Charles Winninger have been engaged for "The Century Midnight Whirl," which John Henry Mears is sending on tour. Richard Carle will also be in the cast.

Two plays by Rabindranath Tagore, "The Post Office" and "Sacrifice," will be presented at the Garrick Theatre by Kedarnath Das Gupta of Calcutta for four special matinees, beginning Dec. 10. The subsequent performances at the Garrick will be given Dec. 13, 14, and 15, and a performance will be given at the Neighborhood Playhouse on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12. The plays will be acted in English.

FEDERAL COUNCIL ELECTS DR. SPEER

400 Delegates of Churches of Christ in America Meet in Boston.

PRESIDENT SENDS GREETING

Messages From the Churches of Other Lands Delivered by Foreign Representatives.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—Dr. Robert E. Speer of Englewood, N. J., was this evening elected President of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. He is the council's fifth President, and his term is for four years. The organization includes thirty denominations, with a total membership of more than 20,000,000.

The quadrennial meeting of the 400 delegates to the council opened this afternoon and will continue until Monday evening. Next Monday the speaker at a men's banquet will be Governor Coolidge, Vice-President-elect.

Last May, in Philadelphia, Dr. Speer unsuccessfully opposed the motion in the Presbyterian General Assembly to sever relations with the Interchurch World Movement. One of the proposals to be voted on here is that the Federal Council shall absorb what is left of the Interchurch Movement, not, however, assuming any of its indebtedness.

Dr. Speer succeeds the Rev. Dr. Frank Mason North of Madison, N. J., who is a Secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions.

President Wilson sent this letter of greeting to the Council, addressing it to the Rev. Dr. Charles S. MacFarland of New York City, General Secretary of the Council:

> My Dear Dr. MacFarland:
>
> I wish most unaffectedly that there was some likelihood of my being able to attend the quadrennial meeting of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, which is being planned to be held in Ford Hall, Boston, in December, and I am sure you will understand that it will not be possible. I hope that you will convey to the meeting in my name the most cordial greeting and an expression of the most confident hope that the work of the Council will result in the best things for the churches, for the nation and for the world.
>
> Cordially and sincerely yours,
> WOODROW WILSON.

The popular meeting this evening was in the Old South Meeting House, and an address of welcome was delivered by Governor-elect Cox. Dr. North made his farewell address and Dr. Speer was inducted into office, responding to Dr. North's felicitations.

The Rev. Dr. Rivington D. Lord of Brooklyn was re-elected Recording Secretary, and Alfred R. Kimbal of New York City was re-elected Treasurer.

Messages from the churches of other lands were read, including Great Britain, France, Holland, Italy, Mexico, Switzerland, Belgium, Japan, China and the Canal Zone. The foreign delegates were presented by the Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Churches. As General Robert Georges Nivelle of the French Army will speak Friday evening, no delegate from that country was heard today. But Dr. Boynton read a letter from J. Bruner, President of the Federation of French Protestant Churches, and a member of the Legion of Honor. "You are debtor to France because France has suffered the most," he wrote. "She gave two million of her sons to the war."

FOR HAMPTON INSTITUTE.

Mrs. Margaret Deland Speaks to Society Audience in A. C. James Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James opened their house at 39 East Sixty-ninth Street last evening for a meeting in connection with the New York Hampton Association, which was largely attended by society men and women interested in the work of the Hampton Institute. The Hampton Quartet gave a musical program and Mrs. Margaret Deland spoke.

"This country today is surrounded by industrial unrest at home, by unsettled Europe, and, most of all, by the consequences of what our predecessors did to millions of the black population," said Mrs. Deland.

"We look out and see these consequences; we see these colored people needing education, the ideal of citizenship, needing industrial opportunity, and requiring mental and moral enlightenment. It scares us, of course, but it would scare us more if Hampton Institute and a whole battalion of schools for colored people did not stand beteween us and the guns of consequences."

In speaking of her enthusiasm for those institutions and schools which are working toward bringing the negro to a point of economic self-sufficiency and loyal American citizenship, Mrs. Deland said:

"I have had ten months of most uncomfortable reflection upon what has been called the negro problem; ten months of knowing that I did not know anything about its divine solution by Hampton's method, or the possibility of another solution, far from divine, being tried out in Russia today. I have had months of realization that the black people will ultimately endeavor to solve the problem by one method or another, to solve it by either orderly intelligence or disorderly ignorance."

THE SWOLLEN STATE BUDGET.

Senator Sage, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, predicted last Spring a State budget next year of $200,000,000 and the doubling of the State income tax. The departments have asked for $221,000,000 for the year 1921 to 1922. The most favorable estimate of the State revenues puts them at $125,000,000. Judge Miller promptly declared his determination not to allow the expenses for the next year to exceed, or much exceed, those of 1920, the modest sum of $140,000,000. Senator Sage reminds us very properly that the individual and corporation income tax will have to be more than doubled unless the appropriation bills are slashed mercilessly. Under the salutary but severe processes of deflation the State income from these sources will necessarily decrease. There has never been greater reason for State economy. It would not be a real saving but a rank injustice, however, to unload on the overtaxed cities some of the burdens that successive Legislatures have imposed upon the State at large. That is an ancient and a favorite up-State process and simulation of economy.

Judge Miller shows a gratifying resolution to make all possible reductions. For partisan, if for no higher, reasons the Republicans in the Legislature should give him every assistance in their power, instead of hampering and defeating his efforts as they did those of Governor Smith. The heads of the departments seem eager to make the situation worse instead of better. The faithful Republican officeholders read nothing in the election returns but a mandate to increase their salaries. Now the people of New York are sick and tired of ever fatter appropriations and higher taxes. Judge Miller reads their sentiment aright. He is resolved to "cut" appropriations "to the bone." That is the way to serve best his party and the State. Abolition and consolidation of departments, the beginnings of that reconstruction and consolidation of the State Government which the Republicans prevented, are now inevitable so far as they can be carried out without the passage of constitutional amendments.

What the Excise Department exists for, save to pay the salaries of deserving Republicans, nobody knows. That should be and is to be abolished. Consolidation of the Department of Highways, the creation of the Legislature, with the Department of Public Works can be effected by statute. Both should be under a State Engineer, appointed by and responsible to the Governor, instead of elected by the people and responsible to nobody, as at present. All the various engineering staffs should be under one head. The constitutional amendment providing for the appointment of the State Engineer by the Governor has yet to be passed by the next Legislature and to be submitted to the people. When the Republicans come into power, it is to be hoped that they will reörganize the State Government and insure co-ordinated, efficient and responsible financial and administrative control. Meanwhile, Governor Miller can undoubtedly improve the effectiveness and reduce the cost of government to a considerable extent. It has got to be done.

In voting for a bond issue of $45,000,000 for soldiers' bonuses, the majority were influenced, presumably, by a commendable sense of gratitude and patriotism. They forgot the cost. They forgot in this general gift the needs of the disabled. That charge is unavoidable. It is by resisting superfluous and avoidable charges that Governor Miller should be able to effect economy. To seek to add $80,000,000 to the bills of this long-suffering and tax-bedeviled State is a monstrous impudence. Cynics pretend that the heads of departments have intentionally made their estimates large, so that Governor Miller may have the credit of reducing them. The cynics don't know the ways of Albany statesmanship. The more the brethren get, the more they want.

Difficult and lean times lie ahead of us. To take a cent more than is palpably and invincibly necessary from the thinning pocketbook of the taxpayer is an oppression and a shame. When he becomes Governor, Judge Miller will have the good wishes and support of everybody in the State, except a few thousand political henchmen and hangers-on, in his attempt to cut expenses and lower taxation.

AMENDING THE COVENANT.

The statement that changes in the Covenant require the unanimous vote of the Council and a majority vote of the Assembly has frequently been made on this side of the Atlantic, even by those who were in close touch with our representatives at Versailles, and it now appears to be the current view at Geneva.

According to Article XXVI., the final authority lies not with the representatives of the member nations in Council and Assembly, but with the member nations themselves.

> Amendments to this Covenant will take effect when ratified by the members of the League whose representatives compose the Council and by a majority of the members of the League whose representatives compose the Assembly.

The process is analogous to that by which the Constitution of the United States is amended—that document, as we know, having been closely studied by the authors of the Versailles Covenant. Congress cannot amend the Constitution. The most it can do is to frame an amendment which, to become "valid," has to be "ratified by "the Legislatures of three-fourths of "the several States." Similarly the Council and the Assembly of the League of Nations can only frame an amendment. In order to "take effect," the amendment has to be ratified by all the nations that have representatives in the Council and by a majority of the nations that have representatives in the Assembly.

The distinction is of no slight importance. In our own case, for example, if we enter the League, the ratification of an amendment would rest, as the ratification of the Covenant as a whole rests, with the treaty-making power, the President and the Senate. In the light of recent experience, no one will question that this insures a sufficiency of public enlightenment—or at least of public discussion. As between the two interpretations of Article XXVI., that which is verbally precise is far the more creditable to the wisdom of the framers of the Covenant. At the same time it must be admitted that it redoubles the obstacles to amendment. Every change, however slight or momentous, has to be approved by at least twenty-one nations.

Several questions suggest themselves. The conclusion of Article XXVI. reads:

> No such amendment shall bind any member of the League which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a member of the League.

Any drastic process of amendment would, in all likelihood, take months and years to accomplish, and then leave several casualties by the wayside.

RAILWAY WORKERS AND THE PUBLIC.

The chief operating official of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Vice President Atterbury, makes a formal statement to the public through the National Industrial Conference on the day after the "ultra conservative" leaders of the sixteen brotherhoods gave their warning to the United States Railway Labor Board. Grand Chief Stone says that he is tired of making excuses to the railway men for the fact that the board's decision of last July, raising wages by $600,000,000, affecting 358 railroads, has been followed by an agreement between only four companies and their men. Accordingly the officials of the sixteen brotherhoods will no longer seek to restrain their less conservative followers unless more progress is made in the establishment of national boards of adjustment of controversies. It requires no feat of imagination to translate such words from those with the power and disposition to turn words into deeds. The unions which once deserved the name conservative established their position of preference over all other workers by action prejudicial to the public interest so clearly that even Mr. Gompers was able to perceive the rebuke in the elections. The leading article in The Federationist just issued is entitled "Reaction in the Saddle." To Mr. Gompers as to the sixteen brotherhoods the election signifies an attack on the unions and the establishment of the open shop.

Mr. Atterbury does not see it in that way. Speaking as one of the largest employers of labor, the largest employer of the class of labor most immediately concerned, he favors the largest liberty for labor and unions that is compatible with the operation of the railways in safety and freedom from interruption by strikes. He does not think it compatible with public interest that the Pennsylvania Railroad should be compelled to stop its service because of any grievance of any sort of labor in other employment, and therefore the Pennsylvania company discountenances membership in unions which favor sympathetic or general strikes. But that is just what the sixteen "conservative" brotherhoods seek through the establishment of national labor boards. They never were heard of before the war, and were established by the Federal administration of the railways. Now the brotherhoods seek to confirm their jurisdiction in peace, and that is only the first step toward making all industrial agreements national instead of local. That is the goal of the One Big Union movement, which prides itself upon not being conservative. The country has had fair warning from both parties to the question pending between the railways and their men, and it is not premature to ask the great majority of the community to make up its mind on the merits.

It chances that a third authoritative expression on the subject is made concurrently with the first two. Federal Judge Anderson was a former Interstate Commerce Commissioner, and his opinion is more detached than that of the brotherhoods, and as calm as that of Vice President Atterbury. Addressing the Joint New England Commission, Judge Anderson declared that the standardization of railway duty and pay on a national basis is "utterly unsound and unjust * * *"

> As a friend of the wage earners I venture to suggest that they should co-operate with the railroad managers in eliminating the gross discriminations which now exist among wage earners, accruing from the utter disregard of the purchasing power of money in different sections and from the vital differences in the time and labor requirements of the jobs bearing the same name.

That is nearer to the position of Vice President Atterbury than to that of the sixteen brotherhoods. Also, it is convincing to that portion of the public which thinks with Vice President-elect Coolidge that "there is no "right to strike against the public "safety by anybody, anywhere, any "time." Those who dissent have the alternative of the Plumb plan, as a first step toward the shop closed to all workers who are not unionists.

AUSTRIA TO JOIN THE LEAGUE.

The unanimous vote of the commission to admit Austria to the League of Nations portends prompt and favorable action by the Assembly, in which a two-thirds vote is required. Under the provisions of Article I. of the Covenant a State applying for membership must "give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations" and "accept "such regulations as may be prescribed by the League in regard to "its military, naval and air forces "and armament." By her compliance with the terms of the Treaty, by her good behavior since the end of the war as well as by her terrible losses and sufferings, Austria comes to the door of the League with better credentials and assurances of welcome than would be the case with any other of the late enemy countries. Germany has not shown a spirit of repentance and she has seemed to be concerned rather with plans to evade than to comply with the requirements of the Treaty. Turkey is still a plague spot, as dangerous to the peace of Europe as she ever has been during her troubled and troubling career. Bulgaria is coming to the point of qualification, but the commission still has its doubts.

On grounds of policy and humanity it is well that Austria should be admitted. She is but the shadow of her former self, and of her old arrogance and ambitions not even the shadow remains. She has been shorn of much territory, parceled out in the retrocessions to Italy and to form the new States of Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia. She is impoverished, her people are suffering for the bare necessaries of life. She needs all the help and support that a renewal of her good relations with other countries can bring. Politically the move is a good one, for it will put a stop to talk of her union with Germany.

TRYING TO HELP ARMENIA.

Senator Borah admits that the President is quite within his rights in acceding to the request of the League of Nations that he offer mediation in behalf of Armenia. The election being over, we are spared agonized cries about Mr. Wilson's "usurpations." His letter agreeing to act is, in fact, discreetly written. He disavows any authority to send troops. Not even money does he promise, not knowing whether Congress will vote it. But if through any personal representative, whom he is empowered to name, he is able in co-operation with the League to put the good offices of the United States usefully at the service of the imperiled Armenians, he feels it his duty to attempt it. There is no question of any motive but that of humanity.

The step is perfectly in line with established and approved American policy. If such an offer had come to Mr. Roosevelt, when President, he would doubtless have accepted it instantly, and his action would have been acclaimed. If, in addition, it had been suggested then, as it is now, that General Wood should be asked to take charge of the work of safeguarding and restoring Armenia, the Republicans would have been throwing up their hats over the signal honor done this country. Now they are afraid to attack it and ashamed to applaud it. During the Presidential campaign, the wild exaggerations and misrepresentations that were so common seemed to sweep the country away from its old attitude toward such questions as the Armenian. But it will gradually swing back.

How much may be accomplished by American mediation, it would be rash to predict. The chief significance of the President's act lies in the spirit. This is the old one of American goodwill and unselfishness. And it is clearly in this sense that Lord Robert Cecil at Geneva hails what Mr. Wilson has done as a "big step toward "a solution of one of the most serious "problems." It is also a step away from the mean and narrow indifference to European and Asiatic troubles which the Republican campaign orators insincerely preached.

A CALL FOR CROWDER.

It is surprising to learn from Washington that the result of the Cuban elections is not officially determined "owing to the non-receipt of returns "from many precincts and to charges "and counter-charges of fraud and "intimidation." It is even intimated that "enough votes are missing to "furnish the possibility of throwing "the victory" to General Gomez, the Liberal candidate. The proposal is made to send Major Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, Judge Advocate General of the Army, to save the situation; that is to say, to prevent a demonstration by the suspicious partisans of Gomez. The suggestion that General Crowder might untangle a complicated financial condition seems superfluous, because, in the Washington dispatch, this is indicated as work for Albert Rathbone, a former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, to do. General Crowder has been Cuba's code-maker, and he is not generally regarded as a financier.

Although there is no reason to believe that Dr. Alfredo Zayas's election on the face of the returns will be converted into a defeat when all the official returns are accounted for, there seems to be no doubt that the Cubans found the Crowder law too much for their capacity as poll clerks and judges. Their experience in holding a real election was nil. What was precise and clear to the framer of the law may have been obscure and baffling to them. Perhaps, then, it is very necessary for General Crowder to cross over to Havana and prove to the smarting Liberals that their candidate was not counted out. He has angrily declared that he was.

A NEW WAR.

Will wars never cease? After the great war came the baseball war. Scarcely is that settled before another internecine conflict breaks out in golf. The Western Golf Association has long been seeking a casus belli against the United States Golf Association, and now openly declares war. Not long ago the grievance was the stymie, which the Western Association boldly abolished. But the rule has been changed by St. Andrews itself, so that this source of hostility is eliminated. Then there was the quarrel about the status of the amateur. When the United States Golf Association decided that Mr. Ouimet had become a professional through selling golf supplies the Westerners did not recognize the decision. He could play as an amateur at Exmoor, while at Garden City he was rated a professional. But his amateur standing has since been restored, so that the war is not over that dispute.

The present complaint of the Western golfers is that the United States Golf Association is too exclusive, too autocratic, too monopolistic. Consequently the free spirits of the Western links are attacking with serried niblicks, proposing to smite the older organization hip and thigh and utterly destroy it. The fight threatens to be sanguinary. A hail of balls will rain upon the devoted heads of the Easterners if they venture out of their front bunkers, while deadly golf stories will be exploded all over the battlefield. And now there is no nineteenth hole at which the combatants can meet to negotiate a peace. Hence the fear of a long and bloody war.

A MAN'S COLLEGE.

The campaign of the extreme faction of feminists against the once dominant sex has provoked reprisals at last; the first volunteers for the Black and Tans of retaliatory masculinity are certain seniors at Cornell. Coeducation, according to these gentlemen, is a failure. They do not say that coeducation at Cornell is, in their opinion, a failure; they say that coeducation is a failure. Evidence obtained elsewhere than at Cornell is not pertinent, and doubtless untrustworthy. Coeducation "has no defense; any attempt to defend it "degenerates into an apology." It is accidental and cheap.

Of course, these gentlemen do not want to be understood as opposed to women. They will give the women what is good for them whether they want it or not, just as the advocates of Blue Sunday are going to make the people take their medicine whether they like it or not. Coeducation is not a matter of women's rights, "as "some small minds are inclined to "imply"; it really belongs to women's wrongs, "or, more clearly, wrongs to women." It cannot be abolished at Cornell immediately, they admit; but let the women be limited in numbers and kept in their place.

But why this excitement? It appears that women are on the staffs of most of the publications, that they lead football rallies and sing Cornell songs on New York ferryboats; but "the real danger is not with us yet." One might suppose that when women sing Cornell songs on New York ferryboats the great heart of the world had been broken and the glaciers might as well roll back over the ruins of civilization, but the worst is yet to come. Say the potent, grave and reverend seniors, as the college annual no doubt describes them:

> Cornell is and always has been essentially a "he-man's" college. It is in many respects the most virile institution in the country. But if the women come, how will they help Jack Moakley or John Hoyle or Gil Dobie? There are promising athletes now going to Cornell, and when our athletic prowess declines where are any of the red-blooded American youngsters, athletes or no, going?

There you have it. Unless the formidable trio mentioned, who are the coaches of Cornell teams, can carry on their work without the hampering feminine influence, Cornell will win no victories and attract no students, or at any rate no virile students. This argument that an athletic reputation is needed to attract students is more or less familiar among what a Cornell man would doubtless call "jerkwater colleges," but it is somewhat surprising to hear it from an institution of such eminence. Harvard, one seems to remember, attracted its share of able men even before Percy Haughton began to beat Yale; and if enrolment depended on football victories Cornell would hardly have been thickly populated in the last few years.

However, it may be that able students are not he-men. Hurrah for the virile! Down with the feminine! Let us get rid of these intrusive coeds, who sing college songs on ferryboats and have the habit of taking much more than their fair share of the prizes.

JAPAN'S ARMY AND NAVY ESTIMATES.

A military Power with limited resources, Japan will probably spend less upon her army and navy in the fiscal year 1921-22 than the estimates of her budget, which are given in a dispatch from Tokio. The totals are 498,000,000 yen (about $249,000,000) for the navy and 245,000,000 yen (about $122,500,000) for the army, or $371,500,000 in all. On Oct. 25 estimates for the maintenance of the United States Army and Navy for the fiscal year 1921-22 were published in a Washington dispatch, as follows:

> The navy estimates are about $650,000,000, the army figure runs up to $814,000,000, or nearly as much as it used to cost to run the entire Government in the pre-war period.

The American estimates are approximately four times those of the Japanese budget. Labor is much cheaper in Japan, and many materials entering into construction and equipment cost less there. On the other hand, steel for the navy, most of which must be imported, is higher in that country. But compared with the United States Japan is economical in fitting out her soldiers and sailors. The American Army and Navy are the most expensive in the world; nothing is too good for the soldier and sailor, and thrift in equipping them is the last thing thought of; uniforms and everything worn are of the best material, and the cost of making it up is high; the appropriations for quarters and recreations are liberal. The Japanese get as much for their yen as we do for our dollar. All this being said, Japan's proposed outlay upon her military forces is moderate compared with ours. It must be evident that Japan is not trying to steal a march upon the United States by preparedness for war on a large scale. Furthermore, her resources being meagre compared with ours, she is incapable of building up a vast military establishment. The opposition in the Japanese Parliament will doubtless insist upon a pruning of the army and navy budget, and there are signs that the American estimates will not be translated literally into appropriations.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Colleges and the Police.

"Why should I tell you about police matters?" was the response of Acting Police Commissioner Lahey when questioned by a reporter as to what he purposed to do about criminals who might come here because driven out of other cities.

The answer made to the question is interesting, and even important, as showing the attitude toward the public of an official supposed to have in the department as much power as its head, though of course much less responsibility. But though the Acting Commissioner seems to think "police matters" are not the public's business, Commissioner Enright evidently is of a different opinion, at least sometimes and in regard to some of those matters, for in an article that appears with his signature in the congenial pages of The Detective Story Magazine he reveals the very low estimate placed by him on education—for policemen.

There are among the members of his force, the Commissioner says, not a few men graduated from not a few colleges—he mentions Columbia, Fordham, Manhattan, New York University and the College of the City of New York—and he has not observed that they are in any way superior, either as patrolmen, detectives or subordinate commanders, to the men whose schooling has been brief. He even inclines to the belief that the few collegians who have risen to high posts in the department have done so in spite of, rather than because of, what he calls "their book learning."

All this has a familiar sound—to those of us whose memories go back to twenty or thirty years ago. Then similar statements came from many of the Great Ones of commerce and industry. But practically, all of them ceased to talk that way some time ago. That Commissioner Enright still does it "dates" him, as the French put it, and is a fact that may have some relevance to the present state of police efficiency in New York City.

Arguing From the Specific to the General.

New York has had several heads of her Police Department who were college men and several who were not. The names of Walling and Woods are the first that come to mind as being in the former category, while Devery shines as representative of the second group. Like a good many other critics of higher education, Commissioner Enright has the naïve delusion that all college graduates are to be judged by any one graduate—that if anybody comes out of college with little of practical value to show for the time spent there, then all college graduates are in like case and objects of scorn, especially to men who have risen to wealth or eminence with little or no schooling behind them. If the Commissioner's observations with respect to policemen with degrees are accurate, it suggests that perhaps the fine flower of college-bred youth do not seek, as a rule, employment on the police force, while the graduates who do enter upon that career, again as a rule, may be those on whom the colleges did score—well, considerably less than 99 in a possible 100.

For the rank and file of the Police Department New York has, as it always has had, both respect and affection. It does not expect them to be college graduates, but it knows that they are brave, intelligent, and, in the great majority of cases, kind and helpful to the ununiformed world. It does not ascribe to the rank and file the present obvious weakness of the force in the prevention of crime and the capture of criminals. For that it puts the responsibility far above either the patrolmen or the detectives.

Might Make Like Tests Over Here.

It is pleasing, and perhaps at least a little reassuring, to learn from a Berlin dispatch that there has arisen in that city a feeling that politeness is an asset of practical value, and that a little more of it would be particularly useful in Germany at just this time. So one of the Berlin papers has started a series of "courtesy tests." It sends out reporters to find out how they are treated in shops and elsewhere when they do things that put something of a strain on good humor, and when the strains are well borne money prizes or rewards are bestowed immediately.

Whether or not these tests are applied to petty German officials the dispatch does not state, but, unless times have much changed and men with them, nowhere would it be harder—or more desirable—to incite politeness in just that circle of the German social structure.

And one notices, not exactly with satisfaction, that the reporters who make the tests pretend to be Americans, on the theory that people who can be polite to Americans certainly are polite to everybody else and are thoroughly deserving of prizes. Why is that so? Are Americans nowadays more disliked or hated in Germany than anybody else, or are their own manners so bad that not to snap and snarl at them is so very difficult? Formerly it was the British tourist who gave offense all over Europe, according to all the novels, at any rate, and one would not like to believe that the traveling American has taken the Briton's place as an object for Continental criticism.

His Victims Much Like Himself.

Why anybody should have sympathy for the man Ponzi it would be hard to explain and still harder to justify, and yet the news that he is to go to jail for five long years does inspire at least a few thoughts other than "Good enough for him!"

Swindler he was, no doubt, and a stupid swindler, too, as well as an egregious falsifier and a wholesale betrayer of simple confidences. But, just the same, there was something picturesque, something suggestive of the gallant, about him, and it is almost possible, though not quite, to believe that he was as credulous as his victims and deceived himself as much as he did them.

Perhaps the disinclination for being harsh in characterizing Ponzi is due to lack of any sympathy for those whom he robbed. They were all just as stupid as he, and not apparently more honest, for all of them either knew, or should have known, that if they got their promised profits it would be by a trick and at somebody's expense. They showed only greed—the eagerness to get much for nothing—and they had not one of Ponzi's redeeming graces.

Christmas Use for Silent Violins.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On Saturday night last the Music School of the East Side House, 540 East Seventy-sixth Street, was broken into and six violins belonging to the children were stolen. This is a greater deprivation to those youngsters than most people can imagine, and I am begging, through the columns of your paper, to have these instruments replaced. There must be so many silent violins in New York, tucked away, and it surely would make their owners happy to feel that by giving them to the Music School they would be making the most wonderful of Christmas gifts to these children, whose lives are made happier through the serious study of beautiful music. One such gift has already been received. Please address

DAVID MANNERS, Director,
Music School of the East Side House, 540 East Seventy-sixth Street, New York.
New York, Nov. 30, 1920.

THE VANE.

Dear Diana of the Garden,
With the dawn upon your face,
Poising tiptoe on the tower
With inimitable grace,
Are you stalking richer quarry
Through the starry fields of space?

Are you aiming at the planets
Which our blind eyes may not see
Until Night unfolds her curtain
Broidered deep with mystery?
Saturn, Mercury, Uranus,
Do you hope to bag all three?

Comrade of the winds of cloudland,
Are you conscious of your power
Over poor Endymion lying
Prisoner in a neighboring tower?
Do you hear his love, his longing,
Every quarter of an hour?

What are years to you, Diana?
Lightly come and lightly go;
Sometimes crowning you with radiance,
Sometimes pelting you with snow—
What to you are all the people
Passing in the Square below?

Do they catch your sudden vision
Through the dust of selfish wars?
Daily for more gold they battle,
Scant the laurel, deep the scars—
Dear Diana of the Garden,
Keep on aiming at the stars!

CONFER ON WORK OF HOUSE.

Leaders Discuss Reorganization of the Appropriations Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Republican leaders in the House are preparing to complete the reorganization of the Committee on Appropriations in conformity with the resolution, adopted at the last session, increasing its membership to thirty-five and placing all appropriation measures in its hands. The fourteen additional members will be selected by the Committee on Committees, called to meet Friday.

Representative Mondell, the majority floor leader; Representative Mann, Chairman of the Committee on Committees; Representative Madden, a member of the Steering Committee, and Representative Butler, Chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, conferred today on the matter.

Later Mr. Mondell said that in his opinion the house would probably not have consolidated appropriations under one committee had it known the President was going to veto the executive budget measure. He thought it would take longer to act on the appropriation measures through one committee than under the old system, but he said he favored carrying out the intent of the House resolution.

OBJECTS TO PALMER PLAN.

Edward Morris Says Stock Yards Scheme Goes Beyond Decree.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Proposals by the Department of Justice for the sale through court trustees of the Stock Yard property of Chicago packers "go far beyond" the terms of the consent decree which these concerns accepted, according to a statement given out here tonight by Edward Morris, President of Morris & Co.

"It has not been my privilege to see the new plan suggested by the Attorney General for the disposition of packers' stockyards and terminals," Mr. Morris said. "But according to press dispatches it is planned to go far beyond the decree itself—in fact, with a new deal altogether if the dispatches are correct. We want to dispose of this matter in good faith, according to the decree, and we stand by our plan as meeting every requirement of the decree. We sincerely hope that this situation will not be muddled by something being injected that is radically outside of, and contrary to, the decree itself."

FORD GETS CHOICE POSTS.

Justice Who Criticised Appellate Court Assigned to Parts 1 and 2.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, whose assignments of justices were criticized by Justice John Ford in a letter to Governor-elect Miller on Sunday last, on the ground that the Appellate Division discriminated against him because he was not assigned to Parts 1, 2, or 3 of the Special Term the present year, yesterday made known their assignments for next year. So far as could be learned the new assignments had been made before Justice Ford issued his criticism.

Justice Ford has been assigned to one-half month and one week in Part 1, and a half month and one week in Part 2, which are the most desirable assignments. Justice Giegerich, whose many appointments to these parts aroused the objection of Justice Ford, does not sit in either part, but has a month in Part 3. He will also sit two months in the Bronx.

After learning of the new assignments Justice Ford said he had no comment to make at this time.

GOVERNORS DEMAND HELP FOR FARMERS

Conference Appoints Committee Which Will Go to Congress for Relief.

WILL BACK LEGISLATION

Annual Meeting Takes an Unprecedented Step, Following Complaints From State Executives.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 1.—Governors and Governors-elect, representing more than half the States of the Union, voted during their annual conference here today to begin an inquiry into what was variously called the "acute," "alarming" and "tragic" situation facing farmers of the country, with a view to recommending Federal legislation to assist them.

As a first step toward carrying out their plan, which was suggested by Governor W. L. Harding of Iowa, the conference appointed a committee, consisting of Governors Harding, Bickett of North Carolina, Holcomb of Connecticut, Parker of Louisiana and Goodrich of Indiana, to make a preliminary survey and report back before the conclusion of the Governors' conference. After that it is contemplated to send the committee to Washington to urge legislation before Congress, which convenes this month.

The object of the State Executives, which is said to be without parallel in the history of American Government, is for the organization of Governors to suggest to Congress and actively advocate passage of legislation necessary to refund the debts of farmers who are pinched by falling markets with heavy stocks of surplus products on hand, so as to give them a year or more in which to recoup losses and wait for a strengthening market. It is proposed to do this through extension or adaptation of the Federal Reserve system.

The second proposal, also scheduled to receive consideration by the committee, is another by Governor Harding that a foreign trade corporation be formed to finance purchases of American farm products by foreign countries unable, through present lack of funds, to come into the American market.

To Go Direct to Congress.

Acting on Governor Harding's suggestions, Governor Bickett introduced a resolution providing for appointment of the committee to act under instructions of the conference and take the propositions up with Congress direct. This motion received a second and was about to be voted upon when it was objected that the constitution of the Governors' Conference forbade formal resolutions or actions of the sort. At this Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania pointed out that no such formal action was necessary and when, at the call of Governor Bamberger of Utah, who presided, a vote was taken on the suggestion to appoint the committee informally, approbation of the Governors was overwhelming.

One voice, that of Governor Edwards of New Jersey, was raised in objection. The Eastern Executive, who is a banker, said he thought Federal legislation such as was contemplated by his colleagues was "economically wrong." Conditions should be left to adjust themselves, he declared.

Apprehension regarding agricultural and industrial conditions throughout the country characterized most of the expressions by speakers addressing the Governors today.

Several States, represented by their Chief Executives or Governors-elect, were reported in a condition verging on the extremely critical, while spokesmen for most of the others assented to the general proposition that there was genuine cause for alarm in the outlook.

Conditions in Iowa, Governor Harding said, menaced the very existence of the agricultural industry. He urged on every State official the necessity of emergency legislation to protect farmers from impending ruin.

Few people, he said, realized the extent to which they were dependent upon the farmers. Most cities, he declared, were "within forty-eight hours of starvation." The farmers, he warned, were facing conditions under which they would be unable to supply cities with necessities of life.

Production of foodstuffs would positively cease in the Mississippi Valley within the next two years if better conditions were not quickly brought about, Governor J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma told the conference when he was introduced at a luncheon tendered the visitors by the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce.

Other Governors Express Fears.

Governor Robertson told of huge supplies of grains and foodstuffs as well as cotton which he said crowded warehouses in the Southwest following bumper crops which could not be moved from their points of origin when prices were still high on account of the car shortage, while present prices received for the commodities were not sufficient to pay expenses of production and transportation to the markets.

The same fears were echoed by Governor J. H. Bartlett of New Hampshire and Governor R. A. Cooper of South Carolina, who added that his misgivings extended to other fields of necessary production as well.

Governor Cooper said necessary readjustments could not take place without casualties, adding that it was foolhardy to think the present economic storms could be weathered "without some bankruptcies."

Other activities of the conference today included a discussion of the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations by Governor Allen of Kansas and a dinner tonight at the Executive mansion as the guests of Governor and Mrs. Sproul.

Governor Allen recommended to the conference a nation-wide extension of the method adopted in Kansas of setting up a Court of Industrial Relations. He sighted many occasions on which he said the Kansas court had rectified long-standing wrongs to labor and declared that experiences in his State had proved that strife between capital and labor should be settled through impartial adjudication rather than by arbitration. This method, he asserted, would do away with the "soft-handed radicals who make their living off the quarrels they foster between labor and its employers."

Governor Allen said that every other form of quarrel except the strike had been done away with by the establishment of courts and asked: "Is there any reason for assuming that Government may not find justice for the laboring man in his controversy with his employer?"

SOCIETY OF PATRIOTIC NEW YORKERS FORMED

Mrs. J. K. Van Rensselaer Heads Movement to Teach Residents What New York Really Is.

Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer of 157 East Thirty-seventh Street, has announced the formation of the Society of Patriotic New Yorkers, which was organized at a meeting held at her home on Tuesday evening. About a 100 invited residents of New York attended the gathering and participated in drawing up a constitution and outlining the work of the society for the coming year.

Through this organization, Mrs. Van Rensselaer and the charter members will launch an educational campaign to teach the inhabitants of the city and State just what New York really is and its importance with relation to the Union. Working with the History Club of this city the association will issue pamphlets from time to time to better acquaint the general public with what New Yorkers have done.

The society will not be an exclusively social organization but from the qualifications for membership in it, it will have a tincture of exclusiveness. To become a member one must be invited to join by two members and the candidate must be unanimously elected by the Election Committee. Any one asking to become a member automatically becomes ineligible for membership. The financial requirements are merely nominal, the initiation fee being only $5, which includes the first year's dues, and the atter thereafter are only $3.

There are to be four classes of membership, ancestral, constructive, registered, and corresponding. The first requires that the family of the member shall have been living in the State of New York since before the year 1776. The second requires that the member shall have been born in the State, and the third that he shall have had two or more ancestors who owned property in the State prior to 1776. The fourth class will include members by invitation who have been asked to join because of their knowledge of New York and the value of communications they may make to the society.

"What we want to do," said Mrs. Van Rensselaer, "is to introduce New Yorkers to our New York heroes—the men of great names who have aided in making New York what it is. We want to preserve historical sites, buildings which have historic associations. We want a house of the year 1800, of which there are half a dozen still in the city. There we will install figures of men and women—call them wax figures, if you like—dressed in the costumes of their time and surrounded by the furniture they knew."

His Death Recalls "Ghost" Ship.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Dec. 1.—The burial today of John Winters recalled to old-time fishermen a tradition of a modern Flying Dutchman and its ghostly crew that were believed to roam the seas in pursuit of a ship that had sent them to the bottom. Winters was the last survivor of the crew of the Gloucester schooner Charles Haskell, which in a storm in March, 1869, ran down and sank a Salem schooner and its entire crew on Georges fishing banks. He died at the Fishermen's Snug Harbor in his 82d year, repeating almost to the last the tale of the ghost ship of the fishing banks which was supposed to have pursued the Haskell throughout its career as a fishing craft.

JUDGE MALONE DIES WHILE JURY IS OUT

Passes Away in Chambers After Delivering Charge in Cunneen Murder Case.

HIS RECORD IS PRAISED

A Nominee of Tammany, He Dropped Organization—Man on Trial Is Found Guilty.

A few minutes after charging the jury trying Edward Cunneen for murder Judge James T. Malone of the Court of General Sessions dropped dead from heart disease in a washroom near his chambers in the Criminal Court Building yesterday afternoon.

When the jury retired at 1:30 o'clock with the defendant's life in their hands, Judge Malone, a massive figure in his flowing black silk gown, walked into the corridor, while the police attendants ran ahead of him and ordered everybody away from his path to the elevator, according to the custom of the building.

Judge Malone, looking the picture of health himself, noticed Court Reporter Amos G. Russell, who had been ailing, and stopped to inquire solicitously for his health.

"I haven't seen you for some time," said the Judge. "How are you feeling?"

"I have not been feeling very well, Judge," replied Mr. Russell. "I am planning to go away in a few days for my health. But I'm glad to see you looking so fine."

Judge Malone smiled, as if pleased by the compliment, and entered the elevator for his chambers two floors above. Fifteen minutes later he was lying on the floor when Judge John F. McIntyre entered the room. Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein, the Tombs physician, was summoned and found that Judge Malone was already dead.

Cunneen was charged with shooting and killing Charles Classen, a ship's engineer, in a fight on the waterfront on June 4. It was noted by the lawyers in the courtroom that Judge Malone's face was unwontedly red, as he delivered the charge to the jury. The Judge gave his directions and then left the bench in his usual manner, however, apparently unwarned by any physical symptom of the danger which threatened him.

Had Periods of Ill-Health.

He had undergone long periods of ill-health for several years past, but for months had appeared to be unusually vigorous. Recently, he had put on a good deal of weight, which increased his appearance of robustness.

The jury continued to deliberate in the case, unconscious of the death of the Judge who had just instructed them. Their first news of it came after they had arrived at a verdict. Had the jury failed to agree and returned to the courtroom for instructions, it would have been necessary to declare the case a mistrial. There were said to be precedents, however, authorizing another Judge to receive a verdict in the case of the death or inability of the original trial Judge.

When the jury returned to the courtroom, they found Judge William H. Wadhams on the bench. The foreman, Elmer Gourlay, said:

"We find the defendant guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, and under the circumstances of this case recommend him to the mercy of the Court."

Judge Malone leaves a wife and five children. He was born at Norwich, Conn., Jan. 9, 1865. He was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire in 1885, from Harvard in 1889 and from the Harvard Law School in 1890. In 1910 he received the degree of LL. D. from Villanova College.

He was admitted to the bar in New York in 1891 and was Assistant Corporation Counsel of the city from 1894 to 1908, when he was elected Judge of General Sessions on the Democratic ticket.

Out of Tammany Hall.

Though nominated by Tammany to the judgeship, Judge Malone severed his relations with that organization. In 1912, when the Court of General Sessions was under fire, Judge Malone was generally made an exception in all sweeping criticisms. Presenting the results of an investigation of the career of each of the Judges on the General Sessions bench, the Evening Post said in that year:

"Since James T. Malone has been on the General Sessions bench he has been distinguished among his associates because of his strictness. While the others often are lenient, he departs from his maximum-sentence policy so seldom that it may be called almost never. That he has severed his relations with politics is denied nowhere. Tammany dropped him long ago—after he dropped Tammany. If any prosecutor, investigator or civic body ever assailed his conduct, nobody ever heard of it. In short, one hears only good said about Malone, except among criminals, their lawyers and their political backers."

Judge Malone caused a stir at the Criminal Courts Building a year ago when he brought to light the failure to try 1,267 bail cases, some of them on indictments six years old. He demanded that the District Attorney clear up the calendar.

Judge Malone was a Catholic. He belonged to the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the New England Society, the Manhattan, University, Harvard and Oakland Golf Clubs.

TWO MONSIGNORS DIE ON THE SAME DAY

W. L. Penny of the Church of Annunciation, and Thomas Taffee of St. Patrick's, Brooklyn.

Death came yesterday to two Monsignors of the Roman Catholic Church. Both men had devoted the labors of a life-time as priests of their Church, and each had spent a long period of years as head of a particular parish, to which his efforts brought great prosperity, including a new church, rectory and parochial school.

Mgr. William L. Penny, for twenty years pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, 131st Street and Convent Avenue, died at the rectory of heart disease after an illness of three weeks. On June 3 next he would have celebrated the golden jubilee of his priesthood.

He was born at Kingston, N. Y., in 1845, and received his education at Niagara University, going thence to St. Joseph's Seminary at Troy, where he was ordained into the diocese of New York in 1871. His first pastorate was at Nyack, N. Y., followed by ten years at Newburg, N. Y., where he also held the office of Dean of Orange and Rockland Counties. Then he answered the summons to the Church of the Annunciation. At the services at the church on Friday morning the sermon will be preached by Mgr. Mooney, Vicar General of the diocese, and mass will be said by Mgr. McGean of St. Peter's Church in Barclay Street.

The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Thomas Taaffe, Pastor Emeritus of St. Patrick's Church, Kent and Willoughby Avenues, Brooklyn, where he had served from 1872 to 1919, died at the rectory in his eighty-seventh year. A solemn high requiem mass will be held in St. Patrick's Church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, preceded by Divine Office at 9:30. The interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, in the same plot with his brother, the Rev. James Taaffe, former pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy.

Mgr. Taaffe was one of the best known and best liked priests in Brooklyn, where all his labors had been performed. Born in the County Longford, Ireland, he received his earlier education in his native town and afterward in the celebrated College of All Hallows, Dublin. He was ordained at the chapel in this college in 1863 and immediately after came to this country. His first labors after his ordination were in the Church of St. Mary Star of the Sea, in Brooklyn. From there he went to the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, then in Debevoise Place, Brooklyn, in 1867, where he remained until 1872, when he was sent to St. Patrick's Church.

WATCHFUL WAITING POLICY BY GOLFERS

Officers of U. S. G. A. Decline to Comment Officially on Threatened Links War.

NOT CONTROLLED BY FEW

Leaders Here Deny Report of Clique —Western Men Named for Executive Positions.

In the opinion of a number of prominent golfers who discussed the subject last night, the latest announcement from Chicago to the effect that the Western Golf Association at its annual meeting on Jan. 15 will probably vote to cut loose and form a rival national body is extremely unfortunate. Two governing organizations framing different sets of rules would never succeed in getting anywhere, was the general verdict.

So far as any notice on the part of those in control of United States Golf Association affairs is concerned, there was nothing given out officially yesterday. As one prominent member explained, thus far all that is known is what one man has given to the newspapers. It may be the intention of the Western Golf Association, and then again it may represent only the ideas of a few radicals. Until the U. S. G. A. has received some official or authoritative notification it prefers to make no announcement.

Just the same, expressions of opinion on what has appeared in the papers were gleaned from those in close touch with the affairs of the parent body. One man identified with the Metropolitan Golf Association, who did not care to have his name mentioned, said:

"I don't know what those fellows in the West are thinking of. That talk about their association being democratic and the United States Golf Association being governed by a few makes me laugh. At the annual meeting of the National Association, the most any one delegate can have is five proxies, whereas the Western permits of any number of proxies as long as they are duly certified by a club secretary.

Not Controlled by Few.

"I do not doubt that if it is possible to bring it about, the U. S. G. A. would be not only willing but glad to extend representation. So far as I can see there never has been any desire to keep the control in a narrow clique. This country is too large to have its officials spread all over. That would make it well nigh impossible to function; committee meetings would be few and far between.

"There never has been any evidence of a feeling of dissatisfaction in the East, and if the disgruntled ones are confined to the West, the desire for a change must be a selfish one. Even should the W. G. A. vote at the annual meeting to form the American Golf Association, or whatever other name they may select, I doubt if they will get much recognition or support outside of that territory always recognized as 'Western'."

A former U. S. G. A. official, in discussing the subject last night brought up a number of points that will doubtless be seriously considered by the wiser heads in the West before any rash step is taken. Unquestionably, two controlling bodies will lead to trouble, he said. Unity and uniformity in Government and the rules are imperative. That is why a U. S. G. A. committee went abroad last Spring to consult with St. Andrews and to show those over there the need for co-operation.

"When the wishes of America golfers regarding the stymie and the out of bounds rules were made clear, the Royal and Ancient met the visitors more than half way, even though the foreign body may have felt the American delegates a trifle radical. Certainly this association has not gone to sleep, even though it does not appear to move rapidly enough to suit the West.

"Where a rigid application such as with the out of bounds, is impracticable, a local rule may always be resorted to. Once some other organization starts to rip the old game wide apart, draft different rules, conceive other ideas as to amateurism, implements of the game, weight and size of the ball; size of the hole, and so on, golf the world over, especially in this country, will receive a serious blow.

"While it may be a fact that numerically the United States can now boast of more golfers than any other country, it is also a fact that golf, in the generally accepted sense, is a Scotch game. Its rules and traditions have been respected and observed for many years. These rules and traditions still exist.

"Certain modifications due to the livelier ball have been made, and in that Great Britain and this country have been in accord.

Westerners on Ticket.

"Should a split with the West occur, it would require no prophet to foresee the attitude of St. Andrews. The only governing body in America recognized by St. Andrews is the United States Golf Association, and unless something unforeseen occurs, these two will continue their harmonious relations, ever aiming to conserve the best interests of the game."

Possibly by the time the annual meeting of the U. S. G. A., set for Jan. 7 in this city, takes place some effort at getting together will have been made between officials of this and the Western organization. The latter's annual meeting at Chicago follows about a week later.

It is worthy of mention that the nominees for First and Second Vice Presidents of the U. S. G. A. for the ensuing year, J. F. Byers and Robert A. Gardner, represent Western territory. Byers is of Pittsburgh, while Gardner belongs in Chicago. These men and G. Herbert Walker of St. Louis, the President, will doubtless take steps toward pouring oil upon the waters.

WANT GOLF RULES CHANGED.

Westerners Propose Rewriting St. Andrews Code of Play on Links.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 1.—The Directors of the Western Golf Association recommended the adoption of a new constitution looking toward an American organization, to promote the best interests of the game for Americans, believing that changes in the rules of golf may be advisable from time to time, according to a statement issued by Wilbur H. Brooks, President of the association, tonight.

St. Andrews rules should be rewritten in response to the popular demand for a set of "understandable rules" covering the playing conditions in this country, Mr. Brooks said. His statement follows:

"Since the formation of the Western Golf Association in 1899, it has been the policy of the Directors of the W. G. A. to maintain a democratic, representative and progressive organization for the best interests of American golf. No one man, or small group of men has dominated the organization or its policies.

"The W. G. A. is neither a local nor sectional body. From a charter membership of ten clubs its membership now extends into thirty-one States, Canada and Hawaii. The W. G. A. has endeavored to bring into close communication with itself all minor associations within its territory. The W. G. A. believes that all member clubs should have voting power and a voice in the legislation and policy of the organization.

"The Western Golf Association believes that Americans understand golf and that they play under different conditions than those existing in other countries and that Americans are entirely capable of formulating the proper rules for playing the game in this country.

"The W. G. A. believes further that changes in the rules of golf may be advisable from time to time, as our knowledge of the game increases, or as existing rules prove to be unpopular or unsuitable to the conditions under which Americans play the game. The rules of golf as published by St. Andrews should be rewritten in response to the popular demand for a set of understandable rules covering the playing conditions in this country.

"With these facts before them and after serious consideration the Directors of the W. G. A. have recommended the adoption of a new constitution looking toward an American organization, representative of America, and prepared to promote the best interests of the game for Americans."

McLean Seeks Skating Title; Challenges Oscar Mathiesen

D. R. Scanlan, manager of Bobby McLean of Chicago, former champion speed skater, tonight issued a challenge to Oscar Mathiesen of Norway for a series of races for the world's title. Mr. Scanlan said he had sent a challenge to Champion Mathiesen, but had received no reply. Scanlan announced he had received a number of offers for the proposed contest, but preferred to have the match decided in Norway.

TWO-MILE TITLE IS TAKEN BY BOHLAND

Paulist A. C. Runner Scores Victory in Metropolitan Championship Event.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 1.—Max Bohland, former national senior cross-country champion, won the Metropolitan indoor two-mile A. A. U. championship at the first annual games of the Newark Athletic Club in the First Regiment Armory here tonight before a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Bohland trailed Al Hulsenbeck of the New York A. C. for the first half mile. Bohland then went up and took the lead and was never headed. Eddie Garvey, another member of the Paulists, ran at Bohland's heels the last two laps, but was never able to come up even with Max or to fight for the lead. Garvey, however, did put up a hard fight in the homestretch, but even with a great burst of speed he was two yards in the rear of Bohland at the finish, with Andy Craw of the Brooklyn A. A. in third place. Charles Beagan of St. Anselm's was fourth.

Jake Driscoll, the Boston A. A. crack, and world's record holder for 500 yards indoors, sprinted around Jimmy O'Brien of the Loughlin Lyceum on the last lap and broke the worsted one yard in front of the Manhattan sprinter. Driscoll ran in second place until the pistol barked for the last lap. He then made his bid to go around O'Brien and succeeded before going a half lap. Driscoll set such a dizzy pace in the last one hundred yards that Mike Devaney, former Millrose A. A. star, and Ted Meredith, N. Y. A. C. crack, were dropped off. Devaney finished more than two yards in the rear and Meredith was five yards back of Mike. The time was only 1 minute 20 1-5 seconds.

Bernie Wefers Jr., the metropolitan 300-yard indoor champion, running from scratch, had to overcome large handicaps in winning the 75-yard dash. Wefers came with a rush in the last ten yards and won by a step over George Perryman of the Knights of St. Anthony, who had a handicap of ten feet. Charles Esposito, a Newark boy, with thirteen feet, was inches back of Perryman.

Matt Lynch, recently of the Knights of St. Anthony, now running unattached, won the one-mile run from the 40-yard mark after leading practically the entire distance. Lynch is the boy who ran the last leg on the winning relay team in the Chateau-Thierry to Paris relay race. Lynch was even with Joe Quietan of the Pastimes until a lap and one-half from home, when he pulled away from Quietan and won easily by fifteen yards, with Lou Gaskell of the St. Anselms, the scratch man in the race, third.

One-Mile Run, Handicap—Won by Mathew Lynch, unattached (40 yards); Joseph Quieten, Pastime A. C. (40 yards), second; L. Gaskell, St. Anselm's A. C. (scratch), third. Time—4:39.

75-Yard Dash, Handicap—Won by B. J. Wefers Jr., N. Y. A. C. (scratch); George Perryman, Knights of St. Anthony (10 feet), second; Charles Esposito, unattached (13 feet), third; L. Mable, Knights of St. Anthony (17 feet), fourth. Time—0:08.

One-Mile Walk, Handicap—Won by James Farrell, St. Anselm's A. C. (40 seconds); Henry Lobon, Eighty-second Street Y. M. H. A. (30 seconds), second; Theodore Neuendorfer, Todd Shipyard (85 seconds), third; C. C. Sullivan, Newark Police (60 seconds), fourth. Time—7:22 1-5.

600-Yard Run, Handicap—Won by Joseph Chankin, Morningside A. C. (20 yards); S. Bennett, St. Anselm's A. C. (18 yards), second; H. Boetticher, Mohawk A. C. (14 yards), third; Lloyd Bennett, St. Anselm's A. C. (15 yards), fourth. Time—1:17 1-5.

Running High Jump, Handicap—J. Erbal, Mohawk A. C. (scratch), 6 feet 2 inches, first; H. A. Bigelow, unattached (3 inches), 5 feet 11 inches, second; W. B. Sherrill Jr., unattached (4 inches), 5 feet 7 inches, third.

Special 600-Yard Invitation—Won by J. W. Driscoll, Boston A. A.; James O'Brien, Loughlin Lyceum, second; Mike Devaney, unattached, third; James E. Meredith, New York A. C. fourth. Time—1:20 1-5.

Crunden, second; Loughlin Lyceum, with W. Farley, J. Warburton, M. Leslie, J. O'Brien, third; St. Anselm's A. C., with W. Hannon, V. Lally, L. Bennett, L. Gaskill, fourth.

The point trophy went to the Morningside Athletic Club, with fifteen points, while St. Anselm's A. C. was second with thirteen points. A tie existed for third place between the Mohawks and the Knights of St. Anthony, each scoring seven points.

CREW COACH IS HONORED.

Glendon Receives Cup for Victory of Navy Oarsmen at Antwerp.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 1.—Richard Glendon, coach of the Naval Academy crews, was presented with a loving cup this evening by his fellow members of the Annapolyian Club. The presentation was by former Mayor John De Academy crew coached by Glendon in the guest of honor at a dinner which followed. The honors were in special recognition of the victory of the Naval Academy crew coached by Glen in the Olympic race at Antwerp last Summer, his crew breaking the world's record of 2,000 meters by five seconds.

The popularity of boxing at the Naval Academy was indicated by a squad of over three hundred which reported to Coach Spike Webb. By this week Webb will shortly reduce this squad to seventy. Among the probable candidates is Clyde King, right tackle of the eleven and stroke of the Olympic crew of the academy. He will box in the unlimited class mission, last year's champion, going to the light heavyweight. Matches are being arranged with Penn. State, University of Pennsylvania, Yale and probably with the University of Toronto.

HIGGINS IS RE-ELECTED.

Fast Columbia Cross-Country Runner Again to Captain Harriers.

Walter Higgins, Captain of the Columbia cross-country team and one of the best harriers in the East, was yesterday re-elected leader of the Blue and White runners for the 1921 season.

Higgins, who is of the class of 1922, twice broke the intercollegiate record this year for the Van Cortlandt Park course, first in the dual meet with Williams and later in Columbia's race with Pennsylvania and Dartmouth. In the Syracuse invitation meet Higgins took fifth honors, and he was the runner-up in the intercollegiate championships at New Haven on Nov. 20.

CONNERY TO SELECT CAMP FOR YANKEES

Scout of New York Club Also Will Choose Training Site for Robins.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, has decided not to explore the South in search of the most suitable training camp for the team. Yesterday by mail he delegated this mission to Bob Connery, one of the club's scouts, who is now at his home in St. Louis. Connery will probably weigh anchor tomorrow or Saturday on what will be a rather arduous cruise, for he will put into many ports. One could not number on one's finger-tips the villages, towns and cities in the southland that are eager to entertain Babe Ruth and his husky comrades. Whichever place gets the plum will date time hereafter from the Spring of 1921.

Connery has upon his shoulders and conscience the additional burden of the choice of training quarters for the Robins, either in the same burg which houses the Yanks or one so near at hand that the two teams can exchange shots in a few games before starting north together on their series of exhibition contests. The two clubs will wind up their hostilities with three games at Ebbets Field on April 9, 10 and 11.

It has been determined by those who control the movements, if not the destinies, of the Yankees, to send the players South a week or ten days later than usual. They will probably reach camp about March 7, and will start on their jagged way northward on or about April 1. This will allow only about three weeks for the seasoning work, which, it is believed, will prove ample.

Connery's travels in search of the proper site will lead him first to Shreveport, La., which is so eager to shelter and nurture the Yankees this coming Spring that a committee of three leading citizens dropped in on Mr. Barrow yesterday to urge the selection of that city. The trio was composed of Mayor John M. Ford, Leon J. Kahn, Commissioner of Public Utilities, and B. F. Roberts, an attorney of the Louisiana municipality. These gentlemen argued all the pros but couldn't think of a single con. When they went away they left the desk of the Yankees' business manager heaped high with seductive literature touchin' on and appertainin' to the advantages and charms of Shreveport. They say they can accommodate the Robins there also.

Alexandria, La., which will be Connery's second stopping place, has likewise made a seductive proposition in the effort to entice the Yankees thither. One of those places appears likely to prove the successful applicant, but New Orleans, where Connery will also drop in, is not out of the running.

Other garden spots through which Connery will skip with alert eye include Mobile, Ala.; Pensacola, Fla.; Greenville and Charleston, Miss., the last of which has bid high for the Yankees' presence; and Temple and two or three other points in Texas.

It is not yet certain, despite the multitude of propositions from widely scattered places, that Huggins and his troops will not return to Jacksonville, Fla., where they trained last Spring. There were disadvantages there, but there were advantages also.

John D. Logan, President of the Mobile club of the Southern Association, who called on Joseph D. O'Brien, Secretary of the Giants, yesterday, said that he had signed Herman Bronkie, utility infielder of the St. Louis Browns in 1919, to manage his club for the coming season.

HUGGINS AFTER DUGAN.

Connie Mack Turns Down Offer for Infielder.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, today turned down a tempting offer which Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees made him for Infielder Joe Dugan. Huggins came to town today on a quiet hunt for Dugan. He met Mack by appointment and laid his cards on the table in an effort to get Mack to part with Dugan. Huggins's trip however, proved futile in so far as Dugan was concerned, for Mack absolutely refused to talk business with Huggins for Dugan.

Speaking of the affair tonight Mack said:

"Yes, Huggins called to see me today and wanted Joe Dugan, but I told him as I have told several other American League managers, that Dugan is not for sale or trade. Huggins made me a good offer for Joe but I turned it down. I am out to build up now and not tear down and am after every first-class player I can land."

It was said that Huggins had offered Mack Wally Pipp, George Mogridge, the pitcher, and a neat bundle of cash for Dugan. Mack admitted that he would like to land Pipp but would not think of handing over Dugan for the heavy-hitting Yank. It was also said that Huggins cherished big Scott Perry, and it may be that a deal will go through whereby Huggins will get the burly local right hander for Pipp. Mack, however, refused to comment on this.

It was said that Huggins left here late tonight for Washington, where he is to meet Clark Griffith in an effort to make a trade for some of the Senators' outfielders.

NO CONNECTION WITH CLUB.

Ruppert Realty Co. Has Mortgage on Real Estate, Says Attorney.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—The fact that a mortgage of $300,000 on Fenway Park, home grounds of the Boston Red Sox, is held by Jacob Ruppert, Inc., of New York, with which President Jacob Ruppert of the New York Yankees is identified, was the subject of a statement today by Thomas J. Barry, counsel for the Boston club.

"Fenway Park is owned by the Fenway Realty Trust," Mr. Barry said. "It always has owned Fenway Park and is a separate and distinct organization from the Boston American League Baseball Club. The latter is simply a tenant.

"There always has been a mortgage on Fenway Park. On May 25, 1920, the old mortgage was discharged and a new mortgage was placed with Jacob Ruppert, Inc., nothing to do with the individual. Jacob Ruppert, Inc., is a corporation which deals in real estate and has stockholders and officers entirely distinct from Jacob Ruppert the individual. This real estate corporation took a mortgage of $300,000 as an investment on the same plan and principle as it would invest its money in any other kind of a mortgage.

"The Boston American League Baseball Club has nothing to do with this mortgage, nor is the franchise included in the mortgage. There is no connection between the club and either Jacob Ruppert or the Jacob Ruppert Corporation."

A. L. NAMES COMMITTEE.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—President B. B. Johnson of the American League tonight named James Dunn of Cleveland, Tom Shibe of Philadelphia and Frank Navin of Detroit as the American League Committee to meet with Judge K. M. Landis and a National League committee in New York Dec. 10, to draft a new baseball agreement.

CUBS SIGN A PITCHER.

Chicago Nationals Add Coble to Their Staff of Twirlers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—A pitcher, James Coble, of an independent baseball team in Charleston, Ill., today was added to the staff of the Chicago National League Club, when Manager Evers signed him to a contract for 1921, making a total of sixteen pitchers on the Cubs' staff for next season.

BULL DEFEATS DANA IN SQUASH TOURNEY

Takes Closely Contested Match at Columbia Club, 18-14, 17-16 —Fink and Gould Win.

In the fastest and most bitterly contested match of the present squash tennis season, C. M. Bull, Jr., the Squash Club expert, defeated Anderson Dana of the Harvard Club yesterday afternoon at the Columbia Club in the third round of the Fall scratch tournament of the National Squash Tennis Association. Bull won in straight games, both of which ran into extra points. The two men rank among the topnotchers of the game and both were close to the summit of their form yesterday. The result was a battle royal, in which one sensational rally followed close upon the heels of another. The ball at times sped about the court at such a rate that it was difficult for the eye to follow it. Both players made many marvelous recoveries and superb placements. The current tournament is hardly likely to produce a more evenly and brilliantly fought match than this, even in the concluding rounds. Bull and Dana were the finalists in this tournament a year ago, the former gaining the verdict in that match, as he did again yesterday.

Bull won by scores of 18—14, 17—16. The points ran evenly in the first game up to 9—7 in favor of Bull. Dana, on his next hand-in, registered four aces for a lead of 11—9, but Bull set the game at 13, and the count was again evened at 15. Bull then ran three points on the next hand-in, taking the game point on a service ace.

Dana Close to Victory.

In the second game Dana was five times within a point of victory. Twice he led at 14—12 and three times at 16—15. But the point that would have evened the games never appeared. Bull was always able to fight off disaster, and, in his final hand-in, he ran out the two points that gave him the match. As in the opening game, the final point was once more a service ace. Many lets were called in this game, the swiftness of the play making it hard for the men to keep out of each other's way.

The point score and stroke analysis tell their own story of the closeness of the battle. They follow:

FIRST GAME.

Bull ....1 2 1 0 4 1 0 1 3 0 1 1 3—18
Dana ....2 0 0 3 1 1 4 1 0 1 1 0 ..—14

STROKE ANALYSIS.

	Telltales.	Placements.	Misses.	Outs.	Service Aces.
Bull	2	8	2	3	1
Dana	5	7	1	3	0

SECOND GAME.

Bull...1 1 0 0 1 4 1 0 0 0 1 0 1 2 0 0 0 3
0 0 0 2 17
Dana..1 1 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 4 0 1 0 3 0 0
2 0 0 16

STROKE ANALYSIS.

	Telltales.	Placements.	Misses.	Outs.	Service Aces.
Dana	5	6	1	2	0

Another spectacular match of yesterday was that between E. J. Fink of the Crescent A. C. and Livingston Platt of the Yale Club. The result was a surprising upset. Fink won from a man who had generally been picked as a probable semi-finalist, if not finalist. The scores were 18—16, 4—15, 15—8. Both men hit the ball with terrific speed in the opener, which was even all the way. Platt displayed his best form in the second game, and won it easily, but he spent much of his strength in the effort. He tired in the rubber game after leading at 6—3 and again at 8—5, and Fink quickly ran ahead and finished the game without allowing Platt another point. Platt's tendency to hit the ball above the backline cost him many points in the third game.

Gould Has Easy Time.

Jay Gould had an easy time disposing of Clyde Martin, taking the second game at love. Coward of the Yale Club won a highly creditable victory over Joseph Walker 3d, his clubmate. This is Coward's first year in squash tennis, and his work is especially good, considering his inexperience. Riley, Baker and John Taylor accounted for other well-earned victories in the third round.

In order to avoid conflict with today's Class A team matches in the Metropolitan League, the fourth-round tournament matches will be held over until tomorrow. As a result, the final round in the tournament will not be reached until next week.

The summaries:

Third Round—C. M. Bull Jr., Squash Club, defeated Anderson Dana, Harvard Club, 18—14, 17—16; A. W. Riley, Princeton Club, defeated L. I. Grinnell, Harvard Club, 15—11, 15—4; Jay Gould, Columbia Club, defeated Clyde Martin, Yale Club, 15—7, 15—0; D. S. Baker, Yale Club defeated F. A. Keeler, Columbia Club, 15—10, 18—17; John Taylor, Princeton Club, defeated H. D. Harvey, Princeton Club, 15—7, 15—11; E. J. Fink, Crescent A. C., defeated Livingston Platt, Yale Club, 18—16, 4—15, 15—8.

D. K. E. DEFEATS TIGERS.

Greek Letter Team Beats Princeton Club at Squash, 4 to 3.

The D. K. E. Club squash tennis team defeated the Princeton Club in the conclusion of their match on the D. K. E. court yesterday afternoon. The score was 4 to 3. D. K. E. started the afternoon with a lead of 2 to 1 gained the preceding day, and clinched its victory by breaking even in the four remaining matches. The Greek letter men have now won two matches and lost none and are tied in the standing with the Crescent A. C.

H. S. Thorne had the distinction of turning in the fourth and decisive victory for the Dekes. He defeated A. M. Kidder by scores of 15—10, 9—15, 15—5. Thorne is ambidextrous, shooting with almost as much facility with his left as with his right hand. For some of his kills he used both hands, and generally, when he did so, he slammed the ball with such force that it was unreturnable. Thorne had a keen eye for the corners, too, and frequently caught his opponent out of position.

Another close struggle was that in which Felix Jenkins, playing for D. K. E., gained the verdict over Basil Harris in three games scored 10—15, 15—12, 15—11. R. H. Monks outspeeded and outplaced G. C. Davidson and won in straight games for the Princeton Club, while George Walker also counted for the Orange and Black in the final match of the afternoon. Walker defeated Roland George, 15—7, 17—15, George coming from behind to set the game at 14, but weakening in the extra points.

The summaries:

Felix Jenkins, D. K. E. Club, defeated Basil Harris, Princeton Club, 10—15, 15—12, 15—11; R. H. Monks, Princeton Club, defeated George C. Davidson, D. K. E. Club, 15—12, 15—9; H. S. Thorne, D. K. E. Club, defeated A. M. Kidder, Princeton Club, 15—10, 9—15, 15—5; George A. Walker Jr., Princeton Club, defeated Roland George, D. K. E. Club, 15—7, 17—15.

Invite Finnish Runner to Compete in Meet at Boston

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—An invitation to have Nurmi, the Finnish runner who won the 10,000-metre run at the Antwerp Olympiad, come to this country for the indoor season was sent him today by George V. Brown, manager of the annual games of the Boston Athletic Association. It is proposed to have the Finn meet American distance runners in a three-mile race at the games which will be held here Feb. 5.

WILLARD DECLARES HE IS IN CONDITION

Former Champion Confident He Can Make Either Dempsey or Brennan Hustle.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 1.—When told today that a dispatch from New York stated he had signed a contract to meet the winner of the Dempsey-Brennan fight, Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, declared his signature had been in the hands of Tex Rickard, promoter, for some time but that this fact had not been announced pending receipt of the signatures of the other parties.

When asked about his condition, Willard replied: "I am feeling fine. I am in good condition and expect to give my opponent a run for his money whether he be Dempsey or Brennan. I have been doing light training with Jack Hemple of Wyoming, who has been with me for several years."

RICKARD DISCUSSES BOUT.

Announces Willard and Dempsey Will Box on Percentage.

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, and Jess Willard, former holder of the title, will work on a percentage basis in their bout, which will be held March 17, possibly at Madison Square Garden. Tex Rickard made a definite statement to this effect yesterday. The Garden promoter further declared that under the terms for the bout both boxers must be on the scene of battle to complete their training forty days before the date of the contest.

Whether the match will be held at Madison Square Garden is undetermined. It is known that the contest was originally slated for the famous arena, but, in view of the expressed antagonism to important heavyweight bouts in official and reform circles, the match may be transferred across the river to New Jersey, where it will be held under the auspices of Promoter Rickard with the assistance of New Jersey boxing officials.

The insertion of a provision in the contracts for the bout, providing for a meeting between Willard and Bill Brennan, in the event that the latter is successful in his bout against Champion Dempsey, Dec. 14, is accepted as merely a precaution to provide against possible disruption of present plans. Brennan is conceded little chance for victory against the champion, but Promoter Rickard and both Dempsey and Willard have agreed to the arrangement.

BANTAMS IN RING TONIGHT.

Lynch and Sharkey Head Boxing Card at Madison Square Garden.

Joe Lynch and Jack Sharkey, rivals for the opportunity of engaging Pete Herman in a world's bantamweight championship battle, will decide the question of logical challenger to the titleholder this evening, when they clash in the principal fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden. The contest will be a return meeting, and is expected to produce as much action as did the last clash between the two midgets in the same ring last Sept. 28. Champion Herman will be among the spectators. The title holder, it has been announced, has agreed to box the winner for Promoter Tex Rickard at a date to be announced soon.

Both boxers are reported in good condition after faithful training sieges. They are both said to be at the required weight. Sharkey scaled 117 pounds yesterday, and Lynch also scaled under the stipulated 118 pounds which the boxers have agreed to weigh this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Promoter Rickard has rearranged his other scheduled bouts because of the illness of Lew Angelo, Trenton scrapper, who was scheduled to box Midget Smith of Harlem in one of the ten-round bouts. The Garden promoter has assigned Phil Franchini to oppose Smith. This arrangement withdrew Franchini from his scheduled bout against Sammy Nable, former amateur boxer, but Promoter Rickard has secured Jimmy Burns to box Nable. The first bout, of six rounds, will bring together Willie Herman and Frankie Olsen.

TED LEWIS DUE TOMORROW.

Welterweight Boxer and Manager Are on Board the Celtic.

Ted (Kid) Lewis, British welterweight boxer, and his manager, Charles J. Harvey, are expected to return to this country tomorrow morning. Manager Harvey and Lewis are on board the steamer Celtic returning from England, where he knocked out Johnny Basham, British welterweight champion, in the nineteenth round of a scheduled twenty-round battle in London. Lewis plans to campaign for a bout against Jack Britton, world's welterweight champion.

PENN STRONG FOR BOXING.

Quakers Are Preparing for a Busy Season in the Ring.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—Boxing will be one of the big events on the University of Pennsylvania's athletic schedule this Winter, according to plans announced today by Robert Ward, the university's representative on the Executive Committee of the Intercollegiate Boxing League.

Ward said a large squad answered the call for candidates, and that much likely material has been weeded out. In addition to the intercollegiate matches, the Pennsylvania coaches are planning many interclass and individual competitions.

The members expressed themselves as particularly pleased with the successful yachting season just closed and considered tentative plans for the coming year.

Among those present were: Vice Commodore Henry Whiton, Hunter Wykes, H. M. Jewett, William B. Barslow, Harry Raymond, Butler Whiting, William J. Moran, Charles L. Perrin and E. J. S. Flint.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 1.—Trinity and Wesleyan are again at the parting of the ways in athletic relations. Wesleyan claims that at football this Fall their opponents resorted to rough tactics, bringing protests from players, undergraduates and alumni.

BOSTON COLLEGE IS DROPPED BY YALE

Will Not Be on Bulldogs' 1921 Football Schedule—Had Twice Beaten Blue.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—The Boston College football team will not play Yale next year, according to a telegram received today by Frank A. Reynolds, graduate manager of athletics at Boston College, from Manager M. D. Goddard of the Blue eleven. The message, in reply to one sent by Reynolds requesting to know if Yale desired Boston College on its schedule next year, said:

"Regret that in arranging a consistently developed schedule it has been found inadvisable to include game with Boston College."

Boston College defeated Yale twice in succession. In 1919 the Bulldogs lost, 5 to 3, and this year the Blue was beaten, 21 to 13.

The students expressed disappointment over Yale's decision, in view of the fact that the team, which has not been beaten so far this year, will have the same line-up for next season with the exception of Fitzpatrick and Urban.

The Boston College schedule for 1921 includes games with Boston University, Middlebury, Fordham, Georgetown, Marietta and Holy Cross, with two dates still open. Among the teams mentioned as likely to secure a place are Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, Penn State and Pittsburgh.

NEW FOES FOR HARVARD.

Crimson 1921 Football Schedule Will Show Important Changes.

CAMBRIDGE Mass., Dec. 1.—The schedule for the Harvard 'Varsity football team of next year, which is now in the making, will include several changes from that of the season just closed. It will again consist of nine games, Major F. W. Moore, graduate manager of athletics, said today, with the same arrangement of late-season contests, Yale being played at the stadium Nov. 19 and Princeton on the Tiger gridiron Nov. 5. Brown probably will retain the date between these two.

The six games preliminary to these will be shaken up considerably, with a view to bringing new ideas and methods of play into action against the team that is representative of the Harvard coaching system. Center College will be played earlier than this season, the Colonels probably exhibiting their sensational style of passing and running attack on Oct. 15.

Harvard and West Point alike wish to have the Army and Crimson meet in the big game of the preliminary season, two weeks before the Tiger contest, but faculty sanction to one of the several proposals, a meeting at the Polo Grounds in New York, alternating contests at Cambridge and West Point or an annual game at either place, is uncertain.

To introduce to the 'Varsity campaign a host of candidates for places on the team, Major Moore plans to try to arrange a double-header for the opening date, with Crimson players meeting two colleges the same day in separate contests of reduced playing periods. One team already has agreed to meet Harvard under these conditions, he said. If this arrangement is completed it may result in two Maine college elevens opposing the Crimson players.

Holy Cross, which had the first date on this year's schedule, may have the second or third next season. In all probability, neither Valparaiso University nor Williams will return to the stadium next season. Virginia may be on the Crimson schedule again, and, if not, another Southern college probably will appear.

Applications for games at the Harvard stadium have come from institutions as far South as Alabama and well into the West. Nebraska, Syracuse, Indiana, Kansas and Missouri are mentioned as teams which may come to Cambridge, although not all these institutions have requested games.

COLUMBUS FETES ELEVEN.

Business Men Tender Banquet to Ohio State Champions.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Five hundred Columbus business men gathered at a banquet here tonight in honor of the Ohio State University football team, the undefeated champion of the Western Conference.

The affair was under the direction of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and was attended by the entire Scarlet and Gray football squad, coaches, members of the Athletic Board of Ohio State, and prominent business men. The banquet was in recognition of the successful campaign waged by the Buckeyes which resulted in the Western Conference championship coming to Columbus for the third time in the last five years.

The team was presented with a large silver loving cup on behalf of Columbus business men. The following resolution was offered by the Chamber of Commerce and unanimously adopted: "In order that there be no misunderstanding as to the motives of Columbus business men in giving their utmost support to the Ohio State team, it is resolved that there be no betting on the results of the contests."

Short speeches were by Coach Jack Wilce, Professor Thomas E. French, Ohio State representative on the Western Conference Athletic Board, and Director of Athletics L. W. St. John.

NAME FOOTBALL OFFICIALS.

Maxwell and Thorp to Work in Professional Game Here.

Bob Maxwell of Swarthmore and Tom Thorp of Columbia, who have officiated in some of the most important football games in the East this season, will act as referee and umpire, respectively, in the professional football game between Jim Thorpe's Canton Bulldogs and the Buffalo All-Americans at the Polo Grounds Saturday, it was announced yesterday. Charles Kilpatrick of Union and the New York A. C., will be linesman. These selections assure competent officials for the game.

Heinie Miller of Penn and Bob Higgins of Penn State, who were Walter Camp's selections for ends on his All-American team last year, will oppose each other in the game. Miller will be seen with the Buffalo aggregation, while Higgins will be seen on one of the wings of Thorpe's eleven.

STILL HOPE FOR GIPP.

Notre Dame Athlete, Ill With Pneumonia, Has Chance for Life.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 1.—George Gipp, Notre Dame football star who is lying at the point of death at St. Joseph's Hospital here, had lapsed into unconsciousness tonight. Attending physicians state that if he lives through the next twenty-four hours he has a chance for recovery, but they hold little hope.

Cheering messages from dozens of players against whom Gipp has played have been received at the bedside. Captain Day of the Nebraska team, Army players and other erstwhile opponents of the brilliant halfback, have expressed their sincere hopes for his recovery.

His mother is constantly at his bedside.

WEST VA. TO PLAY HERE.

Mountaineer Eleven to Meet Rutgers at Polo Grounds Next Year.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 1.—H. A. Stansbury, athletic director of West Virginia University, announced here today that three football games, Lehigh at South Bethlehem, Rutgers at the Polo Grounds, New York, and Washington and Jefferson at home, are assured the Mountaineers for the 1921 season.

He also announced that West Virginia had extended an offer to the University of Nebraska for a game here next season, but that an answer had not been received to date.

SAILORS WRESTLE AND BOX AT GARDEN

Championships of Atlantic Fleet Decided Before Crowd of 10,000 Persons.

BOUTS FILLED WITH ACTION

Light-Heavyweight Final Produces Greatest Thrill, Fenton Defeating Van Billiard.

Madison Square Garden has been the scene of many important and high-class fistic entertainments, but for pure, unadulterated, slambang, free-style milling there have been few occasions when the bouts produced there last night before a crowd of about 10,000 have been excelled. The occasion was the championship boxing and wrestling tournament of the Atlantic fleet. The card consisted of eight boxing bouts and five wrestling matches. The participants, some of Uncle Sam's sturdiest jackstars, didn't know much about scientific work, but they were long on the fundamental principals and they worked accordingly. The result was that the crowd yelled itself hoarse after each bout, almost without exception.

The greatest bout, and one of the best ever seen in an amateur or professional ring, came just before the finish of the night's entertainment. The principals were Coxswain Millard Fenton of the Nevada, the fleet light-heavyweight champion, and Thomas Van Billiard, fireman, second-class, of the Oklahoma, a rather husky contender. For six rounds the pair went at each other hammer and tongs. There seemed no limit to the endurance of the combatants and there was, therefore, no letup in the milling. In the end Fenton gained the judges' decision after seven hurricane rounds, the contest going to the extra session when the judges disagreed on a winner after the customary six.

Van Billiard, a blond, southpaw boxer, with much of the appearance of Knockout Brown, and with a similar fighting style, made all sorts of trouble for his clean-cut symetrically-built rival. The champion, however, showed the better knowledge of boxing and with clean, well-directed attack, appeared to have accumulated a lead in the usual six rounds to entitle him to the decision. When the judges' disagreement was made, therefore, there was a round of disapproving shouts from the spectators. They quieted quickly, however, on the promise of another round of the sizzling boxing and then sat back as the bell called the two husky jackies to the centre of the ring.

Both Weary at Finish.

Van Billiard, his right eye almost closed and blood flowing from his nose, was arm-weary and heavy on his feet from his exertions of the previous rounds and the pounding to which he had been subjected. The champion, too, showed the effects of the terrific milling, being slow with his feet and hands and weary from his rival's heavy blows. A trickle of blood flowed from Fenton's lips, where one of Van Billiard's crushing, awkward lefts had smashed the skin. Throughout the extra session the title-holder, following his previous plan of battle, forced the milling with all his remaining strength, and at the clang of the gong the judges rendered their decision in Fenton's favor. A great cheer welled up in the big amphitheatre.

Admiral H. B. Wilson, Fleet Commander, was an interested spectator, as were also Admiral A. H. Robertson, of the Destroyer Force; Admiral E. W. Eberle, Commander of the Battleship Squadron, Division 7; Captain C. T. Vogelsang, Chief of Staff; Captain T. R. Kurtz, Assistant Chief of Staff, and Captain Potter, Fleet Paymaster. Lieutenant Jack Pennington, Fleet Athletic Officer, was personally in charge of the bouts and conducted them in an admirable manner.

In the series of seven titular boxing bouts five champions successfully defended their laurels, and in the five wrestling opened the program and proemerged with their titles intact. The wrestingo pened the program and produced lively competition. Ernest Bibeault of the Arizona, former middleweight and light-heavyweight champion, scored the most spectacular victory in the shortest mat bout of the night. He pinned the shoulders of Wilfred Paradis, Pennsylvania, to the mat in 54 seconds with a half-Nelson body hold. Bibeault failed to make the weight for the middleweight title and had to let this token go by default. A. Berkowitz, Bridge, took the middleweight championship when he threw A. Janaak, Arizona, with a half-Nelson, in 2:05. Frank Ames, North Dakota, lightweight champion, was the other successful title holder to compete. Ames engaged William Howard, Nevada, in a stiff tilt which went the limit. At the expiration of the customary nine minutes the decision went to Ames.

Champions Defend Titles.

The five boxing champions to retain their honors were Louis Gordon, first-class fireman of the North Dakota, in the bantamweight division; Benny Hilliard, first-class fireman of the Utah, lightweight; Antonio Urquidez, fireman, third class, of the Arizona, welterweight; De Witt (Ding Dong) Bell, seaman, Arizona, middleweight, and Fenton. Seaman Fred Kelly of the Nevada, former featherweight class leader, lost his crown to Seaman Harry Sutton of the Pennsylvania, a shifty youngster, who came back after being floored in the first round, and earned the judges' decision with his spectacular work in the succeeding five sessions.

Hilliard retained his lightweight title against the assault of Ship's Cook Morris Sastelucci of the Nevada, only after seven rounds. The decision was not popularly received. Ding Dong Bell of the Arizona, the middleweight champion, and William Weilenmann of the Nevada produced another stirring bout in the final contest of the evening. Bell, a terrific body puncher, wore his man down through the early rounds and made him an easy target for heavy blows in the closing sessions.

Martin Fears He May Drop Out of Heavyweight Class

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 1.—Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the American Expeditionary Forces, is spending a vacation in the mountains at Terra Alta, W. Va., in an effort to regain weight lost within the last six months. When Martin won the interallied championship he weighed 195. At the present time he weighs 175 pounds, and he fears that unless he can improve his weight he will be forced to drop from the heavyweight class. The soldier champion has traveled extensively since his return from Europe, and he believes that his health has been impaired by many journeys to different sections of the country.

MEETING STOPPED AT HAVANA TRACK

Heavy Rains Cause Postponement of Cuban Racing—Hope to Resume Sunday.

HAVANA, Dec. 1.—Owing to heavy rainstorms and the unsafe condition of the track, racing has been called off for tomorrow, and will not be resumed perhaps before next Sunday.

Ever since the opening of the meeting it has been difficult for Secretary Nathanson to gather entries sufficient to create contests, and after Jack Healy and Avion had fallen in their respective races the above decision was taken. Horsemen practically refused to enter their horses under the existing weather conditions, prefering to remain idle rather than take the chance of having them injured and the lives of the jockeys jeopardized. It is anticipated the track will be in better condition by Sunday when the sport will be resumed.

Form players were up in the air today, five of the six favorites being defeated. The only one to save them from utter ruin was Waking Dreams in the second event.

In the first race the favorite, Jack Healy, fell when he apparently had the race won. He was leading by two lengths up to the last twenty yards when he stumbled and went down. Atkinson, fortunately, escaped injury. Again in the third event, where three-year-olds and upward went five and a half furlongs, the favorite fell. Avion was the choice and just when the boy was making his move with him the colt went to earth.

One of the freaks of the mutual form of betting was in the first race when War Loan was returned the winner. In the booking odds he was held at four to one, and in the mutuels he paid $17 for a two dollar ticket.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $700. Five furlongs. War Loan, 114 pounds (Pitz), 4 to 1, 7 to 5 and 1 to 2, first; Lulmeme, 105 (McCoy), 5 to 2, even and 1 to 3, second; Hunter Platt, 109 (Carmody), 5 to 2, even and 1 to 3, third. Time—1:13 3-5. SARATOGA STAKE EVENTS.

Nominations for 1921 More Numerous Than Those of 1920.

Nominations for the stake events to be run in 1921 at Saratoga, which closed on Nov. 27, showed an increase over last year in every instance but one, according to the totals which were sent out by Racing Secretary A. McL. Earlocker yesterday. Coming on top of a bumper crop of nominations for the stakes at Belmont Park, this is regarded by turf officials as forecasting a bright season for the sport next year. It is the direct result of the expansion in the breeding industry in the last two years.

As Saratoga always conducts one of the best meetings held in this country, the increases were particularly pleasing to R. T. Wilson Jr., President of the association. It was noticeable that the nominations for the Alabama Stakes for three-year-old fillies grew from 75 in 1920 to 125 for 1921. The Grab Bag Handicap, for two-year-olds, is the only event which failed to show an increase. It has the same number of nominations as last season—59.

There were 238 nominations for the rich Hopeful Stakes, for two-year-olds, as against 225 in 1920. Fourteen of these were sent in by H. P. Headley from France. It is estimated that the Hopeful next year will be worth about $38,000, a substantial increase over the value for 1920.

United States Hotel	203	222
Grand Union	201	221
The Spinaway	149	174
The Hopeful	225	238
The Travers	120	169
The Alabama	75	125
The Grab Bag	59	59

FIFTEEN TEAMS IN RACE.

Bicycle Riders Paired for Six-Day Grind at the Garden.

Fifteen teams will start in the annual six-day race, which will begin Sunday night in Madison Square Garden, it was announced yesterday after Manager John Chapman and Joe Fogler had completed paring the men. Oscar Egg and Reggie McNamara, who promise to be the favorites for the long grind, have been teamed as the Swiss-Australian team. Frank Kramer is going to make another attempt to stick it out in the Garden and is teamed up with Willie Spencer.

There will be the usual series of sprint races on Saturday night, including an international match face with Bob Spears, Piani and Kramer entered.

The fifteen teams are paired as follows:

FALLER TO DEFEND TITLE.

Ten-Mile Champion Will Meet a Strong Field in Yonkers Race.

Fred Faller of the Dorchester Club, Dorchester, Mass., inner of the national A. A. U. ten-mile running title last year, will defend his laurels this year in the annual championship test, which will be held at Glenn Park, Yonkers, Sunday afternoon. Arrayed against the sturdy New England distancer will be sixteen of the leading runners of the country. The race promises to be one of the most keenly contested for this title in recent years.

BACKERS OF LONG SHOTS HAVE INNING

Baladin, at 20 to 1, Victor in New Orleans Feature—Favorite Comes in Fourth.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 1.—There was a general improvement in the racing at Jefferson Park this afternoon, the weather being clear and the track fast for the first time in several days. As a result, the attendance was better than any time previous this week, and the crowd was provided with some thrills when two long shots got home in front in the course of the seven events. On the whole, however, it was another good day for favorites, as five of the choices came up to expectations.

One of the surprises came in the running of the Mandeville Purse, a race at a mile and a sixteenth. It was the principal event on the card, and Baladin, owned by P. Arieux of this city, won easily at 20 to 1, while Woodtrap, the odds-on favorite, failed to finish in the money among but five starters.

Baladin had a light impost of 99 pounds in his favor, and was also aided by the poor management of some of the contenders, including Tailor Maid and Woodtrap, both of which were much used up before the stretch run set in. However, Baladin popped out of the bunch unexpectedly, and, taking command, was an easy winner by nearly two lengths from Tailor Maid, which took the place from Master Bill by about the same advantage.

Woodtrap Used Up.

Woodtrap, with the top weight of 120 pounds, was rushed to the front at the first turn, and, after racing with General Haig and Tailor Maid, was well used up before going a mile, and tired badly as he turned into the stretch. Those who had backed him at 7 to 10 saw him slow up and drop into fourth place before he reached the wire. Tailor Maid was rushed at every horse that attempted to go to the front, and under this handling had little left, but she closed strongly on her own courage in spite of it.

Baladin was last going through the back stretch, but at the half-mile pole Pollard moved up with him suddenly, overtook the erstwhile leaders, and had all the speed of the race when the others tried to match speed with him in the stretch. Master Bill got up in the last few strides to take third from the tired favorite by a head.

The other long shot was T. H. Wilson's Shoot On, which got up in one of the closest finishes of the day to win by a head at 15 to 1 in the fourth race at a mile. Through the last sixteenth the winner and Amaze, the favorite, fought it out, and Shoot On registered because of a strong finish made by Jockey Roberts. Speedster was third, and but a head back of the second horse after making up for a bad start.

Amaze showed fine speed and set a fast pace until well into the stretch, but was never able to shake off Shoot On. The favorite was tiring slightly right at the end and this gave Roberts the chance to close up and get the advantage. Speedster was crowded back right after the start and had to make up considerable ground, but finished with a rush. None of the others were serious contenders after the first half mile.

B. A. Lane's Lad's Love, which has won a number of races for his owner since Lane bought the horse from the Greentree Stable, was much the best of the sprinters that faced the barrier in the second race for a dash of six furlongs. He won from Hindoostan, with plenty of time to spare, while Brotherly Love got up for third place.

Wagoner Breaks Leg.

The race was marred by an accident when The Wagoner broke a leg as he was racing through the stretch. The Wagoner was second at the time and was going well when he sustained his injury. It appeared that he stepped in a hole or on a stone. He was so near the finish line that he got home in fifth place in spite of his broken leg. Lad's Love, which was close to the pace all the way, assumed the lead at the head of the stretch and was never threatened. Talisman weakened badly after getting a lead of six lengths right after the start.

LEWIS AND JOHANN ARE CUE WINNERS

Score Easy Victories in National Class C Title Billiard Tournament.

Two games were played in the national Class C balkline billiard championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at the Rational Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night, and resulted in victories for J. M. Lewis Jr. and J. R. Johann, both of whom had little trouble in winning their games.

Lewis defeated C. Vose Jr. by a score of 150 to 32 in a game that was as one-sided as the score indicates. Lewis completely outclassed his opponent and was able to win without extending himself at any time. Lewis made a high run of 29 points and had an average of 4 14-34. He gained a long lead in the first few innings and steadily drew away, while Vose missed repeatedly and could not keep the balls together.

Johann won from J. Ward by a score of 150 to 58. His victory was won very easily, but it was due to the fact that Ward was badly off stroke, as he is capable of playing a much better game. Johann made a high run of 27 and had an average of 4 6-36. His run of 27 was the result of several difficult shots after which he got the balls into good position and was able to tick off the points until he missed on a comparatively easy attempt.

Owing to the fact that there will be some exhibition matches held at the academy during the remaining days of this week it was announced that the next tournament game would be played Monday evening.

SHONGOOD WINS TOURNEY.

Defeats Carter in Final Game for Snooker Honors at Doyle's.

Playing in fine form right to the end, Charles Shongood won the annual snooker pool handicap at John Doyle's Broadway Academy last night by defeating Harry Carter in the final game of the tournament by a score of 69 to 45. The game lasted fourteen innings and Shongood made a high run of 34 points, the best run of the tournament. This was a big factor in his easy victory. Though the run does not approach the record, it is an exceptionally good one for a title tilt.

Carter had little chance to show what he could do as Shongood played a safety game for the first part and left his opponent little to shoot at. Coming to the table in the tenth inning Shongood got rid of the last of the red balls and ran off the first three of the color balls. The winner had conceded ten points to Carter.

Shongood will try for the national amateur championship to be held soon and appears to have a very good chance to win it. This is his first season at snooker, as he has previously played pocket billiards.

PETERSON TO BE REFEREE.

Will Officiate at Championship 18.2 Tourney at Hotel Astor.

It was officially announced yesterday that Charles C. Peterson, the fancy shot expert of St. Louis, will referee all of the matches in the final round of the national championship 18.2 balkline billiard tournament at the Hotel Astor on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Peterson refereed all three championship tournaments at balkline, three-cushion and pocket billiards last season, and his work was so satisfactory that it was an accepted fact from the start that he would be chosen to act in the same capacity this year. It was also announced yesterday that the box office at the Hotel Astor had been opened. R. B. Benjamin, under whose direction the tournament is being held, stated that the advance sale had been very heavy.

HOREMANS WINS HANDILY.

Cueist Runs Up Good Scores in All of His Local Matches.

Edouard Horemans, the Belgian billiard champion, made a flying trip around the city yesterday giving exhibitions of his skill, and won handily as many times from his companion and opponent, F. J. Derks.

At the Rational Recreation Academy in Brooklyn in the afternoon he won by a score of 300 to 33, and followed this by winning at the Fourteenth Street Academy by 300 to 49.

In the evening the Belgian gave an exhibition at the Union League Club by a score of 300 to 79, making a high run of 100. This was his best showing of the day and his numerous games accounted for the fact that he did not come closer to his previous high runs.

LIPTON WINS AT ANGLES.

Defeats Becker in Three-Cushion Tourney at Thum's.

Louis Lipton defeated Frank Becker in the three cushion handicap billiard tournament at Thum's academy last night by a score of 35 to 19. The winner had a handicap of three points but was never in need of this advantage as he led from the start and was never closely pressed.

Becker indulged in much safety play but it availed him little for Lipton made some exceptionally difficult shots from the supposed safety leaves and was much the better at point scoring. The game lasted 88 innings.

MOORE DEFEATS GREENLEAF

Captures Exhibition Three-Cushion Billiard Match, 300 to 254.

George Moore last night won the exhibition three-cushion billiard match from Ralph Greenleaf at the Strand Academy by a total score of 300 to 254 for the six blocks played. Moore won the final block by 50 to 35, and lost in the afternoon by 54 to 50, that being the only block won by Greenleaf. Moore had a high run of 6 in the final game to a run of 5 for Greenleaf. The former three-cushion champion was in good form throughout the match, and safety play was again the strong feature of his game.

Hoppe Makes Good Score.

Playing at the Jersey City Club in Jersey City last night Willie Hoppe was again in good form and won from Charles Peterson by a score of 400 to 125 in their exhibition 18.2 balkline billiard match. Hoppe had an average of 66 4-6. His high run of the game was 144.

Afterward Peterson gave an exhibition at straight rail and made 1,000 points in five minutes and one second.

Brown is also a new team on the schedule, which is as follows: Jan. 22, West Virginia at home; Feb. 5, Columbia away; Feb. 12, Penn State away; Feb. 19, Cornell away; Feb. 26, Springfield College at home; March 5, Brown at home; March 12, Penn at home; March 18-19 at Princeton.

Plan Building Stadium for Boston College Athletics

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—A stadium for Boston College probably will be included in plans for enlarging the institution, Rev. William Devlin, S. J., President of the college, said today. Consideration of the erection of a stadium was prompted, he said, both by the desirabilty of an athletic home for the undergraduates, and the fact that the unbeaten football eleven of Boston College will have an audience of upwards of 40,000 persons for its game with Holy Cross at Braves Field Saturday.

DE ORO IN SECOND PLACE.

Cuban on Even Terms With Jackson in Three-Cushion Tourney.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Alfredo de Oro of New York gained a tie for second place in the national three-cushion billiard championship tournament today by defeating Pierre Maupome of Milwaukee, 50 to 29. De Oro's high run was 5. The game went fifty-nine innings.

De Oro now shares second place with Clarence Jackson of Kansas City, each having won seven and lost two contests. John Layton leads with seven victories and one defeat.

COLUMBIA MAT MEN WILL BE KEPT BUSY

Blue and White Wrestlers Schedule Nine Dual Meets Besides the Title Matches.

Nine dual meets in addition to the intercollegiate championship constitute the Columbia wrestling schedule as announced yesterday by Robert W. Watt, Graduate Manager of Athletics. The Blue and White season will begin on Friday, Dec. 10 when Pratt Institute will be the attraction at the Morningside gymnasium. The closing test will be the intercollegiates, which will be held this year at Princeton on March 18 to 19. Meets with Princeton, Lehigh, Yale, Cornell, Penn and Brown are also on the schedule, but the customary trip to Annapolis will not be made this season.

A change in the point scoring system of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association, of which Columbia, Cornell, Penn, Penn State, Princeton and Yale are the members, was announced yesterday. This season a victory by decision will count only three points for the winner instead of four, but the five-point award for first place will remain unchanged. The purpose of the new regulation is to increase the incentive for a fall rather than for merely a decision on points.

The President of the association this season is J. B. Sweeley of Penn State, and the Secretary is C. A. Lazo of Cornell.

Coach Gus Peterson of Columbia is working with the largest squad in many years. Barrish is the only veteran who has been lost by graduation, and his place will be filled by Philip Hart, 135-pound metropolitan champion. Another star will be H. Potter, former amateur champion of New England, and Captain W. Pauli will take care of his division. Assisting Coach Peterson are Oscar Johnson, former national 118-pound champion, and Lieut. Commander Stecher, the brother of Joe Stecher.

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 10, Pratt Institute at New York.

Jan. 8, Pratt Institute at Brooklyn; 15, Princeton at New York.

Feb. 5, Lehigh at New York; 12, Cornell at New York; 18, Yale at New Haven; 26, Penn at Philadelphia.

March 5, Brooklyn Poly at Brooklyn; 12, Brown at Providence; 18 and 19, intercollegiates at Princeton.

Xavier Five Scores Victory.

Xavier High School's basketball team scored a victory yesterday in its third game of the season when it vanquished the Newark College of Technology quintet by the score of 33 to 20. The contest was held on the Xavier court. At the end of the first half the ultimate winners were leading by 14 to 7. Reilly and Carroll were the leaders in the Xavier attack.

POLICE HOLD THREE FOR $466,000 THEFT

Two Brothers and a Third Man Accused of Liberty Bond Hold-Up in Brooklyn.

AFTER OTHERS IN THE BAND

Officials Confident Last Night All the Bonds Would Be Recovered Before Morning.

A round-up of the robbers who stole $466,000 in Liberty bonds from two representatives of Kean, Taylor & Co., brokers at 5 Nassau Street, on Tuesday afternoon in front of the factory of Igoe Brothers, wire and nail manufacturers, at 67-73 Metropolitan Avenue, Brooklyn, was started last night by detectives under the direction of Acting Inspector John J. Coughlin, as a result of information obtained from Joseph and Tony di Gregario, who are under arrest on the charge of acting in concert in the crime.

Joseph di Gregario, who has a criminal record, made a statement to Assistant District Attorney Marshall Schneider in Brooklyn, involving several men, among them his brother Tony, 18, head messenger in the offices of Kean, Taylor & Co., who was one of two or three persons who knew of the delivery of the bonds.

A third arrest in the case was made early last evening, but police officials refused all information about it. It was said that the detectives were still hunting for the men who had the bonds and expected to have all of the men involved and the bonds before morning. Nearly all of the bonds are negotiable, but the police believe the robbers have not had an opportunity to dispose of them.

There were four men in the group that took part in the hold-up. Three attacked the messengers and the fourth drove them away in an automobile.

The di Gregario brothers were taken yesterday from Manhattan Police Headquarters to the Clymer Street Station in Brooklyn, where Captain Carey questioned them for some time. Their stories were checked by the police from every possible angle during the day. They verified the statement that Joseph had been arrested in 1919 for robbing a loft at 70 East Tenth Street, and had turned State's evidence and escaped with a light sentence.

Tony's record with Kean, Taylor & Co. apparently had been excellent in the five years he had been in their employ.

A list of the stolen bonds made public yesterday by Kean, Taylor & Co. disclosed that the total par value was $466,000, the figure given out Tuesday night by the police, and that all except $60,000 were negotiable.

Young Tells of Holdup.

Austin Young, the salesman who was carrying the bag containing the bonds when the holdup occurred, was permitted to return to his home late yesterday afternoon by the authorities. He had been aiding the police since the holdup.

On his way home, Young told the story of the hold-up to reporters. He told of getting off the elevated train at Marcy Avenue with Cohen and said:

"I first intended to take a taxi. I was carrying the bag and I was unarmed. I felt nervous, knowing what I was carrying. I changed my mind about the taxi and we started to walk. When I got near the Igoe Building it seemed as though a great load had been taken off my mind. I felt then I was safe with the bonds.

"Just then three men seemed to drop out of the heavens right in front of me. One of them pressed a gun to my side and demanded the bag. I became excited and bewildered, but even then I thought I had a chance to get away with the bag or cry out for help. I tried to make the building with the bag, and as I started to move two of the men stuck their revolvers against my side and held me tight. I put up a fight and was struck over the head. I still remember holding on to the bag. My legs gave way under me and I sank to the ground. I tried to hold to the bag, but they got it away from me.

"One of the men then placed a gun alongside my head and fired. I did not know that my ear had been wounded by the bullet until someone called my attention to it. I got up and ran after the men as they went down the street, and when I saw them go off in the machine I realized it would be useless for me to keep after them."

Cohen Returns to Work.

Irving Cohen, the 18-year-old messenger, was back at work at the office of the brokers yesterday afternoon. At his home, 1,248 Forty-fourth Street, Brooklyn, last night, he said:

"It all seems like a dream to me. The first thing I can remember was the pistol shot. Then I saw Young lying on the ground, one hand holding to the bag, and fighting with two men. Someone grabbed me with a tight grip about the neck. I was able to get only a poor look at his face, but I think I could pick him out again if I saw him.

"These men must have known we were coming and what we were bringing. It looks to me as though some one had tipped them off and they lay in wait for us."

INSURED FOR $1,750,000,000.

Massachusetts Residents Took Out $400,000,000 Last Year.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—Residents of this State are insured for $1,750,000,000, according to the annual report of Clarence W. Hobbs, State Commissioner of Insurance, made public tonight. Of this amount, $400,000,000 was written by life insurance companies in the last year.

The Commissioner reports that, notwithstanding the increase of business, operating expenses and influenza caused a depletion of surpluses. Many companies have been forced to reduce dividends.

Commissioner Hobbs says that in nine years of operation group insurance has established itself as an important and distinctive branch of life insurance.

LEAGUE TO PRESERVE SUNDAY RECREATION

County Clerk of the Bronx Starts Movement to Combat Blue Laws Campaign.

Robert L. Moran, County Clerk of the Bronx, announced yesterday that he would organize at once the League for the Preservation of Sunday Recreation. This league, according to its founder, is to function in all five boroughs and is to wage a vigorous warfare on those who want to impose their own ideas of how to spend Sunday on others with more liberal views. Mr. Moran said a citizens' committee would lead the organization and that it would co-operate with such others as have the same object in view.

It was explained that Mr. Moran felt particularly resentful of the activities of the Rev. Dr. Harry L. Bowlby, Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, a resident of New Jersey. The County Clerk believes the clergyman should confine his efforts to his own State, at least until he has brought that to the point of Sunday "perfection" which he desires for New York.

Mr. Moran's decision was based largely, it was said, upon his belief that a return to the old Puritan Sabbath would mean the renascence in this city of all sorts of secret haunts of vice and crime. Mr. Moran and some of those who are suporting him are convinced that, if all sorts of wholesome sports and amusements were made unlawful, thousands of persons would be driven, not into the churches, but into less healthful and lawful means of passing their weekly day of rest.

Assemblyman Samuel Dickstein announced that he would reintroduce when the Legislature convenes next month the bill which narrowly escaped passage last session amending the law regarding Sunday work so as to permit those who observe the seventh day instead of the first as the day of rest to engage in secular business.

A statement issued by the Freethinkers' Society of New York vigorously attacked the Lord's Day Alliance program.

The Sunday blue laws movement was bitterly assailed Monday night at a joint meeting of Woodhaven Post 118, the American Legion, and the Ladies' Auxiliary. A motion that letters be sent to each member of the State Legislature and to the Congressman from their district, urging them to oppose any measure restricting personal liberty, was the signal for an attack on the supporters of the Sunday blue law crusade.

MUST HELP PAY WAR BONUS.

Veterans of Foreign Armies Resident in Boston Taxed.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—Men who fought with foreign forces in the World War and now live here must pay part of the bonus given by the State to its service men. This was the announcement today by Frank S. Deland, city collector, of his attitude toward the reported decision by organizations of British and Canadian veterans to refuse to pay the combination poll and bonus tax this year because United States veterans are exempt.

The tax includes the usual $2 tax and $3 additional to meet the State bonus payment charges. Warrants for the arrest of delinquents will go out in a fortnight, Collector Deland said. There are 1,000 foreign veterans resident here who refuse to pay.

FILM FIRE IN TIMES SQUARE.

Metro Pictures Offices in Long Acre Building Slightly Damaged.

A fire in the projection room of the Metro Pictures Corporation on the eleventh floor of the Long Acre Building at Forty-second Street and Broadway just before noon yesterday attracted thousands of the lunch hour crowd in Times Square. A film which was on the machine being operated caught fire from a short circuit, it is thought, and fell to the floor, the flames immediately spreading to partitions and furniture.

The seventy-five persons in the corporation's offices escaped so quietly that other occupants of the building did not learn of the fire until after it was extinguished. The timely arrival of the firemen made it possible to confine the damage, estimated at not more than $4,000, to the Metro offices.

ACTS IN SUIT TO BAR RISE IN LIGHT RATES

O'Brien to Ask Injunction Against 3 Big Electric Concerns Today or Tomorrow.

PREDICTS PUBLIC HEARING

Censures Barrett for Permitting Increase — New Schedules Were Filed Before Nixon Quit.

Acting under instructions from Mayor Hylan, Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien began yesterday the preparation of papers in a suit to be instituted in the Supreme Court to restrain the three big electric light companies from advancing their rates 10 per cent. The high rate, based on the present price of bituminous coal over and above $3 a ton, went into effect yesterday.

Mr. O'Brien will base his application for an injunction on the ground that the new schedules filed by the companies were kept secret by the Public Service Commission when they were filed on Nov. 1 until a few hours before they became effective; that the city had no opportunity to examine the reasons set forth why the charge should be made, and that the commission failed in its legal obligation to call a public hearing.

It was said at Mr. O'Brien's office that the papers would be presented to the court today or tomorrow, and that an injunction order would undoubtedly be issued, thus giving the representatives of the people an opportunity to present their case in public.

It developed yesterday that the new rates were filed by the three electric companies, the New York and Brooklyn Edison Companies and the United Electric Light and Power Company, before Lewis Nixon resigned as Public Service Commissioner, and that the matter fell under the jurisdiction of Mr. Barrett as one of the pending matters before the commission. It was also disclosed that the electrical experts of the commission consumed more than a fortnight in trying to understand the complicated and technical method of the companies in preparing their new schedules.

Mr. Barrett said that in an interview attributed to Corporation Counsel O'Brien reference was made to an alleged statement by Randolph H. Nexsen, the commission's electrical expert, in which the latter was credited with having recommended a rejection by the commission of the new schedules. He explained that at first Mr. Nexsen withheld judgment until he had obtained further information from the companies and that, having obtained this, he approved of the surcharge.

SAY CLOTHING MAKERS SEEK PRE-WAR WAGES

Amalgamated Workers Issue Statement Telling of Break With Manufacturers.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, whose negotiations with the Clothing Manufacturers' Association of New York were virtually ended last Saturday, issued a memorandum to workers yesterday charging the manufacturers with attempting to force a return to pre-war wages.

"Formal conferences were broken off," says the statement, "when the organization refused to yield to the employers' demands for the introduction of the piece work system, unlimited power to 'hire and fire' and other points of the manufacturers' ultimatum. To have yielded to these orders would have set the garment workers of the city, and eventually of the entire country, back a full decade in their progress toward permanently improved conditions in the trade."

The statement said the seven demands of the manufacturers threatened "demoralization of the industry, higher clothing prices and widespread suffering among employes." It criticises the retention of Harry A. Gordon as counsel for the manufacturers, hopes for a peaceful settlement of the present dispute, but says, "If the Amalgamated were to give in to these seven points, it would be giving up the results of all its struggles for the past many years."

"The Duo-Art stands supreme among reproducing pianos and I do not hesitate to identify myself with it and to entrust it with my reputation."

(Signed) Harold Bauer

The Duo-Art Reproducing Piano

THE Duo-Art Piano reproduces the actual playing of the great pianists. Let your imagination have rein for a moment and realize what this means.

Suppose you owned a piano on which Paderewski had played the great masterpieces of music; compositions of Liszt, Chopin, Beethoven and all the other immortal composers. And suppose that right in your own home, whenever you desired, this miraculous instrument would repeat these performances as the master himself played them!

This is precisely what the Duo-Art Piano does. It reproduces the playing of Paderewski, Hofmann, Busoni, Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Ganz, Grainger, Novaes, Cortot, practically all the great pianists, and does it with absolute fidelity. Every element of tone, technique and expression is preserved, giving you a perfect reproduction of the artist's original performance. Excellent dance-music, also it plays—and accompaniments played by masters in their field.

Price Guarantee
THE prices of the Duo-Art Pianos are guaranteed until July 1, 1921. Should they be reduced by us before that date, we will refund the full amount of such reduction.

The Duo-Art Piano is also a Pianola; and as such it endows you with the ability to play yourself and express your own ideas of interpretation.

And finally it is a perfect piano, the most popular and enjoyable of all home instruments. There are five different pianos made as Duo-Arts: The Steinway, the Steck, the Wheelock, the Stroud and the famous Weber. Each of these is a leading instrument in its class.

BOLLING TESTIMONY DENIED BY CRANOR

Downey Representative Says He Never Discussed Ship Machinery With Official.

SISLER DOESN'T RECALL IT

Witness Asserts Late Senator Martin Interceded for Providence Company.

HEARINGS HERE CONCLUDED

Next Meeting of Committee to Be Held in Washington After Congress Convenes.

More contradictory testimony in connection with the alleged Downey-Sands-Bolling-Sisler-Cranor ship contract bribe was introduced yesterday when the Congressional Committee on Shipping Board Operations heard Lester Sisler, former Secretary of the Shipping Board, and John Cranor, a former representative of the Downey Shipbuilding Corporation. Both Mr. Sisler and Mr. Cranor took issue with R. Wilmer Bolling, Treasurer of the Shipping Board and brother-in-law of President Wilson. Mr. Bolling had testified that Mr. Cranor had complained to him of the diversion of some machinery from his to another company; that he had telephoned Mr. Sisler, and that the machinery then was shipped to the company Cranor represented. Mr. Cranor denied this. Mr. Sisler could not recall it, but was willing to take Mr. Bolling's word for it. For sending Mr. Cranor to Mr. Bolling, Tucker K. Sands was alleged to have got a $1,000 commission, out of which he offered "to take care" of Mr. Bolling.

Mr. Cranor also flatly denied the testimony of Mr. Sands, who had said he received $40,000 from Wallace Downey to be used in procuring a contract for the Downey Corporation. He said the $40,000 was a commission for arranging a $125,000 credit for the Providence Engineering Company.

Senator Martin Named.

The witness brought the name of the late Senator Thomas S. Martin of Virginia into the inquiry in connection with the diverted machinery. His company, he said, had ordered some "bending rolls" in Philadelphia in 1917. The following February Rear Admiral F. T. Bowles, an executive of the Shipping Board, instructed the Philadelphia concern to ship the machinery to San Francisco. Mr. Cranor testified he then went to Senator Martin, who took up the matter with Admiral Bowles. He at no time had approached either Sands or Mr. Bolling in this matter, nor had he paid Sands $1,000.

Mr. Cranor testified that Downey paid him a flat salary; that there was no understanding by which he was to share in the $40,000 commission to Sands and that Downey still owed him a year's salary.

The witness went to Washington, as Downey's representative, on Feb. 7, 1918. He was introduced to Edward N. Hurley, then Chairman of the Shipping Board, by Senator Martin, and learned that the Providence Engineering Company's bid for ten steel ships had been held up by the Credit Department of the board. He went to Sands. The banker offered to advance $125,000 if paid a commission of two per cent. on the $2,850,000 contract, or $57,000. This was later reduced to $40,000. The credit was established and the Providence Engineering Company got the contract.

Under cross-examination by Representative Kelly, Mr. Cranor said he did not know whether Downey ever had paid Sands the $40,000. Downey took charge of the matter after the credit had been arranged.

"Do you understand," asked Representative Kelly, "that it was customary for banks during the war to charge 40 per cent. on loans?"

"No," replied the witness, "but after 25 or 30 years' experience with bankers and banks, I know that they charge all they can get, and the greater the necessity the more they charge. Downey kicked like the devil about the charge of $40,000 but he probably thought it was as good as he could do here in New York. He did mention once in his conversation with me that he was afraid he would have to pay a big attorney's fee for an examination if the loan were put through in New York and a big banker's fee on top of that."

Cranor was asked by Representative Kelly whether Downey had provided him with an entertainment fund.

"No," he replied. "I had no entertaining to do except when some of you good-looking Congressmen came over to have a drink."

Drinks again figured in the testimony when Mr. Cranor told of a visit to Sands's apartment, where they made a toddy. He also asserted that sometimes he took a quart of liquor to Bolling's office, where he left it in a drawer for Bolling.

When Lester Sisler was recalled he was asked by Representative Kelly what he meant the night before when he said Sands regarded him as a "silent partner." He did not know unless it was that Sands regarded him as "a silent partner in the philanthropic work of helping his friends."

Mr. Sisler told of drawing a check on the Commercial National Bank, where he had no funds. He said it was an effort to compel Sands to repay $7,000 he owed him. The witness had instructed the assistant cashiers to kill the check and return it with an explanation of insufficient funds in case Sands did not pay it. He denied that he had threatened Sands.

William Denman of San Francisco, first Chairman of the Shipping Board, denied there was any controversy of moment over wooden ships between himself and General Goethals. While generally credited with having originated the wooden ship program, he said he did not believe in wooden ships as an established policy of the board. He favored the construction of steel ships driven by Diesel engines, that would become a permanent part of the American merchant marine. He believed the oil-driven ship would have to be adopted if this country were to meet future conditions of competition.

The committee then adjourned, to meet in Washington at the call of Chairman Walsh. The members left New York yesterday afternoon, expecting to return to their homes before going to the Capital for the reconvening of Congress. Following the Christmas recess the committee will resume its hearings for about a week in this city, and will have further hearings in Washington.

W. G. Lacombe, Treasurer of the Morgan Engineering Company of Jersey City, issued a statement denying allegations made by Charles Banzhaf, traveling auditor for the Shipping Board, to the effect that this company had made overcharges of $337,000 in connection with the reconditioning of the steamship New Rochelle, purchased from the board by the Baltic Steamship Company.

DECLARES SHIPPING DEFECTS CORRECTED

Benson Says Facts Were Known and Steps Were Taken Before Walsh Committee Met.

NEW BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Agrees to Prosecute All Graft Suspects—Members Unlikely to Be Confirmed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Defects in the operation of the Shipping Board discovered by the Walsh committee had been corrected or were on the way to be corrected before the Walsh committee met, according to a statement made by Admiral W. S. Benson, Chairman, to the new members of the board at their first meeting today, when all took the oath of office. This new board agreed to assist the Walsh committee in every way possible and push the prosecution of any one suspected of graft.

The board now consists of Admiral W. S. Benson, Chairman; John A. Donald of New York, Guy D. Goff of Wisconsin, Chester H. Rowell of California, Charles Sutter of Missouri, Joseph N. Teal of Oregon and Frederic I. Thompson of Alabama.

No formal organization of the board was effected, but Edward M. Hyzer, assistant counsel, was chosen to be chief counsel in succession to Colonel Goff, now a Commissioner. R. M. Bailey and R. H. Dean resigned as temporary trustees of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and the newcomers assumed these duties.

This statement was issued by Admiral Benson concerning the meeting:

"The Chairman stated to the new Commissioners that, so far as he had been able to determine from the report of the Walsh Committee and the evidence so far given before it, defects noted or reported had either been corrected or steps taken to correct them prior to the initial meeting of the Walsh committee.

"The board unanimously expressed the feeling that every effort should be made to assist the committee in its work, and to co-operate with it in every possible way in carrying out its investigations, and that every effort would be made to obtain further evidence and to prosecute all guilty parties as soon as such evidence was obtained, regardless of whether they were in the organization or outside."

Chairman Benson also gave out a statement, embodying a magazine article, which intimated that the American merchant marine was not receiving the support of American shippers. This article stated that Southern cotton shippers were being coerced by British spinners into using British ships insured by British companies. In part the Admiral's statement said:

"In view of the day being the occasion for the new board of seven members taking the oath of office, it might be well to again call upon the American press for a continuance of its support in our work of establishing a permanent merchant marine.

"People of the United States can point with pride to their merchant marine. There are always weak links that must be strengthened. We have been trying to do all that was humanly possible in that direction. Now that we have a new board of seven members, the burden resting upon the shoulders of Commissioner Donald and the Chairman can be distributed and greater progress result."

ASKS SENATE TO BAR WILSON NOMINEES

Bourne Calls for the Rejection of All Names Sent in Before March 4.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Ex-Senator Jonathan Bourne Jr., President of the Republican Publicity Association, has issued a call to the Republican Senate to reject all nominations sent to it by President Wilson. He says that the Senate will have before it thousands of recess appointments to vacancies occurring since Congress adjourned on June 5 and contends that the Senate "would be grossly recreant to the mandate of the people at the polls if it permits these Wilson appointees to be confirmed."

Mr. Bourne calls for the rejection of the long list of army promotions upon which the Senate will be asked to pass.

Mr. Bourne calls especially for the rejection of the nominations of the new members of the United States Shipping Board, who took the oath of office today under recess appointments given by President Wilson.

He inferentially favors the rejection of the nomination of Joseph P. Tumulty, Secretary to President Wilson, for a Federal judgeship. It is declared by Mr. Bourne that "it is announced by Mr. Tumulty that the President has offered him the Chief Justiceship of the Court of Customs Appeals, a life job at $10,000 a year."

SEND LOOT TO NORWAY.

Detectives Say Auto Thieves Dispose of Cars Abroad.

Sven Nyquist, a dealer in automobile accessories, was held in $10,000 bail yesterday by United States Commissioner Hitchcock for a hearing on the charge of being implicated in the theft of $100,000 worth of automobiles from the Cadillac Company at Detroit, Mich. Others alleged to have been concerned in the crime are two brothers, Almon and Lawrence McHugh, now under arrest in Detroit, and J. G. Burroughs, who recently was arrested in Bridgeport, Conn.

Government detectives who had been trying to unravel the mystery of the robbery reported yesterday to Assistant United States District Attorney Mattuck that they had obtained information that the automobiles had been stolen by an organized gang who had been operating in Bridgeport and Winsted, Conn., as well as in Detroit, and that the machines stolen in the latter city had been driven here, where they were concealed for some days and then shipped to Norway, where confederates sold them.

HARDING'S ELECTION MISUSED BY SOVIET

Bolshevist Organs Make It Appear President-Elect Plans to Recognize Lenin Regime.

MANOEUVRE SEEN AS RUSE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Evidence is reaching Washington that the Soviet organs at Moscow are busily engaged in a campaign of misrepresentation of the probable purposes and attitude of President-elect Harding toward Russia by trying to make it appear that Mr. Harding contemplates granting full recognition to the Soviet Government and will stand behind American capitalists, such as Washington D. Vanderlip and others, seeking or obtaining various kinds of concessions from Moscow for the exploration or exploitation of Russian national resources.

The purpose of this campaign of propaganda is believed by officials here to be mainly two-fold, first to stir friction between the United States and other Governments, on the theory that they might look askance at exclusive concessions granted to American capitalists; and secondly, to create the impression among foreign capitalists that American capital is trying to steal a march on England, Japan and other nations and is being supported in such a manoeuvre by the incoming American President.

Mr. Harding has not yet definitely stated what will be his attitude toward Soviet Russia, but it can now be revealed that all the information reaching Washington through authoritative channels from men believed to be in the confidence of the President-elect indicates that he has no intention of granting recognition to Soviet Russia, no intention any more than President Wilson of dealing with the Bolshevist leaders, and that it is not his purpose to deal with Moscow on the basis of the granting of concessions, exclusive or otherwise, to American prospectors, capitalists or business men. There is every indication that President-elect Harding will follow very much in the lines of the present settled American policy with respect to Russia.

LITHUANIANS SIGN TRUCE.

Geneva Hears of Success of League Control Commission.

GENEVA, Dec. 1 (Associated Press)—Official notification of the signing at Kovno yesterday of a protocol ending hostilities between the Lithuanians and the forces of General Zeligouski, the insurgent commander at Vilna, was received by Léon Bourgeois of the League of Nations organization today.

The protocol was signed as the result of the efforts of the special commission of the League sent to the Vilna district in an effort to solve the difficulties created by the occupation of Vilna by Zeligouski, the Polish insurgent general, after the close of the Polish-Russian campaign.

The message to M. Bourgeois was telegraphed by Colonel Chardigny, chairman of the Control Commission of the League.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—The armistice between General Zeligouski and the Lithuanians became effective last midnight according to a dispatch to the Foreign Office today from Colonel Chardigny, chairman of the Control Commission of the League of Nations in Kovno.

The armistice provides for a neutral strip between the two armies and the return of all prisoners, the dispatch adds.

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 1.—All the Danish political parties are endorsing the government's decision to accept the League of Nations' invitation to send a detachment of Danish soldiers to the Vilna plebiscite area.

POLES PROTEST TO SOVIET.

Propose That Date for Signing Final Peace Treaty Be Fixed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The Government of Poland has sent a communication of protest signed by Minister of Foreign Affairs Sapieha, addressed to the Soviet régime of Russia, objecting to the tactics of obstruction which he declares are being pursued by the Soviet peace delegation at Riga, who have been accusing the Poles of violation of the armistice and of aiding revolt against Moscow.

WARNS EXTREMIST UNIONS.

French Agricultural Federation to Expel Those Who Obey Moscow.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—All agricultural syndicates which adhere to the Third Internationale (Moscow) will be excluded from the Federation of Agricultural Workers.

This decision has been reached by the National Committee of the latter organization, it is stated in newspapers here.

CLOSE EDDY CHURCH CASES.

Counsel Clash at Final Hearing in Boston.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—Charles F. Choate Jr., as assistant to the State Attorney General, made the final argument before the full bench of the Supreme Court today on the four major actions involved in the Christian Science litigation and the hearing came to an end.

"It now lies in the hands of this court whether the Christian Science Church shall live or die," said Mr. Choate near the close.

Mr. Choate held that expediency in accomplishing the purposes of Mrs. Eddy must be considered in construing the deed she executed. For the purpose of that trust, he contended, it was essential that the Directors of the mother church should have power to remove the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society. Mrs. Eddy, he said, did not intend to vest the power of removal in two specific boards, the first members and the Directors, but in the board which represented the governing authority of the church.

Following Mr. Choate, W. G. Thompson, counsel for John V. Dittemore, rose. "I want to call attention to certain mistakes of the Attorney General's assistant," he said. "He has stated that the facts of the Aug. 2 meeting were not before the Master. The record shows the exact opposite."

Mr. Choate retorted:

"I take serious issue with Mr. Thompson's statement, both as to their truth and to the propriety of making them."

Edwin A. Krauthoff said that as a member of the mother church he objected to having the attorney General "tell us that we are not members of the church organized by Mrs. Eddy on Sept. 1, 1892, but that we are members of a church organized in August, 1892, by eleven persons we never heard of."

Attorney General Allen said that he had affidavits of persons present at the meeting in August, 1892, and that there were new facts in the case.

Would Bar All Aliens for Six Months: Net Increase Here 155,154 Since July 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Complete stoppage of immigration for six months, while Congress is drafting a general law to cover the whole question, is proposed in a bill which Senator King, a Democratic member of the Immigration Committee, is preparing for introduction soon after Congress meets.

Senator King said today that the admission of aliens to this country must be made more difficult and that it was necessary to prohibit all persons who were inoculated with "red" tendencies, from entering the United States.

The House Immigration Committee will meet tomorrow to begin work on bills dealing with immigration, which will be introduced at the coming session of Congress. Commissioner Wallis from Ellis Island is expected to appear before the Committee, possibly tomorrow. Other Government officials may appear, but members of the committee said they did not plan to hold further hearings.

Immigrants to the number of 369,857 arrived in this country during the four months of the fiscal year which began July 1, according to records at the Department of Labor. During the same time 214,705 persons left the United States, leaving a net increase in aliens in this country of 155,154 for that period.

Most of the immigrants came from Europe and most of the emigrants returned there. Despite the rapid increase in the flow of immigrants, department officials do not believe the excess of immigration from Europe will reach prewar figures for some time to come.

During the fiscal year ended June 30 emigration from this country to Europe exceeded immigration, the figures being 246,295 and 255,004 respectively. The total immigration, however, exceeded emigration by 144,386, this being accounted for by arrivals from Mexico, Canada and the Far East.

EX-KAISER DEMANDS ONE BILLION MARKS

Prussian Socialist Opposition to Compensation Bill Forces a Hasty Adjournment.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—The ex-Kaiser claims property valued at more than 1,000,000,000 marks. Here are a few instances of the audacity of his claims:

He demands 14,500,000 marks for what is called the "Academy Quarter" of Berlin. This property belongs to the State.

He wants 162,000,000 marks as compensation mainly for the loss of his civil list allowance. That allowance by law is made only "so long as the recipient occupies the throne."

He seeks to recover 103,000,000 marks for certain lands. These have been valued at 20,000,000 marks, while the only arable land included has a value of 1,700,000 marks. This latter demand also includes a sum to be paid for the Sollische Picture Gallery, which for hundreds of years has belonged to the State; so that more than 100,000,000 marks is demanded for next to nothing.

If all the claims of the ex-Kaiser, who, by the way, though he has abdicated, is still signing himself William Rex, were granted, he would receive 48,000,000 marks a year, or 30,000,000 marks more than he had while on the throne.

"In this fight for their fortune the Hohenzollerns," says Vorwärts, "have merely revealed that their house has for centuries been engaged in robbing the State."

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Discussing the Hohenzollern Compensation bill in the Prussian National Assembly a reactionary member, Dr. Kaufmann, characterized the opposition to the measure as dictated by the desire of the Socialists to flatter the lowest instincts of the masses. Thereupon a tumultuous scene ensued, the Socialists surrounding Dr. Kaufmann and threatening to throw him out. The Nationalists and other reactionaries formed a circle around Kaufmann, and the session seemed to be breaking up in a general fight when the President declared an adjournment.

BERLIN, Nov. 30 (Associated Press).—Disorderly scenes occurred in the Prussian Assembly today following a debate on a motion presented by the Majority Socialists which would transfer property owned by the Hohenzollern family to the Prussian State and would assign a suitable income to members of the former reigning house. So serious was the situation that the Vice President was compelled to suspend the sitting.

Herr Heilmann, a Socialist, who introduced the motion, argued that for every million marks paid to the Hohenzollerns, former enemies of Germany would "claim another billion in reparations." He declared there was no desire to deprive the Hohenzollerns of a livelihood, but, strictly speaking, they were not entitled to a penny, and "ought to be thankful for our magnanimity." He insisted there was danger to the German Republic in affording members of the Hohenzollern family the "means to pursue their pretentions to the German throne."

Disorder began when Herr Kaufmann, a Conservative, attacked Herr Heilmann. The Socialists shouted, and one threw a paper missile at Herr Kaufmann.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The sum of 50,000,000 marks, said Mr. Bonar Law in the House of Commons today, had been paid to the ex-Kaiser since, January, 1919. The great part of this sum, he added, appeared to have been paid in connection wiht the purchase of a house in Holland and was derived from the sale of property in Berlin.

The attention of the Reparations Commission had been called to the matter.

Asked if this money were recoverable, Mr. Bonar Law replied that it was not easy to recover money which had been smuggled out of Germany into another countrq.

Argument on the mandamus application will be heard on Dec. 14.

GEN. NIVELLE URGES WATCH UPON JAPAN

Quoted in Philadelphia as Mentioning Indications of Secret Compacts With Germany.

SAYS GERMANY CAN PAY

Would Let Her Join League if She Fulfills Her Obligations Under Versailles Treaty.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—General Robert Georges Nivelle, hero of Verdun, in this city is quoted in the evening papers today as warning against German propaganda seeking to rupture the friendly relations of France and the United States.

"Germany is trying to separate the Allies and play France against America," he is quoted as saying. "In this way Germany hopes to escape the conditions of the Peace Treaty. Germany's plea that she is unable to pay the indemnity imposed by the treaty is unfounded. During the war she expended large sums, it is true, but she has no devastated areas in urgent need of reconstruction. I am quite certain Germany will meet the conditions of the treaty when she realizes the alliance between France and the United States will endure.

"The outlook for world peace is most uncertain. Certainly it is not assured with Germany adopting a policy of fraud, trickery and evasion. In France the economic situation is well in hand, but France still suffers from the war.

"America and France are as yet untainted by Bolshevism, and even now France, the only nation in Europe to escape contact with this evil, is fighting against propaganda striking at its very heart."

Discussing the Japanese situation, General Nivelle said:

"Japan is preparing for something, what I cannot say. But Japan has an enormous war budget and there are indications of secret compacts with Germany. Of course, there is no proof, but nevertheless it will pay France and America to watch closely developments in Germany and Japan, for they are friendly nations."

General Nivelle expressed the opinion that Germany should be admitted to the League of Nations when she shall have shown evidence of good faith.

An immense crowd greeted the General and his party upon their arrival at Broad Street Station. To the address of welcome delivered by Mayor Moore, General Nivelle replied in English. He said, in part:

"The bond of friendship which has always existed between France and America is entirely too strong, too fundamental to be disturbed by any trifling thing which might cause breaks between other nations. France has helped America in her hour of need and the United States has helped France. The relations between the two nations have passed the stage of cordiality into a deep and lasting friendship."

THREE FRENCH REDS LOST IN WRECK AT SEA

Went to Russia as Delegates of Bolshevist Socialists to Learn "the Truth."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—News has reached Socialist circles in Paris that a delegation of three of their comrades who went on a mission to Moscow some time ago perished at the end of September in the wreck of their boat off the north Finnish coast.

They were last heard of at Mourmansk, when their intention was to return to France through Norway. To do so they hired a sailing boat to go to Vardoe on the extreme north coast. Their fate had since been a mystery.

Russian, Finnish and Swedish sympathizers at the request of the French Socialists undertook a search and they yesterday telegraphed to the Humanité that there was no longer doubt that they had perished at sea.

The three men were Raymond Lefebvre, Vergeat and Lepetit. They all belonged to the advanced Bolshevist section of the Socialist Party and went as a delegation from the revolutionary minority of the Labor Federation to learn "the truth."

Lefebvre was an exceptional young fellow of a good middle-class family and had been converted to revolutionary Socialism by the horrors of the war. He had shown great ability in the organization and direction of the movement and with the fire of a real revolutionary burning in him would probably have soon become one of the leaders of the movement in France.

FIGHT TYPHUS IN POLAND.

Red Cross Report Says Present Progress Means 10 Years' Struggle.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Prediction that at the present rate of progress it will take ten years to wipe out typhus in Poland, where there are 250,000 known cases, was made in a report to the American Red Cross headquarters here today from Dr. Charles E. S. Webster, who recently arrived in Warsaw to direct the organization's campaign against the disease.

Dr. Webster asserted that no immediate progress in combating the scourge could be made unless ample supplies of "disinfectants, soap, clean linen and clothing" became available.

FRANCE MAY RELENT TOWARD GREEK KING

Belief Constantine Will Be Permitted to Resume Throne and Sevres Treaty to Stand.

BRITISH POLICY WINNING

Venizelos's Defeat, It Is Held, Does Not Necessarily Mean Renunciation of His Policy.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—France will accept Constantine as King of Greece and there will be no revision of the Sevres Treaty, at least for the present. That is the double conclusion toward which the London negotiations are inevitably tending.

Information has just reached Paris—perhaps London knew it already—which throws a new light on the defeat of Venizelos. Firstly, the election was much more of an individual contest between Venizelos and the ex-King than is generally imagined here. Much as the Greeks admired their great Premier, they had a deep affection for Constantine, who had been adopted as the national hero during Greece's "great war" against Turkey. The people felt that he had been unfairly treated, and their national pride revolted against his arbitrary—as they considered it—expulsion by the Allies.

Secondly, there was the "swing of the pendulum" which in Greece, as in other countries, tends almost automatically to preserve the balance between those who hold office and distribute patronage and those who would like to do so. Its effects were intensified by the clean sweep the Venizelists had made of supporters of the old régime. In the army alone, where Constantine had been most popular, no fewer than 2,500 officers had resigned or been dismissed on account of their allegiance to the ex-King. Every one of them formed an active centre of agitation in favor of Constantine's return.

The third factor, which Venizelos himself had given as the principal reason for his downfall—dissatisfaction of the nation with long mobilization—did not operate quite as had been suggested here. That is, people were not so much opposed to mobilization itself as to the fact that while costly and onerous, it did not seem to be achieving much result. In other words—and this is the strong point of the English argument today—the defeat of Venizelos does not necessarily imply Greek renunciation of his policy of expansion.

It is now averred that reports of mutinies and disorder in the ranks of the Greek force in Asia Minor, which reached Paris just after the elections, have been considerably exaggerated. There is reason to believe, on the contrary, that the return of Constantine may have the effect of galvanizing the Greek Army into new and successful activity against the Turkish Nationalists. There are hints here that the ex-King is looked on quite favorably by Great Britain, and might be assured of no less a measure of support than that accorded to the late Premier, who, it is whispered, had not particularly delighted his British friends by untimely references to the restoration by England of the Greek Island of Cyprus.

In short, French policy is not meeting much success just now. The feature of the situation is that the Greek affair, combined with the Wrangel disaster, has provoked a marked tendency on the part of the French to go rather more slowly and not talk quite so much about acting on their own. The tone of press comment, which in Paris is mostly "inspired" by the authorities, is far more friendly toward England than was the case a few weeks ago.

That close entente with Great Britain may have to mean following the British lead is no doubt galling to French pride. On the other hand, the whole trend of British policy at present is essentially pacific, which cannot perhaps always be said of that of France.

CONSTANTINE CRIED WITH JOY OVER RETURN

ATHENS, Dec. 1.—The newspaper Astrapi announces that those persons who do not vote in the approaching plebiscite will lose their citizenship.

[Previous dispatches have represented the Venizelists as contemplating taking no part in the plebiscite.]

The Cabinet is sending a memorandum to the Allies in which will be outlined the Government's contention that the return of Constantine will not change Greece from a faithful ally.

The Royalists are lamenting the fact that Constantine cannot return to the Tatoi Palace, which was burned in 1915. They declare that the destruction of the palace was due to acts of the followers of Venizelos, and are asking that the charges of arson be reopened.

Prokopakos, valet of Constantine, on arriving here with the trunks of the former King, said his "adored master" had personally packed most of his clothes and had cried with joy at the prospect of returning to Greece.

The city is much bedecked with allied flags and also those of the United States. The wife of Prince Christopher who, before her marriage to him, was Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York, is attracting much attention.

Elias Panas, former Greek Foreign Minister, has left Athens for Geneva as representative of the new Government in the League of Nations.

General Papoulas, commander of the Greek forces on the Smyrna front, has sent a report to the Government here declaring that Mustapha Kemal Pasha is unable to attack the Greek army, the bulk of his troops now being required on the Armenian front.

FISCHER AGAIN IN HOSPITAL.

Warner of Wall Street Explosion Is Sent to Bellevue.

Edwin P. Fischer, the tennis player who predicted the Wall Street explosion last September in a post card sent from Canada to a friend in this city, was again sent to Bellevue Hospital for observation by Magistrate Max S. Levine in West Side Court yesterday.

This action was taken after Mrs. Robert Pope, of Forest Hills, a sister of Fischer, asked Magistrate Levine to send the tennis player back to the sanitarium at Amityville, L. I., from which he was paroled three weeks ago. The sister said he has violated his parole in annoying her and relatives and by making dire threats.

Fischer was sent to the Amityville institution on his return here from Canada and gained his release after insisting he was sane.

Smuggle Liquor by Airplane, Winnipeg Newspaper Reports

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1.—Airplanes are being used by an organized band of bootleggers for liquor smuggling operations across the United States border, local police reported today.

"The officials," according to a local paper, "now have full evidence proving the most thorough and costly organization on the part of law breakers, even to the extent that American smugglers have been and are guaranteed by certain liquor dealers and bootleggers against interference by Canadian law, so that when smugglers are captured the liquor people with whom they do business in Manitoba pay the penalties."

Within the last two months, the paper declared, forty-four automobiles have been seized by the mounted police and customs officials while actually engaged in smuggling operations.

HARDING MAY SPEAK AGAIN IN SENATE

Reported to Be Considering Matter as His Ship Drives North Through Storm.

DUE AT NORFOLK SATURDAY

President Wilson Renews Offer of the Mayflower, Which Will Be There Then.

ON BOARD STEAMSHIP PASTORES, Dec. 1 (By Wireless to The Associated Press).—More rough weather greeted Senator Harding and his vacation party today, as the Pastores continued the homeward journey.

Soon after the steamer left Port Antonio harbor last night she ran into a storm, which, although not of dangerous intensity, made travel unpleasant for most of those on board.

Mrs. Harding was one of those who remained in their stateroom, although she said she was feeling much better after the short stop ashore yesterday in Jamaica. Senator Harding proved the better sailor, keeping on deck most of the day.

During the day Mr. Harding interrupted his games to do work on several speeches which he will make soon after his arrival in the United States. The first will probably be delivered at Norfolk Saturday afternoon, and another Sunday at Bedford, Va., and it is not impossible that on the following Tuesday he will make a short address from his place in the Senate Chamber in the Capitol.

Mr. Harding has told his friends that he takes pride in being the first United States Senator to attain the highest office in the land and they say they would not be surprised if the President-elect took occasion during his visit to Washington to write a new paragraph in history by making a public utterance as President-elect from the floor of the Senate.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 1.—Thirty airplanes from Langley Field will greet President-elect Harding when he enters the Virginia Capes Saturday morning, according to announcement today. The machines will act as an escort for Mr. Harding, who will land at Old Point and later visit Norfolk and Newport News.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—By direction of President Wilson the yacht Mayflower has been offered to President-elect Harding, now on his way from Panama to Washington for conferences with Republican leaders. Secretary Daniels sent this message today by wireless to Senator Harding on the Pastores:

> The Mayflower will be in Hampton Roads upon your arrival and the President will be happy to place it at your disposal, as he understands you are coming to Washington from Norfolk.
>
> JOSEPHUS DANIELS.

Secretary Colby expects to leave Washington Friday for Hampton Roads, on the Mayflower, to board the battleship Florida, which has been assigned for his journey to South America. The Mayflower will thus be ready for Mr. Harding's use.

The President offered to Senator Harding the use of the Mayflower and a battleship for his journey to Panama, but the Senator declined it on the ground that his arrangements had already been made.

Mr. Harding is scheduled to reach Norfolk Saturday, will speak at Bedford, Va., Sunday, and is expected to arrive in Washington Monday.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 1.—The Gleaner, commenting on Senator Harding's visit, says: "In him we shall have a friend in one of the highest positions in the world. Nothing could be more fortunate for a colony which in the past has had so much bad fortune to place to the debit side of her account."

PLEA FOR FILIPINOS.

Governor General Harrison Says They Have Earned Independence.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Political activity and post-war economic disturbances have caused a renewal of sentiment in the Philippine Islands for independence, according to Governor General Burton Harrison's annual report, made public tonight. The Governor's recommendation that independence be granted is renewed with the declaration that "the stable Government stated as a pre-requisite has already been established in the Philippines."

"The public statements of allied and associated leaders during the war about the rights and liberties of small nationalities and the enunciation of the doctrine of self-determination have been widely disseminated in the Philippines," the report says, "and confidence in the prompt formation of the League of Nations seems to offer future security for Philippine independence."

The first general elections in the islands, in July, 1919, demonstrated the ability of the Filipinos to effect a political Government, the report says, although irregularities and defects in the election laws were apparent. It recommends equal suffrage for the islands.

Expenditures for the year exceeded revenue by about $3,500,000, leaving a treasury surplus from former years of about $14,000,000. Preliminary census figures for the islands showed a population of about 10,350,000 persons, of whom but 855,000 were non-Christians.

New Bill Fixes Heavy Penalties Applicable to Correspondents.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Dec. 1.—The Hungarian Government has introduced into the National Assembly a bill for the defense of the realm which is of the utmost importance to all foreign correspondents in Budapest. The terms of the bill, which has already passed the special committee for the approval of Government bills, must inevitably strike first and hardest at honest journalism, as things are at present in Budapest.

It proposes that any one making unfounded charges against Hungary or so interpreting facts that Hungary's reputation and credit are damaged is guilty of a crime punishable with the maximum of five years' imprisonment and a fine of 10,000 kronen.

In the case of foreigners so acting they will be ejected from Hungary or permission to enter the country refused.

OPENS WAY TO RAISE ANTHRACITE WAGES

Secretary Wilson Tells Joint Scale Committee It Has Power to Act.

OPERATORS MUST CONSENT

Government Will Not Interfere with New Advance if Both Sides Agree.

FEDERAL AWARD MUST HOLD

Operators' and Miners' Representatives Meet in Labor Secretary's Office for Conference.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The door to wage increases in the anthracite coal industry beyond the 17 per cent. advance awarded by the Federal Commission last August was opened today at a conference between the Anthracite Joint Scale Committee and Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor.

The Government, Secretary Wilson advised the committee, would not interfere with any changes which the committee might agree to make in the Federal Commission's agreement. This was understood to mean that the scale committee may increase wages above the scales laid down in the agreement under which the mines now are operating, provided the operators consent.

Secretary Wilson's statement was an interpretation of President Wilson's recent letter regarding revision of the Federal Commission award.

Secretary Wilson's Statement.

"The operators and miners of the Joint Scale Committee of the anthracite coal field," Secretary Wilson's statement said, "have had a misunderstanding concerning their authority under the communication of the President reconvening the scale committee. It is definitely understood that the agreement now in existence will continue in force and effect during the time for which it was entered into. The Secretary of Labor has interpreted the communication of the President to mean that the Government will not interfere with the Joint Scale Committee in making any changes which they may mutually agree should be made in the agreement."

This was supplemented by an informal announcement that the Joint Scale Committee would resume its deliberations next Monday afternoon at Philadelphia.

This leaves future negotiations regarding wage increases largely dependent on the action of the operators. Secretary Wilson's statement, it was asserted, gives the operators leeway to consent to wage increases higher than those prescribed by the Federal commission last August, but the operators' representatives at today's conference declined to give any indication of their attitude.

No statement was made by either operators' or miners' representatives.

Decision Rests with Operators.

Operators' representatives on the Joint Scale Committee, it was said, have held that they were without authority to agree to any wage increases in excess of the scales prescribed by the Federal commission's August award. In the conference today it was reported that the recent action of the bituminous Joint Scale Committee in raising certain wage scales above those fixed by the Federal commission was cited as a precedent against the operators' stand.

This was the dispute, or "misunderstanding," which, it was asserted, Secretary Wilson's statement was issued to clear up today.

The conference held in Secretary Wilson's office was attended by Representing the anthracite operators were S. D. Warriner of Philadelphia, W. D. Richards of Pottsville, Pa.; F. Huber of Wilkes-Barre and Frank Hemmelright of Scranton. The Mine Workers' representatives were Philip Murray of Pittsburgh, Vice President of the United Mine Workers of America, and John [illegible] of Scranton, Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton and C. J. Golden of Shamokin, all district Presidents. James A. Gorman, Secretary of the Federal Commission, was also in the conference.

No Wage Cut, Say Miners.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 1.—The United Mine Workers of America will not ask for any reduction in wages, according to the December issue of the United Mine Workers' Journal. This policy is stated in connection with a discussion of the movement among employers throughout the country for a reduction of wages in the various industries.

EX-KAISERIN IS BETTER.

Slight Improvement Is Reported, but Death Is Expected Soon.

THE HAGUE, Dec. 1.—In response to a telephone inquiry regarding the condition of the former German Empress, the daughter of the Burgomaster of Doorn said that Augusta Victoria was somewhat improved today. This was confirmed by reports received earlier in the evening from the Associated Press correspondent at Doorn. The Burgomaster's house at Doorn was called by telephone through Amsterdam, as the regular telegraph and telephone communication with Doorn ceases at 9 o'clock at night.

Similar information concerning the condition of the former Empress was obtained by the Reuter correspondent, the report in this case being to the effect that "the Kaiserin is somewhat better today."

The last edition of The Amsterdam Handelsblad this evening said that the death of the former Empress might be expected at any moment.

DOORN, Holland, Dec. 1 (Associated Press).—One of the officials of Doorn House said to the Associated Press correspondent this afternoon: "Her Majesty, realizing the seriousness of her condition, is quite resigned, and she longs for the end of her sufferings, which began in 1918."

Although very ill, the ex-Kaiserin was able this morning to see her daughter, the Duchess of Brunswick, and pray with Dr. Ernst von Dryander, who was Grand Chaplain of the German Court.

The Verband announces that they are in position to sell 1,000 tons monthly during January, February and March and probably 500 tons in December.

SILENT ON RYAN'S AFFAIRS.

Wall Street Now Thinks Untermyer Won't Start New Inquiry.

Both Samuel Untermyer and Allan A. Ryan maintained yesterday the policy of silence they adopted on Tuesday when Mr. Untermyer agreed to take legal charge of Mr. Ryan's financial affairs.

While the first mention of Mr. Untermyer's name gave rise to a belief among bankers and brokers that he might try to bring about another public investigation such as that of the Pujo "Money Trust" committee, for which he was attorney in 1913, and might follow that with new efforts at Stock Exchange regulation, the belief grew yesterday that he would content himself with watching his client's personal and private interests. His letter to Mr. Ryan, in which he suggested need for modification of "the transaction" with the banks involved, strengthened this impression.

It was reported that Mr. Ryan was busy with the assistants named by Mr. Untermyer preparing a statement of his financial position to conserve the time of his attorney, who is busy with the Lockwood committee's investigation.

The quotations are for six months' paper.

They Are Back After More.

No better illustration of the adage about hope springing eternal in the human breast has been given for some time, according to well-posted men in the downtown dry goods trade, than the efforts of certain speculative buyers of unfinished cottons to "get in" on the rise that has marked the more active selling of these cloths here in the last few days. Although there has as yet been no large amount of speculative buying done, this is said to be due more to the unwillingness of most sellers to deal with that type of buyer than to any lack of desire on the part of the latter to do business. One of the most interesting things about the present situation is that some of the would-be buyers were quite smartly "stung" by the recent break in the market.

Selling Effort Unrewarded.

A woolen salesman told yesterday of making thirty-two visits in an out of town market recently, which yielded him orders for just four pieces of goods. He made these visits during the course of one day. The second day, another round of the market did not get him a single order, so he took the train back home that evening. In most of the houses he called upon he found buyers intent upon straightening out their present difficulties to the exclusion of all other business. Many of his customers professed to have enough goods to keep them supplied for some months to come. This was particularly true of the cloak trade. In his opinion, the local market offers a better field of operations at present than the out of town centres.

Thinking in Extremes.

According to a prominent retail executive, the wartime habit of thinking in extremes has not yet passed out of fashion. Many merchants, he pointed out, are counting on either enough holiday business to pull them out of their readjustment difficulties or a trade boom after the turn of the year which will similarly help their affairs. It does not do, he declared, to put too much faith in either of these developments. "A large part of the present trouble," he said, "is still due to the habit of thinking in extremes. Business with a lot of merchants, in other words, is either very good or very bad. The time has come to think in less exaggerated forms, and those who don't are only prolonging their difficulties."

Children's Hats to Ape Women's.

Children's hats for Spring will ape women's to a considerable extent, so far as the materials of which they are made are concerned. As in the latter, fabrics promise to be widely used in children's hats for the coming season. Grosgrain effects, gros de londres, brocaded silks, satins, batavia cloths and taffetas are among the materials most employed. The trimmings consist of appliquéd fruits made of silk, embroideries wrought in bright-colored wool, tassels of wool and bows and sashes of the same materials as those used in the hats themselves. Flowers of bright worsted are also used as garnitures.

Silk Show Plans.

As part of the program for the International Silk Show, to be held at the Grand Central Palace during the week of Feb. 7 to 12, it is planned to hold special mill district days. This will make possible the attendance of mill operatives, superintendents and members of local commercial organizations who will visit the exposition in groups on special days. A special committee will be named to look after this part of the program. The manufacturers' exposition is to be followed by a Silk Week throughout the country, though it was first planned to hold the two together.

Gray Goods Continue Active.

Active buying and stronger prices were again the keynote of the local gray goods market yesterday. Practically all of the business done was for delivery during the next two months. In the printcloths, buyers took 39-inch 80 squares at 11 cents, and 68-72s at 9¼ cents. They also bought 38½-inch 64-60s and 60-48s at 8¼ and 7 cents, respectively. Sales of the coarser goods included 8.50-yard drills at 10 cents, as well as 5 and 5.50-yard sheetings at 7½ and 6¾ cents, respectively.

Overcoat Reductions Not So Much.

Inquiry in the local clothing trade yesterday established the fact that the reductions taken upon overcoats have not been so heavy as those which occurred on suits when the price guarantee came to an end. Concessions up to 50 per cent. were offered by manufacturers overloaded with suits, but the discount on overcoats, it is said, will not average up to a third off. The reason given for this is that overcoat stocks are not as heavy as were the accumulations of suits. In fact, it was stated on good authority yesterday that the retailers sought earlier in the month to have the overcoat price guarantee rescinded because of the condition described.

Chemical Prices Being Cut.

American manufacturers of fine chemicals continue to cut prices, Drug and Chemical Markets will say today, owing to the competition from imported goods, lack of demand and the lower cost of raw materials. The most pronounced declines have probably taken place, but the market is still weak. Manufacturers are expected to enter the market for crude drugs soon after the first of the year. Purchases at present are scarcely 10 per cent. of normal requirements. The demand for dyes for use in the textile industries is slow, and there are large stocks of colors and intermediates in producers' hands.

Holiday Buying Gaining Fast.

With Christmas only a little more than three weeks away, holiday buying is picking up rapidly in the retail stores. Even yesterday's disagreeable weather could not prevent large numbers of women from coming to the shopping districts. That the buying of gift articles was primarily in their minds, however, was shown by the way departments offering goods of that kind were patronized, as compared with those in which "regular" merchandise was sold. Not only were the ready-to-wear departments, for instance, practically deserted, but in several of the garment specialty shops there were more salespeople than customers at mid-afternoon. Even particularly attractive "specials" appeared unable to overcome the lure of holiday merchandise.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Recovery in Stocks After Early Decline—Money 7, Exchange and Silver Higher.

With transactions on the Stock Exchange which reached a million shares for the first time since last Friday, yesterday's market at first declined, then moved up sharply again, and ended the day with net gains and net losses about equally divided. Comparatively few of the final changes were important; most of them were only fractions. For a time the market's outward appearance was distinctly weak. A number of the railway shares sold at prices 2 to 4 points below Tuesday's closing and declines of 1 to 2 points occurred in the active industrials.

This lasted until the closing hours, when the sudden appearance of active buying at the lower prices turned the whole market, with the resultant pretty complete recovery. When it became known that the Southern Pacific "segregation plan" would be announced in the evening, three hours after the Stock Exchange had closed, conjecture as to its character became the principal topic of Wall Street discussion. The plan as eventually given out was an interesting case of the distribution of company assets to company shareholders. It is naturally intended that the shareholders who are allowed to subscribe to the new "oil land corporation" at a designated price should receive the privilege as a substantial bonus, and such it may turn out to be. But the curious element of speculation which is introduced by the fact that no one can do more than guess at the actual value of 234,000 acres of undeveloped oil prospects, gives an unusual aspect to the matter.

Elsewhere than on the Stock Exchange, resistance to pressure in the direction of lower prices was equally marked. Wheat declined a full cent at Chicago in the early trading, then advanced 8 cents from the lowest and closed with a gain of 5½ cents for the day. The cotton market, after several hours of uncertainty, ended ⅝ of a cent per pound above Tuesday and nearly 1¼ cents above Saturday. Foreign exchange, which also had its hour of weakness in the morning, closed as a rule at a slight advance. Silver bullion rose ¾ of a penny from yesterday's low level of the year at London and 1⅝ cents at New York.

Taken as a whole, the day's markets undoubtedly displayed a more uniform tendency to returning steadiness than on any day since the scattered indications of a halt to the various declining movements came in sight. This did not occur because of easier money; the Stock Exchange rate for call loans held at 7 per cent. all day, which meant that the market was firmer than on any day since the middle of November. No one was taken by surprise at this, however; Wall Street now recognizes that last week's downward movement was premature. It is interesting to observe, however, that the week's money market at London has been steadily declining. For call loans the rate has gone this week from 5½ per cent. to 4½; for short-term bills, from 6⅞ to 6½. Not many weeks ago, even Lombard Street was talking of a possible rise in the Bank of England rate above 7 per cent.

Mid-week reviews of the steel trade again point to a puzzling condition. The Iron Age says positively, of the reduction of many products by the independent mills to the Steel Corporation's prices, that "thus far none of the cuts have had any effect on buying." It is not altogether easy to see why it should have much effect, if any, when the Corporation has been maintaining those prices all along and is able to work at larger capacity than today's.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Quiet Dealings Bring an Irregular Array of Rates—Sterling Off ¼ Cent.

The foreign exchange market was irregular yesterday, the changes, however, being slight. Sterling was a quarter-cent lower than on Tuesday with a final rate of 3.48¼. Francs and lire were a trifle better and the Dutch, Norwegian, Polish and Serbian quotations were firm. The Far Eastern exchanges tended upward, especially several of the Chinese rates. Business was quiet in all the exchanges.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Porphyry Dividends.

Directors of the porphyry copper companies, Utah, Chino, Ray Consolidated and Nevada, will meet next week for dividend declarations. Considerable interest attaches to the action that will be taken. The dividends have been declining this year because of the untoward conditions prevailing in the copper market. Whether further reduction will be necessary is a question of debate. At any rate this much can be said, that the copper market at the moment is in a more demoralized position than at any time this year. Selling copper at less than 14 cents a pound is not a procedure which swells the amount of money available for dividends. When the first reductions in dividends were made early this year it was stated that the copper companies hoped that conditions would warrant a return to the higher dividend level before the close of the year. This hope has now passed into the discard.

Steel Common Below 80.

Selling ex dividend, Steel common dipped below 80 yesterday, bear traders pounding the issue heavily, apparently in the belief that driving Steel through 80 would unsettle the whole list. The plan, however, did not work out to any particular advantage. Steel rallied sharply before the close and actually scored an advance on the day of more than a point. Already there is beginning to be some discussion of Steel Corporation earnings for the final quarter of this year. Those who have been predicting a poor display may find themselves greatly surprised. All reports indicate that the Steel Corporation is holding to a high level of operations, the unfilled tonnage being sufficient to warrant this course. Should this condition continue through December, earnings applicable for dividends would probably compare favorably with third quarter earnings.

Sinclair Stockholders.

Reports by the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation indicate that Sinclair stock is gradually going out of Wall Street. On Nov. 28, the total of stockholders was 22,500. Since the consolidation it is said that the number of stockholders has doubled with an increasing number of small holders. The decline in brokerage holdings in a week's time was some 26,000 shares and the amount of such stock has decreased by about 100,000 shares in the last five months.

⁂

Municipal Bonds Strong.

The trend in the municipal bond market during November was toward considerably higher prices, according to The Daily Bond Buyer, which reports that there was unusual activity. New issues aggregating about $50,000,000 were disposed of during last month. The unsettled business condition, the slump in stocks and commodities, and the sharp decline in money rates are held attributable for the attractiveness of the high grade municipals, which have also benefited because of their freedom from taxation.

Money at 7 Per Cent.

Call money stood at 7 per cent. throughout the session yesterday, it being the first time since Oct. 21 that this particular rate had obtained for a full day. The rate had been higher and it had been lower in the meantime, but never at precisely that figure for a full five-hour session. After the close it was reported that an odd lot of money had loaned at 7½ per cent. In explaining the firmness, the Street seemed satisfied with the theory that it was preparation for the Dec. 15 taxes.

⁂

Government Withdrawals.

The Government will withdraw some $12,000,000 of its funds on deposit with banks in this Federal Reserve district today, and took out about $20,000,000 on Tuesday. This total of $32,000,000 out of the district should mean about $28,000,000 out of banks in New York City, and as the Government only had $35,447,000 on deposit when the actual bank statement was compiled last week, the balance left after today's withdrawals should be down around $7,500,000, which is lower than any reported balance since the Government started keeping large sums here in May, 1917. The low record for that period now stands at $8,599,000, for the week of Nov. 13, last.

Liberty Bonds Recede.

Liberty bonds were unusually active yesterday and at the close of business most of them showed declines ranging from ¼ to nearly a full point. In bond circles it was said that a good deal of selling was coming from individuals and corporations which need cash with which to meet the last instalment of income and profits taxes, due Dec. 15, and are fearful of being unable to raise it at the last minute. In addition, selling of war bonds to establish losses for the purpose of making next year's income tax returns also is beginning to speed up. As an offset, it was reported that the Treasury was exercising the sinking fund and buying bonds in hopes of steadying the market.

Gold Going Out.

Information obtained yesterday indicated that the Japanese takings of American gold during December will aggregate approximately $10,000,000, as against about $17,000,000 exported to Japan in November. For the six months which will end with the conclusion of December, the Japanese takings will thus total in the neighborhood of $75,000,000, which is somewhat in excess of the gold the country has gained as a result of American purchases of new Transvaal gold in the London market in the same period.

Cuban Affairs.

There was another meeting of the banking group which is working on the proposition to float a big loan here for the Cuban Government at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. yesterday but, so far as could be learned, no very material progress was made. There will be another meeting on this subject today and it was said yesterday afternoon that there might be an important statement after its conclusion.

⁂

The Southern Pacific Plan.

On the theory that the decline of Tuesday in Southern Pacific shares was predicated not on the chance that there would be no definite announcement of the segregation plan this week as on the preceding day but on the belief that insiders had sold some stock, the speculative element which has found the stock attractive offered it freely yesterday even before it became known that the plan as adopted would be announced at 6 o'clock last night. After it was established that definite announcement would be made, the amount of stock pressing on the market increased in volume as rumors regarding the outline of a separation of the company's oil and railroad properties were circulated. A sharp upturn in Southern Pacific rights on the Curb toward the close of the session was followed by a rapid recovery in the price for the stock on the big board which regained all of its earlier loss and closed a full point higher than on Tuesday. Accompanying the rally were rumors that the plan was much more favorable to stockholders than had been generally supposed.

RAILROADS REPORT RISE IN EARNINGS

New York Central Lines Show for October 30.8 Per Cent. Gain Over 1919.

PENNSYLVANIA ALSO BETTER

Big Improvement Revealed in Figures of the Chesapeake & Ohio Company.

While evidence is contained in the October earnings statement of the New York Central Lines, as submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, that there was a smaller volume of traffic in some sections during the month, there was a substantial improvement shown over the report for September, while gains over the corresponding month in 1919 were good.

There was an increase of 30.8 per cent. in gross revenues as compared with October of last year, and net operating income showed a slight gain as compared with a decrease of about 8 per cent. reported in September from figures covering the same month of 1919.

The report of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the month shows gross amounting to $60,603,431, as compared with $47,112,824, while net operating income after expenses totaled $3,978,621, as compared with $3,050,601 in October of last year. For the ten months ended with October, however, the report of the company to the Interstate Commerce Commission is not so favorable. The burden of increased operating expenses caused by the wage increases and the maintenance and other operating cost increases resulted in a net operating deficit amounting to $52,633,665, which compared with net operating income in October, 1919, of $25,074,733.

The gross operating revenues for ten months were $456,155,674, as compared with $412,147,998 in October, 1919, and $378,587,705 in the corresponding 1918 month.

The Chesapeake & Ohio report for October reflected big improvement over the preceding year. Gross revenues for the month were $10,075,590, as compared with $6,771,577, and net operating income was $2,572,000, as compared with $445,659 in October, 1919.

Ireland in Foreign Trade.

In 1913 there was an excess of £590,000 imports over exports; in 1918 the surplus of exports was £26,915,000, and the "export excess" was £17,316,000 even in 1919.

STEEL PRICES CUT BY INDEPENDENTS

The Iron Age Reports Recessions Carrying Quotations Below the Leader's Level.

BUYERS STILL HOLDING OFF

Orders Already Placed Indicate 1921 Will Be Banner Rail Year of Decade.

Reductions in prices by independent steel companies have become more general recently according to The Iron Age. In many instances it is said that the recessions have carried quotations to the Steel Corporation level. The cuts, however, have had little effect in stimulating buying. In discussing the situation this publication says:

"General reductions in the prices of independent steel companies have come in the last week. In some cases announcements have been made that the Steel Corporation's prices would be met, one large Pittsburgh company indicating that it would sell plates at 2.65c, structural shapes at 2.45c and bars at 2.35c, Pittsburgh and wire nails at $3.25 per keg. In other cases the reductions have become public through the meeting of Steel Corporation prices in actual transactions.

"Prices above the Steel Corporation level still exist on a number of products. The situation is, in brief, that the independent producers are getting more money for products for which they still have fair-sized contracts—products on which the corporation is rather fully booked. Prices on wrought pipe, for example, are quite well maintained.

"The situation as to rails is still much discussed in view of the large orders already placed and the probability that 1921 will be the largest rail year in a decade, with a total well above 3,000,000 tons. Seeing that the total consumption of the heavier rails in the six full years since 1913 was 4,500,000 tons below that of the preceding six years, it is not surprising that standard section orders for 1921 are running more than 20 per cent. larger than in recent years.

"Indications now point to a dual price on rails—a $47 Steel Corporation base for open-hearth rails and a $57 price for rails furnished by certain independent mills."

The Iron Trade Review says:

"For the first time in practically twelve months the iron and steel market presents something approaching a condition of price uniformity. The official pronouncement against any advances by the Steel Corporation a week ago, as expected, has done more to clear up the ambiguous price situation long existing than any single development in many months. With the initial announcement of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company Nov. 27, there has been inaugurated a rapid retrograde movement among independent producers back to the schedule approved March 21, 1919, by the industrial board which, except in wire products and one or two other lines, has been followed consistently by the leading steel maker.

"With equality of price competition restored in various mill products, the volume of new business brought forth from waiting buyers as yet has been unimportant. Some tonnages in bars are reported to have been booked by independent manufacturers at the new basis, but this has been exceptional.

"The week has been fairly replete with reductions of prices in finished steel by independent producers. With some exceptions, especially among Eastern mills, there has been a general adoption of the Steel Corporation prices. At least two independent makers are down to the 3.25 minimum on plain wire, though one of them has not dropped all the way on nails."

GOOD WEATHER FOR CROPS.

Fall-Sown Grains Doing Well—Slow Picking of Cotton.

The Government's weekly bulletin of crop and harvest conditions is as follows:

The moderate temperatures and mostly light precipitation in Arkansas and Oklahoma were favorable for gathering cotton still in the fields in those States. Picking progressed slowly in Oklahoma, however, and the quality of the staple remaining unpicked is steadily deteriorating on account of the exposure to the weather. Considerable low-grade cotton is being abandoned in Texas. Fair progress was made in harvesting in Tennessee and the Carolinas, and the picking has been practically completed in all portions of the East Gulf States. Considerable cotton remains in the fields in the northeastern portion of the belt.

The work of corn husking and cribbing was delayed by rain the latter part of the week in most northern and some central parts of the corn belt. Fair to good progress was made the first part of the week and harvest is well advanced in most sections.

The weather continued favorable during the week just closed for Fall-sown grains in practically all sections of the country. Winter wheat continues in good to excellent condition and showing steady improvement in most sections. Moderate rains at the close of the week in the Missouri Valley were timely and very favorable, while the increased soil moisture in the Middle and South Atlantic States favorably affected grains in those sections.

MILL CO. RECEIVER ASKED.

Lack of Orders Closed Lowell Textile Plant in October.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—A petition for the appointment of a receiver of the Lowell Textile Company, cotton manufacturers of North Chelmsford, was filed in the Federal Court today by Clarence N. Frolich and William V. Barbour of Memphis, Tenn., who represent themselves as creditors to the extent of $60,896 for cotton sold the company.

The bill of complaint says that the company has plenty of assets to pay the claim without loss to any of its creditors, but that, if sale of its goods is forced, the property will be "completely disintegrated." Judge Anderson set Dec. 6 for a hearing.

LOWELL, Dec. 1.—The plant of the Lowell Textile Company has been closed since early in October for want of orders. The company has $130,000 capital. The principal stockholder is Harold Selfridge of North Chelmsford.

It started operations a few years ago for the manufacture of towels, and its plant is regarded as one of the best equipped in this section. Before the shutdown 150 hands were employed.

EFFORT TO MAKE CONTRACTS STICK

Textile Interests Form Organization to Put an End to the Cancellation Evil.

ARBITRATION ONE AGENCY

Uniform Contracts and Sales Conditions, and Also Rating Reports, to Be Made Use Of.

A meeting of prominent textile interests at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday took the preliminary steps toward the formation of what is to be known as the National Bureau of Commercial Contracts. The purpose of this organization will be to overcome the evils resulting from the failure to observe the obligations of commercial contracts between buyer and seller, and the membership will be composed of delegates from each association or trade participating in the activities for which the organization stands. It was brought out at the meeting that American honor is involved in the status of contractual obligations and, while various speakers emphasized the moral issue at stake, others described practical plans for the elimination of cancellations which, according to one estimate, have cost business in this country a quarter of a billion dollars in the last year. Colonel John P. Wood, of Philadelphia, was appointed Chairman of the new organization and will select an Executive Committee of twenty-one members which will carry out the policy determined by the membership.

The activities of the National Bureau of Commercial Contracts, which were enumerated in a memorandum placed before the meeting and which will serve as general instructions for the committee to be named, are as follows:

To prescribe such uniform conditions of sale as shall effectuate the purpose of the bureau.

To establish a uniform type of commercial contract, to provide for arbitration of all disputes arising under such contracts.

To provide rules of procedure for the arbitration of such contracts and the enforcement thereof.

To encourage a mutual respect for such contracts.

To conduct a campaign of publicity emphasizing the evil consequences arising from the cancellation or other breach of contract between buyer and seller.

To endeavor to effect such necessary and desirable changes in State and national laws as are essential to the just enforcement of contracts and to uphold the integrity of American business ethics.

To endeavor to cause commercial rating agencies to incorporate in their reports a statement of the tendency toward cancellation of contracts in the firm report.

It was pointed out that the New York State law, which regards the result of commercial arbitration in almost the light of a judgment, is a desirable one, and like legislation should be obtained in other States to govern intrastate commerce, with a Federal regulation to cover interstate transactions. Regarding commercial rating reports, it was explained that note is made of fires, which are often unfortunate occurrences, whereas information concerning claims and cancellations, which is much more important, is not included.

The memorandum submitted to the meeting also suggested a clause to be made a part of all contracts. It read: "This order is given and accepted with the mutual understanding that it is subject to all the conditions contained in the rules of the National Bureau of Commercial Contracts that are in effect on the date hereof."

The opening address was made by Col. Wood, who presided. He explained the purposes of the meeting and reviewed the situation. Each industry, he stated, has its own individual problems which require specialized effort to solve, but fundamental principles should be laid down to govern all transactions and raise the standards of contractual obligations.

J. Harry Tregoe, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, emphasized the need of a broad vision in dealing with the cancellation evil, inasmuch as the condition is worldwide in scope.

"The nerve centre of commerce," he said, "is conscience, and the heritage of war has been the shattering of morals." He stressed the need of a "vertical" as well as a parallel co-operation. Vertical co-operation, he explained, is that which should be carried on between buyer and seller in distinction to the co-operation between groups of buyers and groups of sellers. The retailers, he said, have not taken their proper part in the liquidation of merchandise to the same extent as wholesalers and manufacturers.

Benjamin Paskus, counsel for the Contract Bureau of the Silk Association of America, explained the methods used to deal with the cancellation evil in that industry, which, after five months' operation, he pronounced successful. Manufacturers representing two-thirds of the looms in the industry, he said, had bound themselves to submit all contract disputes to the bureau, with the result that the cancellation problem has been about solved in that trade.

Sol Dribben of the Cotton Textile Merchants' Association described the steps taken by that organization to deal with cancellations. By reporting claims and cancellations to members, he said, the tendency of buyers to ignore their contracts had been removed in large part.

The gist of an address by Lincoln Cromwell of William Iselin & Co., was that a compulsory arbitration clause should be included in contracts. He thought that sellers, as a rule, were accustomed to make light of delivery dates, though these might be of utmost importance to the buyer.

William Goldman of Cohen, Goldman & Co., clothing manufacturers, emphasized the necessity of educating buyers and sellers to place their contract disputes in the hands of arbitration bodies.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States was represented by E. W. McCullough, Director of the Fabricated Production Department. The Chamber, he said, will endeavor to correct the cancellation evil by emphasizing the moral issue at stake in contracts.

Herbert Tiley of Strawbridge & Clothier and formerly National War Service Chairman of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, urged those present to train their salesmen to be sure of themselves in making statements concerning business conditions. His idea was that, if the wholesale representatives guarded themselves against careless statements, the retailers would respect them more and place more faith in their contractual obligations as well. He complained of the vicious circle of wholesalers urging retail liquidation and at the same time preventing this liquidation by leading the consumer to expect further reductions.

TRADE CONDITIONS HELP COTTON RISE

Less Southern Selling and Big Exports Encourage Local Buyers.

The cotton market moved further forward yesterday and at its peak was 130 to 150 points above the extreme lows of last Saturday, when the low records for more than three years were scored. The maximum gains for the day ranged from 67 to 81 points for the active months and at the close the net changes showed advances of 57 to 75 points. Spots here were up 65 points to the basis of 16.65, compared with 15.50 on Saturday and in the South where there were any changes in spot quotations, they were mostly on the side of advances.

There was a sharp advance at the start yesterday, the market going up about 50 points and holding there until mid-afternoon, when professional activities brought about a reaction which about wiped out the earlier gains. But in the final hour there was another rush forward and new highs for the day were recorded. The close was firm and the market looked to be in better condition than in quite some time.

Conditions within the trade were better yesterday. There was less Southern selling and the trade, which has been holding off for some weeks, displayed a greater willingness to buy. Added to this, the Liverpool cables came in better for futures and Liverpool spots, which had been notably slow in turning from their long decline, were up 19 points on the day to 10.25d.

A development which was made much of was the very big total of export clearances, which aggregated 108,945 bales. This, of course, was mostly cotton contracted for export during November and represented the last minute rush to get the bales moving. However, the total was much larger than most had suspected. For November, without including yesterday's movement, the indications are that exports will total about 700,000 bales, compared with 582,000 in October.

RALLY FOLLOWS DIP IN CHICAGO GRAINS

Market Strengthened by Heavy Buys of December and March Wheat by Livermore.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—While weakness in stocks was responsible for a sharp dip in grains after a good early advance, the heavy buying of December and March wheat credited to Livermore, who was a big seller under $1.50 for March last week, made a very strong close. From a cash grain standpoint, the news on wheat was decidedly more favorable to holders. Premiums at the Gulf were upon 2@3½ cents, as compared with those prevailing earlier in the week, with December leading, quoted at 27 cents over the Chicago futures.

Around 500,000,000 bushels of Gulf wheat were sold to the Continental and equal quantity of Manitobas via New York, although the British Commission was reported as out of the market. Canadian news is commencing to attract more attention, as the result of the tendency to reduce the estimated yield of the Three Prairie provinces, and latest reports indicate that there is only 75,000,000 bushels left to market.

Loadings of wheat at Fort William and Port Arthur, between Dec. 1 and the close of navigation, are expected to exceed 12,000,000 bushels, of which probably 75,000,000 bushels will be shipped to Chicago. The clearance of 48,000 bushels of wheat from New York for Poli, Russia, while presumably for Armenian relief purposes, also attracted attention. The United States is clearing 250,000 bushels per week on an average to North Africa, and around 100,000 bushels to Brazil.

Coarse grains were stronger, due mainly to sympathy with wheat. The United Kingdom bought 240,000 bushels of corn at New York, and there has been more or less business with the Continent of late, although figures are not given. A movement is on foot, in parts of Illinois and Indiana, to form farmers' pools to buy May corn for investment. At 27 cents, an advance of seven cents is shown over Chicago December, within a week.

It is hard to buy wheat in the country. Insurance rates on hulls and cargoes have advanced equal to 1 to 2 cents per bushel and Lake navigation has only eleven more days this season. Rates from Lake Superior ports to Buffalo have advanced to 5 cents.

Cattle prices are off $1.50 to $2 from last week's top, while the average price of hogs is 55 cents higher.

Primary receipts of wheat of 1,572,000 bushels were nearly double last year's and 178,000 in excess of the previous week. Part of this represents intermarket movement. Shipments were 969,000 bushels, against 1,084,000 last year. Corn receipts were 476,000 bushels against 606,000 last year, shipment 397,000 bushels or 89,000 less than a year ago.

Prices Now and a Century Ago.

The London Statist, reckoning the average of English commodity prices last October at 240 and last April at 266, compares these average, with computations by Professor Jevons, adjusted to a corresponding basis, which showed 159 for 1818, three years after the Napoleonic wars ended, and 171 for 1810, the high mark of that period.

England's Foreign Trade Balances.

In the first nine months of 1920 Great Britain's exports to nine out of sixteen foreign countries exceeded her imports from them. But her import surplus in trade with the United States alone was almost exactly as large as her export surplus to all those nine countries combined; in addition to which, there was a large import balance in trade with Egypt, Switzerland, Russia, Spain, Sweden and the British colonies.

Two English "Pre-War Prices."

Rubber in the English market has lately been selling at 1s 5¼d a pound, as against 2s 9½d on June 30, 1914; tea at 6d against 8¼d. Coffee, which is at pre-war prices on the American wholesale market, brought in England three weeks ago something like 75 per cent. more than the pre-war price.

COMMODITY PRICES

Slightly Higher Level of Prices for Grains—Other Commodities Generally Firm and Unchanged

A somewhat better and firmer tone was evident in cash prices in the wholesale markets yesterday. Wheat and corn each advanced 1¼ cents a bushel, and oats were up ¼ cent a bushel. Flour, however, receded 25 cents a barrel, to a low for the year. In the groceries and dairies coffee, sugar, butter and eggs were quoted unchanged.

Lard, in the provisions, dropped 50 cents a hundred pounds, with beef and pork prices unchanged.

In the metals all commodities were firm and unchanged except lead, which dropped 10 cents a hundred pounds, to a new low for the year.

In the textiles, spot cotton advanced 65 cents a hundred pounds, and printcloths were up ⅓ cent.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Wednesday, a week before and a year ago:

RETAIL PRICES CUT TO REDUCE STOCKS

Clothing and Other Men's Wear Drops 15 to 30 Per Cent., Federal Agent Reports.

OCTOBER SALES SHOW GAIN

World's Commodities Are Cheaper—Price Drop Here and Foreign Troubles Hurt Exports.

There are numerous signs of a determination on the part of retailers to reduce their stocks, according to the Federal Reserve Agent of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, who notes, in his monthly review, that many retail price reductions have been announced for the obvious purpose of moving merchandise, while, at the same time, retailers as a whole are not replenishing their accumulations of goods except to meet current demands. This, he says, is a decided change in attitude from that of a year ago. In commenting on this phase of the situation, the review says:

"Within the past month men's clothing has been reduced from 15 to 30 per cent. Reductions on men's wear, such as collars, shirts, ties and underwear, have been sharp and considerable merchandise has been sold. There have also been reductions on women's garments, but they were not so large as in some other lines, inasmuch as there has been a fairly good demand from consumers. There have been substantial reductions on piece goods, particularly on silks. Holiday buying is below normal. Sales of musical instruments, jewelry and passenger automobiles are lower than a month ago, considering the usual increase at this season. There has been a slight lowering of prices, apparently due largely to a need for liquidation.

"Figures received from representative retail stores in New York City indicate that net sales in October were above those of last year and this increase has been even more marked in smaller cities in the district. These increases, however, are due mostly to large dollar receipts resulting from higher prices in October, 1920, than in October a year ago."

Speaking of the trend of commodity prices the world over, the review points out that the unmistakable movement is downward. In all countries, with the notable exception of Italy, commodity prices have been falling in recent months, and in some places declines have been sharp.

Taking up the foreign trade situation, the following is set forth:

"Difficulties besetting export trade, which have been developing rapidly during the last few months, have lately reached a more acute stage. Just as a falling market for silk sharply curtailed Japanese buying here, in the same manner the purchasing power of other countries of the Far East, including India and Australia, and Cuba and South America, has been reduced by the lessened marketability of many of their products accompanied by exchange rates rapidly growing more unfavorable to them.

"Furthermore, the price decline in this country has made foreign buyers reluctant to accept goods contracted for at higher prices, and uncertainty as to prices in the future has been an additional influence against new orders.

"In consequence of these conditions, banks here have restricted their purchases of fresh drafts on these countries, and renewal drafts are not being purchased except in urgent cases. On some countries where exchange is particularly disrupted banks are undertaking collections only at the customer's risk. On certain other countries, banks are still buying drafts, but are advancing only part of the value of the instrument."

CONSOLIDATED GAS TO SELL NEW NOTES

Negotiating With Bankers for an Issue of $25,000,000 Short-Term Paper.

BALTIMORE CO. MAY FOLLOW

Detroit Edison Company Offers Ten-Year Debenture Bonds to Preesnt Stockholders.

The Consolidated Gas Company is negotiating with bankers for the sale of $25,000,000 in short-term notes. If the negotiations are consummated, the National City Company is expected to have charge of the flotation of the securities. No formal announcement is expected for several days.

The new securities, it is understood, are to be notes without any conversion privilege and of a maturity shorter than the five-year convertible 7 per cent. secured bonds which the company issued last year. What the coupon rate will be has not been finally decided upon, but it is believed that it will be approximately the same as on the previous issue.

First reports in financial circles yesterday had it that the Consolidated Gas Company would put out a new issue of convertible bonds, similar to the $25,000,000 flotation of February, 1919. This, it was subsequently pointed out, would be an impossibility unless additional stock were to be authorized, which is not expected to be done. The present authorized capital of the company is $125,000,000, of which $100,000,000 is outstanding and $25,000,000 held in reserve to provide for the secured convertible notes issued last year.

Other public utility financing discussed yesterday included an offering of $5,000,000 in securities of the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company of Baltimore, which is expected to be handled by a banking syndicate headed by Alexander Brown & Sons of Baltimore, and Lee, Higginson & Co. of this city. As in the case of the local company, a formal announcement regarding this may be expected within a short time.

Stockholders of the Detroit Edison Company have received notice that holders of record Dec. 11 will be entitled to subscribe to the extent of 20 per cent. of their holdings to a new issue of ten-year convertible 8 per cent. debenture bonds at par. There is no stated amount of this issue, but as there is outstanding $27,666,000 of Detroit Edison stock, the indicated amount of the offering is approximately $5,533,000.

The $4,000,000 of Niagara Falls Power Company first and consolidated mortgage 6 per cent. bonds offered by Spencer Trask & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons, and Schoellkopf, Hutton & Co., have all been disposed of, according to the bankers.

PRINTERS BUILDING SOLD.

Creditor Interest Buys in Big Penn Zone Structure.

The twenty-two-story Printing Crafts Building was purchased at auction yesterday by Franklin Pettit on a bid of $232,000 over the liens on the property, aggregating $2,425,000, with interest. The sale was held in the Vesey Street salesroom, Joseph P. Day being the auctioneer. Mr. Pettit made the only bid and he admitted that he was representing a creditor interest, the name of the buyer being given as the Tripok Realty Company. The building is the largest commercial structure in the Pennsylvania zone area and covers the block front on the west side of Eighth Avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Streets.

The property, which is assessed at $3,300,000, is subject to five separate encumbrances—a first mortgage of $1,800,000, a second mortgage of $375,000, a third mortgage of $250,000, a fourth mortgage of $125,000 and a fifth mortgage, which secures a bond issue of $600,000, making the total encumbrance of $3,100,000.

ASTOR HOUSE PLOT REPORTED SOLD

OWNED BY JOHN J. ASTOR

Property Assessed at $1,850,000 Left by the Late William Waldorf Astor to His Son.

The northerly half of the old Astor House on the southwest corner of Barclay Street and Broadway and several adjoining buildings on Barclay and Vesey Streets were reported sold to a syndicate of operators yesterday as a site for a commercial skyscraper by Captain John Jacob Astor, son of the late William Waldorf Astor of London, England.

According to the report in circulation among the real estate brokers and operators in the Vesey Street Auction Salesrooms, at 12 to 16 Vesey Street, one of the buildings reported sold, negotiations have been pending for the sale of the north half of the old Astor House, the adjoining buildings at 6 to 10 Barclay Street and the abutting Vesey Street property, for several months and that Captain Astor had cabled an acceptance of the offer made by the syndicate. Just who the buying syndicate was composed of could not be learned.

The property which is located opposite the Post Office has a frontage of 100.7 feet on Broadway, 240.2 feet on Barclay Street, and 74.11 feet on Vesey Street.

No confirmation of the sale of the property could be obtained from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, which handles the realty transactions of the William Waldorf Astor estate. An official of the company stated last evening that confirmation of the sale would have to come direct from Captain John Jacob Astor in London.

The old Astor House, at one time New York City's most famous hostelry, originally occupied the block front on the west side of Broadway, between Vesey and Barclay Streets. After seventy-seven years of existence it closed its doors to the public in May, 1913. The south half of the building was left by John Jacob Astor to his son, Vincent Astor, while the north half, just reported sold, was left by William Waldorf Astor to his son, Captain John Jacob Astor.

Shortly after the hotel was closed Vincent Astor tore down his half of the building and erected the present office structure on the site. Nothing was done with the north half of the old building, although the property was reported sold for improvement on several occasions, and it stands today just as it did years ago. The land on which the northerly half of the old Astor House stands is assessed by the City of New York for taxation purposes at $1,800,000.

The two five-story apartment houses at 1,225 and 1,227 Boston Road, each on plot 50 by 166 feet, have been sold by Henry A. Kroeger to Dieterich Scharninghauser and John H. Feldscher, respectively.

The two-story dwelling at 2,218 Valentine Avenue, plot 18 by 70, has been sold by Henry Sohn through Armstrong Brothers.

Alexander Selkin and David Mintz sold to a client for occupancy, 2,691 Greston Avenue, a three-story dwelling with garage, on a plot 50 by 100.

The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company sold for $7,500 the three-story dwelling at 497 East 139th Street, 16.8 by 100, to the Machizky Talmud Torah D'Cherna Mishanayoth, Inc.

Site for Brooklyn Ear Hospital.

As a site for its new building, the Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital has purchased the block front on Greene Avenue between Cumberland Street and Carlton Avenue. Its present home on Livingston Street was sold last August for $150,000 to Polytechnic Institute. The new location, comprising a plot 200 by 95, is occupied by twelve brick and frame dwelling, was purchased through Dorus McRae from the Reeve estate and the Hill Section Company, Frederick B. Snow, President.

Gentlemen:-

I thought you would be very glad to learn that we are delighted with the manner in which your office has handled the management work at No. 420 Park Avenue. Everything is now running smoothly and I feel that everyone in your office who is connected in any way with this work is to be congratulated on the good team work and efficient and satisfactory way in which the situation is handled, and the promptness with which matters are attended to. SIX WOMEN SENT TO JAIL FOR THEFT

All Convicted of Shoplifting and Each Has Fine Added to Sentence.

SEEKING TO LESSEN CRIME

Judges Find Imprisonment a Deterrent, but Stealing From Stores Is Increasing.

A baby's rattle, a bib, three pairs of bootees and a child's sweater made up the catalogue of plunder found on Annie Weinstein, 40 years old, of 98 East Fourth Street, who was sentenced yesterday to spend a day in jail and pay a fine of $25 after being convicted in Special Sessions of shoplifting at Wanamaker's. She was one of six nonprofessionals who received this sentence for shoplifting from Justices Henry W. Herbert, John J. Freschi and James J. McInerney. The others were Josie and Jennie Speciti of 2,330 Washington Avenue, Jessie Levine of 2,023 Monterey Avenue, the Bronx; Katie Levine of the same address, and Bessie Badrau of 15 East Thirty-fifth Street.

All the women had relatives and friends in court ready to pay the fines, but the day's sentence was a hard blow to them. The six were ushered by a uniformed attendant to the Tombs. They were not placed in cells, but allowed to remain in a room on the first floor until their sentences expired.

The women had one piece of good luck. The official day consumed by the sentence is not regulated by the sun but runs from 11 o'clock, when sentence is pronounced, until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Justices in Special Sessions are giving sentences of one day or more even to first offenders, as were all yesterday's defendants, in order to check the increase of shoplifting. This has been the worst year on record for shoplifting in New York, and crimes of this kind always multiply before the holidays.

"Dealing with shoplifters is about the most difficult problem before the court," said Justice Herbert yesterday. "The practice of giving short sentences is improving the condition somewhat. It is not much punishment to fine a woman $25 for stealing $30 or $40 worth of goods, and the jail sentence seems to be necessary.

"Of course, professional shoplifters are sent up for longer terms, if they are caught, but three out of four of those who come before the court are not of this class. They are generally women with families and good reputations, who have no cause to steal, but fall before a momentary temptation.

"One of the things which puzzles us is that they do not seem to understand the big hazard they run. They pick up a thing, carry it a little ways, do not see that they are observed and then pick up one thing after another, thinking it easy. When they leave the store with their accumulation, they are nearly always arrested. The detectives always wait until they have started to walk away before arresting them, in order to make clear cases. Even then, sometimes, they plead that they took the articles outside to view them by natural light."

POLICE ZONES FIXED TO PROTECT STORES

Forty Detectives Are Assigned to Midtown District to Curb Holiday Crooks.

To clear the city of known crooks, and especially to protect the public during the holiday season, a plan of co-operation has been established between the police and the proprietors of many stores, both large and small. It was learned yesterday that two special zones had been created, and special detectives assigned to patrol them. The largest, the business zone, takes in the territory from Twenty-third Street to Fifty-ninth Street, and from Seventh to Madison Avenue. Sergeant James Bresnan has been assigned to command of this zone, and under him are forty picked detectives, who have been selected because of their knowledge of pickpocketing, shoplifting and other crimes.

The second zone is about four blocks along Maiden Lane, and takes in the jewelry district. Acting Police Commissioner Leach, who, in the absence of Commissioner Enright, has had the responsibility of putting the new plan into practice, selected the six detectives who have been assigned to watch this district. The detectives in this zone, it was said, had visited the jewelers and perfected a sort of code system by which they can be appraised of the entrance into a store of a suspicious customer or can be notified when the storekeeper suspects an attempt at swindling.

While Acting Commissioner Leach would not discuss police affairs, to the observer there appeared to be a mighty quickening of police activity in this city.

According to a report at Police Headquarters yesterday, an official order was going out to ninety Captains directing them to visit the various men's clubs in their precincts and talk on police activities, especially on "burglars, burglaries and burglary insurance." Officials denied all knowledge of the order. The Commissioner's office thought information should be sought in the First Deputy's office, and there they said the Chief Inspector's staff should be asked, and there it was said that if such an order existed they hadn't heard about it.

A safe in the office of the Dyckman branch of the Sheffield Farms Company at 170 Dyckman Street was blown open on Tuesday night and $1,000 in cash taken. George Bedore, the watchman, was making his rounds when he was confronted by five men. They covered him with revolvers and demanded that he take them to the stable. Here they bound and gagged him. One of the men stood guard while the others looted the office.

Detectives of Inspector Boland's staff yesterday afternoon arrested George O'Connor and George Cale, and locked them up in the Mercer Street station charged with bookmaking. The prisoners gave their address as 169 Varick Street.

UNION CLUB RIOTERS HELD.

$500 Bail for Two Men Who Broke Windows Worth $150 Each.

Two of the Union Club rioters were held yesterday in $500 bail each for trial in Special Sessions. Michael Kennedy of 100 Vandeventer Avenue, the Bronx, and Hugh O'Rorke of 151 West 117th Street were the men who faced Magistrate Edgar V. Frothingham in Yorkville Court.

The complain was sworn to by Edgar J. Hines, a clerk in the club, who charged each of them with having broken a plate-glass window, each worth $150. Detective John O'Neal of the East Twenty-second Street Station declared he saw Kennedy smash a window, while Policeman Harry Blumberg of the East Fifty-first Street Station, testified against O'Rorke. Both men produced witnesses who testified that they had not seen the prisoners hurl stones.

One of these, Michael McNulty of 530 West 124th Street, was asked by Assistant District Attorney William O'Shaughnessy whether he was an American citizen. McNulty said that he was not, but that he expected to become one.

At its November meeting held last Monday the Defendam Association, composed of the veterans of the Twenty-second Engineers, N. Y. G., who served in the World War as the 102d United States Engineers, adopted a resolution deprecating "Any attempt to discriminate against any one of our Allies in the World War."
